The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

A yr. ago this hour, Hilltop ministers were being enthused by something or other to build a Hilltop tabernacle. . . . John Hull, wondered about a fortnight back, is operating a gas station in Springfield, O. . . . Sports Note: Despite notes in the daily rags about Don Peden of Ohio U. being a coaching possibility for OSU, he wouldn't consider it. . . . Personal to hecklers: sign your name. Got a dandee letter from "Just a woman driver who won't take it like you said without a say back" frinstance, who has some good comment. But the rule is thus: Letters must be signed. And so, next week's column, composed of the "moaning" mail, will be of excerpts from signed letters, only. . . . Fred Gurley is out of circulation. . . . His sister, likewise. . . . Dates have not been officially announced. . . . Lou Saunders, one of this corner's favorite people.

They're calling R. Bateman "Rowdy" now, since he got 12 pictures took before one was snapped which was a worthy reproduction of his mug. . . . D. (Wimpy) Siegwald's middle monicker is Grace. . . . Rosie Biddle, 6, Warren lass, has purchased a new dog, according to a report of a N. Warren neighbor. . . . Jane Jones' correct handle is Jennie, but the lesser half didn't like it, so it's Jane. . . . The Jones Bros. Henry and Bob, by the way, have no sandwich names. . . . John Grady, not lamped in five yrs., aboard a st. car. . . . Orchids to Harold Moss, who lost his gal when some guy took her to a 5 $ dance. And Harold speaks philosophically: "What could I do."

Purely personal pish posh: The champ type to get on this corner's nerves is the guy who deals in ultra-superlatives. "This book," he will tell you, "is the finest in the language." Or "this poem is the most beautiful and meaningful verse ever printed," etcetera ad infinitum. . . . Americans deal in exaggerations. "I haven't seen her for ages," squeaks the high school girl and college lass alike. . . . Meaning, of course, that the two hadn't met since early Pleistocene times. . . . "The most sensational, vivid, and exciting drama of the age" flashed on the screen. . . . "Nothing like it ever filmed before." . . . Baloney. . . . It leaves one all wilted like. . . . There's nothing else to say except: "That's the BIGGEST one I've ever heard."

Oop!

Chawlie Heux tells about the chap that came in his store, and after much ado, ordered a brown tie, a hat to match and also a pr. of house slippers. Telling Chas. to wrap them up so they could be sent parcel post, he left, saying he'd be back to pay the bill.

Three days slipped by, and the gentleman never showed up. Chawles, meeting Otto Mattox, told him of the incident. And Otto laffed, for the same thing had happened to him.

A few days later they discovered that the gentleman making the rounds and ordering ties and hats and slippers lived in the big mansion at Broad street opposite Lechner avenue.

Mrs. C. C. Coil's copy is the best done of any coming in hyar. . . . Sam Toy says he'd liketa draw a cartoon showing cops arresting Jay-Walkers and Neal Bowman scootin down the line. . . . And Sam hasn't been pinched, ither. . . . And say, N. W., check up on the personal pronouns singular, used this wk. . . . O. H. Craft and Dr. C. H. Loee out at Rome city Tues. a. m. . . . Betcha Doc's gonna start raisin chickens. . . . Or does one rear such fowl. . . . Observed Tues. a. m., Jack Shank riding in a cruiser. . . . Surely get the evil glares from wimmin since our suggestion for a driver's test. . . . Well, next wk. is contributor's wk., if enuf signed literature comes in. Now, C. H. Campbell, Cleo, Milly, Sherm, Ray Haunts, Edith Wilson, that girl on S. Warren. (Gosh, don't be conceited, you are not the one referred to). Leo Phillips, the cop man — and all you lovely people—you've been wondering jest how you could get even for that rank publicity put forth by that nasty man. Now, in the delightful words of Dr Massee, "Sling On."

Church Circuit Finales Tuesday At Glenwood

Gift St. Quintet Goes Into Tie With Holy Family Again; Defeat Catholics 15-12.

The final round of the West Church basketball league is scheduled for next Tuesday night, although barring drastic upsets, a play-off for the title will be scheduled the week following between Holy Family and Gift St. quintets.

Tuesday evening, at Glenwood, Holy Family's circuit leading five was vanquished by the Methodists, 15 to 12, knotting the two squads for the possession of the top rung. In an upset the week before, Gift St. had lost a close game to Hoge Memorial, while until Tuesday, the Catholics had been undefeated.

Gift St. is practically assured of victory next week, having Burgess U. B. scheduled as its opponent. The latter squad has forfeited its last three games, Holy Family will have a harder row to hoe, meeting West Park M. E., winners of four of seven games played thus far.

Other games scheduled for Tuesday's finale are: Glenwood M. E. vs. Hoge Memorial, and Hillcrest Baptist vs Warren Nazarene.

Avondale U. B. closed its season Tuesday evening, dropping a 24 to 17 engagement to Hillcrest Baptist. Other results this week were: Glenwood M. E. 13, Warren Nazarene 4; and Hoge Memorial 2, Burgess U. B. 0 (forfeit).

The following is the standing of the league to date:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Gift St. M. E.	6	1	.857
Holy Family	6	1	.857
Hoge Memorial	5	2	.714
Hillcrest Baptist	4	3	.571
West Park M. E.	4	3	.571
Glenwood M. E.	4	3	.571
Avondale U. B.	2	6	.250
Warren Nazarene	1	6	.143
Burgess U. B.	0	7	.000

Cowboys to Meet Bulldogs Tonight

West May Spoil Title Chances of Rossmen With Win On Hilltop Hardcourt.

West High's hapless basketball quintet, still sporting a spark of fire, will meet South High's second place Bulldogs tonight at the local gym in the second game of the second round in the scholastic loop.

The dope all points to a victory for the Rossmen, but the Hilltoppers are due to rise wrathfully at least once in the campaign, and that time may be tonight. If such is the case, the Bulldogs are in for a hard evening, and if the dope is upset, the Men of Ross will be deprived of further chances at the coveted trophy, emblematic of the city title.

The Cowboys took a beating at the hands of the league-leading Central five last Thursday night, although holding the high-flying Pirates fairly even during the first two quarters. The final score was 30 to 16.

Spears, whose work on the local squad has been outstanding through out the campaign, was again the star defensive player for the locals. Jividen, playing his last game in a West uniform, headed the offense with a contribution of six points.

Slight Increase In Enrollment Noted In Five Schools Here As Second Semester Starts Monday

West High Shows Largest Number of New Students; Decrease Reported At John Burroughs; Teachers Needed At Senior High.

A total of 5261 students were enrolled in five public schools of the Hilltop this week as the second semester of the school year got under way. An increase of 179 students was noted over last semester, which closed last Friday with commencement exercises at Memorial Hall for senior and junior high schools and with appropriate exercises at the elementary schools.

The largest increase was reported at West High, 115 new students were enrolled on Tuesday of this week. A class of 29 graduated Friday. No new teachers were reported for the local high school, and the additional 80 students registered this week gives the faculty of 35 an average of 30.2 students per instructor, 8.2 over the optimum 28 set by the Board of Education. The total enrollment at West High is now 1287.

Increase at West Jr.

At West Jr. High, where 120 students received diplomas Friday afternoon, 142 new registrations were reported, bringing the total enrollment to one above that of the senior high, 1288. Less crowded conditions prevail at the junior high, according to the figures, where there are 29.8 pupils to each teacher.

No increase in faculty membership was indicated by H. H. Reighley, principal, on Wednesday of this week. Persistent rumors regarding an anticipated addition of instructors at West were denied by officials.

131 New Students

A total of 131 new 1B students in the three elementary schools of the community were reported. At John Burroughs, which includes the Mound Street annex, 57 new pupils were registered on Tuesday. This is the only local school where a decrease in attendance was indicated. The Burroughs enrollment during the first semester was 1300 compared to 1284 as the second semester opens.

Highland Elementary showed an increase of six students, graduating 28 and registering 34 1B's Monday. The total enrollment there is 632.

At West Broad, approximately 40 new students were reported, while 33 were promoted last semester. The school, however, lost a total of 45 students through the first half of the year—three by death, 28 by transfer to other sections of the city and 17 as a result of moving to other cities.

The general decrease in 1B registration was attributed largely to the new rule which requires a child to be six years of age before May 15 before it can be enrolled at the February semester opening.

The following table shows the number of new students enrolled for the second semester, the number of graduates last semester, the number of teachers at each school, and its total enrollment this semester, according to the reports of the various principals.

School	N.S.	Grad.	Tea.	Enr.
Highland	34	28	17	632

West Broad	40	33	23	824

Former Hilltopper Dies In California

Information was received this week from California of the death of Charles W. Wilson, who formerly was a graduate nurse at the Columbus State Hospital and who worked there 30 years. While on the Hilltop, he lived at 112 Highland Ave. He was a member of the Glenwood M. E. church.

Mr. Wilson moved to California 12 years ago, and suffered a stroke while working alone in his orange grove on Jan. 13. He succumbed four days later. He had been superintendent of a Sunday school near Porterville, Calif., for the past 10 years. Interment was at Forest Lawn, Glendale. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. C. W. Wilson.

Bill Schwartz Wins In Pin Sweepstakes

Bill Schwartz, with a three-game total of 690, took first place in the week-end sweepstakes at the Hilltop Bowling Alleys last week.

CWA Workers to Improve Ball Diamonds At Westgate Park

With the church league basketball season fast coming to a close, especially as far as Hilltop teams are concerned, the Hot Stove baseball league is swinging into action with plenty of gusto.

For talk is abundant about the reason to come and several squads have tucked the championship bunting away in moth balls already. Indications are that the Hilltop Church League will again function this year, with perhaps 12 teams composing the loop.

Word from Leo Cridil at the recreation department this week informs that a fifth diamond will be constructed sometime this month by CWA labor and the remaining four, used for the first time last year, will be improved, especially in the outfield.

Information was also obtained from Cridil that the Hilltop Merchants' League, operated independently last year, may be superseded by the recreation department this spring. Fine attendance at games in both circuits last year is indicative of the fact that improved playing conditions will make the sport most popular here this spring.

According to rumors making the rounds, Hillcrest Baptist Reds, winners of the title last year, will be the only Baptist entry in the race this year. Anticipating strong competition from several other entries, the champs are consolidating. Mid-winter baseballers, however, have it that the race will be between Hoge Memorial runners-up last year, and the Warren Nazarene aggregation.

It has been pointed out by recreation department officials that the new eligibility rule will be strictly enforced. This new requirement stipulates that an athlete must remain with one team for a period of 15 months before a change of churches will be sanctioned. The "tramp athlete" will be watched closer than ever before, it is reported.

"Teacher"

H. G. DEEMS

H. G. Deems, who has charge of the second part of the Fifth Annual Hilltop Minstrel Show depicting the last day of school in the "gay ninety" period, will be the teacher on the occasion.

More Plans For Hilltop Minstrel Show Announced

Last Day of School in Gay Nineties to Feature 25 Local Business Men.

One grand evening of hilarious entertainment will be the portion of those attending the Fifth Annual Hilltop Business Men's Minstrel Show, if plans announced by the committee this week are any indication.

H. G. Deems, chairman of the committee on Olio acts and in charge of part of the second show, released information Wednesday on the school day, depicting the last day of school in the gay nineties. The second part of the show will be built around this theme.

Three olio acts, not yet announced by the committee, will be used in this part, and H. G. Deems is slated to be the teacher. Students under his care, costumed after the fashion of the period, will include two dozen or more of the members of the Hilltop Business Men and residents.

Painter Favored

George Painter, the champ minstrel ticket seller of the Hilltop, is probably in need of a new hat, according to the rumors going the rounds. The genial gentleman at least is doing his bit toward copping the annual headgear prize offered by the business men for selling the most tickets to the show.

When the information got to a Record reporter on Wednesday of this week, George had disposed of approximately 400 ducats and had just got warmed up.

The following are numbered among those in the show: Messrs. Nafzger, Zelkoff, George Matson, Hub Jones, Haunts, Ruether, Seiller, Matter, Sapp, Hastings, N. W. Kent, Wilcox, Holcomb, Paul Rausch, Kemp, A. Skipper, and Misses Mary Bentz, Robbins and Greiner, and Mrs. Tom Zelkoff, and Dr. C. O. Miller, Dr. Alva Myers, Dr. Campbell, Dr. Todd, Dr. Baker, Dr. C. H. Craft and Dr. Sherm Edwards.

Recitations, songs and individual acts will be presented by these members—in school costumes.

According to the plans, the show will be divided into two parts, but through the 15-minute intermission, entertainment will be furnished by an orchestra, a group in a novelty number and a string trio on the mandolin, guitar and bass fiddle, featuring Jim Auburn, Lee Chatfield and Dick Allen, all Hilltop boys.

Defeat Newark Team at West Monday; Final Meet Against Worthington Next Week.

West High school's affirmative debate team went into a tie with North for first place in the debate league by defeating the Newark High school negative team Monday afternoon in the West auditorium.

The winning team was composed of Arthur Haines, Dwight Hutchison and William Colwell. Prof. William Craig from Capital university was the judge. His analysis gave West five of the six possible points.

Hoge Memorial In Running for Class A Trophy

Hillcrest Eliminated in Up-set By Warren Nazarene Quint In Tuesday's Games.

Two Hilltop teams eleminated two other local squads from the running for the Class A West Church League title in games played at the Glenwood shelter house Tuesday evening when Hoge Memorial defeated Glenwood M. E. and Warren Avenue Nazarene, in a big up-set, trimmed Hillcrest Baptist.

The losers were consequently relegated to class B rating, while Hoge Memorial remained in the race for the class A trophy. The Happy Steppers, Libby Lee Czatt, and Leroy Sheehy and Mary Louise Storch in Feature Acts In Fifth Annual Show.

Announcement was made this week by Herbert Deems, chairman of the olio act committee, that three numbers had been chosen for the school day act in the Fifth Annual Hilltop Minstrel Show, now but two weeks away.

"The Happy Steppers," a crack dance act, featuring Mary Campbell, Phyllis Rawlins, Buddy Webber and Billy Ewald; a song and dance number by Libby Lee Czatt; and a skit by Leroy Sheey and Mary Louise Storch are the olios named by the committee.

"The Happy Steppers," all pupils in the Jimmy Rawlins School of Dancing, have been in the Minstrel for the past three years, and have always made a tremendous hit. Just Working And Sayin Nothin—Deems Rumor had it this week that Herb Deems was striving valiantly to beat George Painter for the annual minstrel hat—but a reporter, hot on the heels of the rumor, queried the gentleman with no results. "I'm just working and saying nothing," he said, and laughed. And with that, the race for the hat stands, where it did before—Painter favored, but others seeking his scalp.

Miss Czatt, aged 7, will make her first appearance in the minstrel this year. Although she has appeared in revues at other times, this will be her first showing in the local production. She is a pupil of Jack Sherrick and will feature a song, a buck and wing dance and a waltz clog. Libby Lee is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Czatt, 2900 Crescent Dr.

Meanwhile, a great demand for tickets has been reported by various members of the association and chorus. Officials have asked that where at all possible, ducats be purchased for the Thursday night performance, inasmuch as an overflow house is indicated for the second showing on Friday evening.

Those in charge of the production said this week that a third performance would not be given, as was the case last year when three capacity houses attended the Minstrel.

Tom Lewis, director, announced this week that the first big rehearsal is scheduled for Sunday afternoon at the auditorium at West High. The Minstrel proper will be rehearsed at 2 o'clock, with the second part scheduled for 4 o'clock.

Various acts and individuals are rehearsing nightly through heat week, and the show is quickly rounding into shape, according to the director.

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

Oh, you LOVELY pe-ople. So many wondered why the L. O. was absent last wk. . . . And a few were so bold as to think we got no mail after welcoming literature from hecklers here a fortnite back. . . . You're right in part. . . . There was no moaning mail—but never think we couldn't fill this pillar without such trivia. . . . All the missing mail indicates is the fact that much of that gabble put forth by those who say "If I could only have charge of that column for a week"—is merely stuff that makes tall boasts go. . . . Don Shaffer and Paul Casey, a pr. of my favorite people. . . . Minstrel gossip: You may have heard Edwin Booth in his palmiest days, or Wm. Jennings Bryan, of the silver tongue, but reports have it you haint heard nothin yet—Sir Geo. Matson delivering "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight" out-does them all. . . . And the Teacher's Pet—we'll not divulge, for fear of a contusion in the vicinity of one of our lamps. . . . Introducing: Ray Hauntz, doing: "Great, Wide, Wonderful, Beautiful World." . . . Otto Matiez, who claims any guy who couldn't recite "The Boy Stood on the Burning Deck" was ousted from the gang. . . . That'll be his piece next wk. . . . You'll get a good kick out of seeing a local chappie done up as the purtiest gel in school. . . . And so on, forever and aye. It'll be worth your two-bits to see the show. (Aweil, whutshenoubout it?)

"Roody" Baesman's brothah, Richard, objected 2 Fridays back when the former's escapade was registered hyar under the name: "R. Baesman." . . . Stew bad, old lean, but the boys and girls all understand. . . . Ralph Welch, from Normanlinechester, tells about his wife (Ruth Allers) who, on the way to the northern village, opened approximately 101 packages (wedding presents) on the train. . . . Some day we are going to do a column titled: "The Penitent," being a list of things we regret having done and said. . . . Heard on the campus at the OSU: Harold Moss, spking to "Roody" Baesman: "Hello, brother sufferer." . . . The agony of pain these lads must be burdened with. Lettuce spray. . . . Selah.

Marge Rockhold has quite recovered from her auto accident. . . . Earl Kolsely may realize an ambition he has cherished for yrs. He is an alternate on the list of a Congressman's appointments to West Point. Keep the fingers x-ed, Earl. . . . Vic Bazler found at last (282 Clarendon) working in a dime store radio dept. and playing drums in a dance band. . . . Where is Ed Barnes? (WHS '26) who played a trumpet. Ed also liked Italian spagett. . . . Geo. Markey, of whom it was once said, "It's such a serious thing to be funny." . . . Random thot: appropriate that the word politician has three I's in it (Insert by the Janitor: Purty good, eh, N. W.) . . . Max McCarty declares he never reads this pillar, but when the last story was misquoted in his presence, he hastily put the speaker straight. (Janitor's insert: So ho, Maxine, you old potato, ya think ya baint bein watched.) . . . We know two people who have lived up to the words spake of them in the HI sch. annuals; Sally McWilliams, "Better out of the world than out of fashion," and Carl Ryan, "Thinking is such a waste of thought." . . . Man on telephone: "No! No? Peregrinate! P as in pneumonia, E as in Eye, R as in—Oh, let it go. We must peregrinate now. So, so long.

TOUCHING SCENE

It actooly happened on the street car. A couple, thoroughly oblivious to surrounding activity, were en route down town. The lad, with his arm about his lady, would lean over occasionally to snatch a kiss or two, while she ducked and giggled and squirmed.

Now and then the chap would reach for a sack of jelly beans he carried, and gently feed his ladylove, partaking of a snack himself. They appeared to be in a world alone, and noted the other passengers vaguely, seeing, perhaps, as through a glass darkly.

At any rate, they disembarked at Broad and Front and went arm in arm in the direction of the court house. We hope, at least, that that was their destination.

Board of Education Appoints C. C. Chrisman And G. B. Williams to Coaching Jobs At West High

Former Ohio U. Athletes to Assume Duties At Local Schools Monday, Succeeding Gosnell Layman and Arthur Buchanan.

Two additions to the athletic faculty at West High school were made Monday afternoon, Feb. 19, when, by a four to three vote, the Board of Education appointed George B. Williams, of Marion, as coach at West Jr. and Claude C. Chrisman, Athens, assistant in the Senior High. They will assume their new duties Monday, Feb. 26.

Chrisman, a graduate of Ohio university, comes from an assistant coaching position at Athens. He was a former athlete at Ohio university, where he was named All Ohio guard on the football team in 1929, '30 and '31.

At West, he will assist Harold Wise with the football and basketball coaching and have full charge of track and the minor sports. He succeeds Arthur Buchanan, who will remain on the faculty at West and who will complete the current season as coach of the wrestling and swimming squads.

Williams, also a graduate of Ohio university, comes from Marion Harding High school, where he was an assistant coach. He succeeds Gosnell Layman, who also will remain on the faculty at West Junior, in the capacity of mathematics instructor. Layman has been coach at the local school for the past 11 years while Buchanan has served for the past five years.

The additional members will alleviate somewhat the crowded conditions in classes at West High, although as was pointed out by Miss Marie Gugle at Monday's meeting of the Board of Education, four more teachers could well be used.

The addition of Chrisman to the athlete staff will also place West on an equal basis with other Columbus High schools so far as coaching personnel is concerned. North, Central and South already having two coaches while East was supplied with an assistant for Ralph Webster Monday.

The new appointments were made by a four to three vote of the board, Messrs. Ray Hauntz, Baughman, Kurtz and Mrs. Becker voting aye.

New Coach

CLAUDE C. CHRISMAN

Mr. Chrisman, a former star athlete at Ohio university, was named assistant football and basketball coach at West High by the board of education Monday.

The meeting was formerly scheduled for the Hilltop School of Music but was changed on Monday of this week. All members of the association are urged to be present.

Scholastic Finale At Aquinas Tonight

Lose 13th Game in 14 Starts to East Wednesday; Drop Verdict to North, 28-12.

West High's basketball team, battered from a campaign that has netted but a single victory in 14 games, will close it scholastic season tonight on the Aquinas hardwood with the Terriers as the opposition.

Coach Harold Wise announced Tuesday of this week that the Cowboys would be represented in the Central District Cage Tournament to be held at the Ohio Coliseum in March. The following, with three players yet to be named, will see action: Link, Ditrick, Redmond, Hoffman, Spears, Francis and Branigan.

Whether or not the agony will be prolonged by entrance into the central district tournament, has not been announced by Coach Harold Wise, who thus far has used everyone but the water boy in an effort to turn out a winning combination. A former manager has made the team, and from all appearances, several more lads of a like nature might well replace the "regulars."

Last Friday evening, North managed to remain in the running with Central, South and East by beating the Cowboys, 28 to 12, the locals having only two field goals to their credit at the final gun. Spears, with a quartet of charity tosses, led the Hilltoppers in scoring while Bell and Rose led the Maroons with seven point each. Coach Art Jones of North utilized the services of 14 men in the melee.

Wednesday evening, the locals lost to East High, the Tigers, by virtue of their victory, going into a tie with Central for the top rung. Link led the Cowboy point-getters with four markers, while Colston and Southworth did best for the winners.

Eleventh Ward Club To Meet Thursday

Mrs. Elma C. Valentine, Republican state central committee-woman, will address the Eleventh Ward Republican club at its regular meeting Tuesday, Mar. 1, at 8 o'clock at 2304½ W. Broad St.

Following the addr[illegible] there will be entertainment and refreshments. Members are urged to attend.

Concert

The Junior Choir of the Hillcrest Baptist church will give a special concert next Sunday evening, Feb. 25, at 7:30 o'clock. The program, titled "An Evening With Great Composers," will be presented in honor of the 249th anniversary of George Frederick Handel. The pastor's sermon topic is "Music and the Soul."

Piano, Aged 110 Years, to Be In Show

The piano, pictured above with Miss Ethel Greiser of the Hilltop School of Music, will be used in the school day scene in the second part of the Fifth Annual Hilltop Minstrel, opening next Thursday night, Mar. 1, at the West High school auditorium.

The instrument has been in the Greiser family for more than a century—110 years, and was played by Miss Greiser's grandmother at the age of four. She in turn taught seven children to play it.

The piano is an Astor and Norwood, built in England, and is among the first to have hammer action.

Debaters Win Title Tuesday

Central Ohio Championship Won By West High While Defeating North Tuesday Night.

West High school's debating team won the Central Ohio District championship Tuesday evening at West High school when it defeated North's team with which it was tied by a 3 to 1 score. It marked the second victory of the year at the expense of the North Siders, the negative team winning in the first meeting of the year.

Hoge Defeated In Title Race

Presbyterians Bow to Gift St. Tuesday Evening; Hillcrest Favored In Class B.

Hopes of a Hilltop entry copping top honors in the class A section of the West Church League were anihilated Tuesday evening at the Glenwood shelter house when Gift St. M. E. took a 29 to 19 decision from the Presbyterians. The classic battle for the title will be played next Tuesday night with Holy Family and the Gift St. teams meeting.

In the class B eliminations, Hillcrest won from Glenwood M. E., 50 to 14, while West Park defeated Avondale U. B., 24 to 10. Hillcrest holds a slight edge as far as the dope is concerned, to cop the class B hunting. The Baptists, however, were runners-up in the class A finals last year, being downed only by the city champs, St. Ladislaus.

Tuesday's class B battles will be announced by officials of the recreation department on Sunday. Games get under way at 7 o'clock.

Final Minstrel Plans Completed As Business Men Prepare For Opening Performance Thursday

Final Dress Rehearsal Scheduled for Next Wednesday Evening; "Best Show Ever" Is Report of Minstrel Committee.

Final dress rehearsal for the Hilltop's biggest show—the Fifth Annual Minstrel and Frolic—is scheduled for Wednesday evening, Feb. 28, which event will complete the preliminaries to the finest show in the history of the local Business Men's association, according to the report of L. E. Saunders, chairman in charge.

Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the semi-final rehearsal will be held, with the entire cast present. Everything is in readiness for the opening night performance next Thursday at the West High auditorium. The plans are all complete and the program will get under way promptly at 8 o'clock.

The minstrel, in two parts, will feature in the opening part, the Hilltop Male Chorus, under the direction of W. Haydn Jones; ballad singers, Dr. C. H. Lose and C. E. Johnston; Floyd Green, interlocutor and his gang end men, William Coulthard, Lou Saunders, Leo Phillips, and George Painter.

In the second part, featuring the last day of school in the early nineties, "Teacher" Herbert Deems and his 23 pupils are set for a gala occasion. Recitations, songs and dances will be on the program by various members of the association.

Augmenting the show, will be three-crack olio acts by "The Happy Steppers," Mary Campbell, Buddy Webber, Billy Ewald and Phyllis Rawlins; Libby Lee Coatt, and Leroy Sheehy and Mary Louise Storch. All three have excellent skits, and officials say they will bring down the house.

Between parts, an orchestra will furnish music, eliminating a lapse in the continuity of the show. A detailed story of the show will appear in the minstrel edition of the Record, to be distributed next Thursday.

Tickets for the affair are available from all members of the cast, as well as from members of the chorus and the Hilltop Business Men's association. Admission is 25 cents, with no reserved seats being available. Present indications point to packed house, each evening and it was reported this week that no standing room tickets would be sold.

HILLTOP MINSTREL OPENS TONIGHT

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

—TAINT TRUE—.

Herb Deems tells about a dream (it should actually be a nightmare) of his'n tother darkness. It was a quarter to eight, the fold rifle of the minstrel. Herb peeked out to see the crowd and counted 16 heads. Eight o'clock, and four more people had come. And at a quarter after eight, a total of 27 had come and they stayed throughout the performance.

But the second night was better, for he managed to dream out 300 spectators to the second production.

Herb, you're wrong.

SO TRUE! SO TRUE!

This tale, applicable to so many things, was related first by Ed Laughlin. It seems as though two lads were enroute to school and while yet afar off, the bell sent forth its final warning.

"Bill," said one lad seriously. "Let's kneel down and pray we won't be late."

"Kneel h—," replied Bill. "Let's start running and pray while we run."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Young Jack Sword, aged 10 a week back, was in the midst of his birthday party. And up to that point, his gifts had numbered one large 10-cent ball. "Hey Mom," he hollered. "When Imogene had a birthday you spent $25 and had a big party, and when I have one, I get a 10-cent ball. Now I askya, is that right?"

But all was well after a bit, for on his platter at dinner time, Jack found a brand new and shining quarter. "And she runs," says Jack.

Local Man Dies After Auto Crash

Car of A. L. John, 286 S. Burgess Ave., Overturns and Burns On Route 31 Friday.

When the auto driven by Alfred L. John, aged 32, of 286 S. Burgess Ave., struck a coal truck on Route 31, two miles south of Canal Winchester, Friday, Feb. 23, it overturned and caught fire, the driver and his companion, Peter Potts of Lancaster, were fatally hurt. Both died in Grant hospital. Two other companions, Robert DeLong and Henry Outney, both of Lancaster, were severely burned.

John, en route to Lancaster where he was manager of the Builders Supply and Coal Co., where Potts was employed, sustained a fractured skull and body burns. He never regained consciousness. The name of the coal truck driver was not determined by Fairfield county police, who were not called until hours after the accident.

Funeral services for John were held Monday afternoon from the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church, with Scottish Rite service. He was a member of the local church, Humboldt Lodge, F. & A. M., and Scottish Rite, Burma Chapter No. 471.

Besides his wife, Lillian, he is survived by one daughter, Martha Louise; and father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank John, 300 S. Burgess Ave.

Interment was in Memorial Burial Park by Wylie S. Shroyer. The body of Potts was taken to Lancaster for funeral and burial.

Funeral Tuesday for Mrs. Schwartz

Funeral services for Mrs. Christina Schwartz, wife of Charles E. Schwartz, who succumbed at her residence, 180 S. Warren Ave., Sunday, Feb. 25, were held Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 27, from the Avondale U. B. church, where she was a member. Interment was in Green Lawn cemetery.

She was also a member of Crown Chapter, Eastern Star.

RECORD ALL-HIGH BASKETBALL TEAM

First Team	Position	Second Team
McQuaid, South	Forward	Colston, East
Slavens, East	Forward	Freeman, South
Dunn, Central	Center	Starr, East
Hickle, South (C)	Guard	Link, West (C)
Roan, North	Guard	Griffeth, North

Honorable Mention: Spears, West; Gramm, Aquinas; Tapia, South, and Burger, Central.

By NORMAN LINE

At the close of the regular games Friday night the curtain was rung down on one of the closest basketball campaigns staged in this city in recent years. Four of the teams in the league were fairly evenly matched throughout the season and until the final week each was conceded a chance at the title, with Central and East finally sharing honors. Although there seemed to be no outstanding team, it is the opinion of the writer that South had the smoothest working outfit displaying a deceptive passing attack backed up by an excellent defense. Throughout the season both West and Aquinas were considered breathers by the rest of the teams although both teams threw scares into some of their opponents.

Throughout the season the local Cowboys did not display the brand of ball that a winning team must have. It seemed that they reached their peak during the North game on the local court, dropping a close one 19-18, and giving due credit to the Cowboys it did not seem to be an off night for the North Maroons.

Not Many Stars

In looking over the caliber of the players performing in the league this year it can be said that it was not too difficult to pick a couple of all-star quintets. The center post is easily held down by Dunn, the colored lad from Central. He was by far the main cog of the Rivermen's squad. By being on the scoring end of many passes enabled him to be high-point man in the league's scoring list for the season, having garnered a total of 113 points. His ability to snag the ball out of the air, recover rebounds and an accuracy in finding the basket makes him an outstanding player on any team.

The two forward positions are passed out to Slavens, the elusive captain of East, and McQuaid of South. The diminutive forward from East has an accurate eye for the basket and was able to keep with his man defensively. McQuaid played center for South all season and deserves a place on the mythical quintet because of his all

Scarlet Fever Fatal to Local Girl, Aged 9

Private funeral services for Constance Louise Potts, aged 9, of 458 S. Warren Ave., who succumbed Monday from the effects of scarlet fever, were held Tuesday afternoon, from the residence with burial in Union cemetery in charge of Noble L. Allen.

Besides her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Potts, she is survived by her grandmother, Mrs. Vella Potts. She was a student at the John Burroughs Elementary school.

Hillcrest Winner Of Class B Title

Defeated West Park M. E. Quint Protests 17 to 10 Baptist Victory Tuesday.

Hitting the stride that carried them to the city finals in the class A church league eliminations last year, the cagers representing Hillcrest Baptist church won the class B championship of the West Church League Tuesday, and therewith came the right to compete in the city eliminations for further honors.

West Park M. E., the final stumbling block, was hurdled 17 to 10, although protests were registered by the Methodists prior to the game claiming ineligibility of certain Hillcrest players.

All Baptist participants, however, have been declared eligible by N. W. Kent, in charge of athletics at Hillcrest Baptist. Those participating in Tuesday's battle, including George McCrea, Howard Kent, LeRoy Davis, Howard Reynolds, Ray Wills and Rex Vernon have been Hillcrest members for several years, it was pointed out.

In the class A event, Gift St. M. E. copped the title and will represent the local loop in the city finals, by defeating Holy Family, early season favorites.

Annual Dinner

The annual dinner of the Morgan County association will be held at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening, Mar. 8, at the Grace M. E. church, Indianola and Maynard avenues. There will be a brief program, a social hour and group singing.

Fifth Annual Business Men's Show In Initial Performance At West High

1500 Admissions To Fill Auditorium

Tickets Still Available From Members of Cast and Business Men's Association.

A complete sell-out of tickets for the first showing of the Fifth Annual Minstrel and Frolic of the Hilltop Business Men's association is probable, according to various officials of the organization. A capacity house has been practically assured for tomorrow evening's second showing.

Only adverse weather conditions will prevent a full house tonight. It was thought, although but a few seats remain. Tickets will be on sale at the box office prior to the performance, which will get under way at 8:15.

Gene Todd, chairman of the ticket committee, again urged this week that efforts be made to attend tonight's first showing, inasmuch as practically all tickets for Friday have been sold.

There will be some pasteboards available at the box office Friday, however. Todd stressed the fact that although indications point to a sellout, tickets are still available for both shows.

It was thought that only two shows will be staged, despite the fact that last year, due to public demand, a third showing was necessary. Ducats for the 1933 performance, however, were available at 10 cents. Admission this year is 25 cents, with no reserved seats.

Tickets Mailed

Tickets to winners in the Hilltop Business Men's Joke Contest were mailed out by the secretary, L. E. Saunders, this week. The 10 winning contestants received the ducats, good for either showing of the production, on Wednesday of this week.

Local Trapshooter Wins Six Trophies In Florida Shoots

O. C. Voss, local trapshooter, who is an auto dealer at 2536 W. Broad St., has proved himself to be somewhat handy with a shotgun, as is revealed by the fact that in two trapshooting events in Florida during the past two weeks, he copped six of the eight trophies.

At Eustis, Fla., Feb. 7, 8 and 9, he broke 393 out of 400 "birds" while at St. Petersburg, Feb. 13, 14, 15 and 16, he did even better, missing but five times in 400 shots. Voss has done this type of shooting for the past 10 years, and you may well suppose that much clay has crumbled to dust as a result of his excellent aim.

And if you're in the mood to strive for mastery in this sport, see how many birds you can break in 1600 tries. Mr. Voss missed but 27 times in that number. Which, all in all, members of the trap-shooting fraternity will tell you, is some shootin'.

Radio College Opens Spring Term March 16

College Training to Be Available Via Air.

The Ohio Emergency Radio College broadcasts, operated for the benefit of those who desire college education without cost, will open activities on Mar. 16, it was announced this week.

The college is operated from station WOSU at the Ohio State university and information regarding registration may be had by writing to the Junior Emergency Radio college, with offices on the campus, or to Mr. Appleman's office at the Board of Education.

Enrollment is being made by officials now, and all interested in the project are urged to get in touch with the proper authorities at once.

Properties

C. J. KOHN

Mr. Kohn, who has had charge of the settings and properties in the Fifth Annual Business Men's Minstrel Show, has been "Johnny on the spot" throughout rehearsals and much of the smoothness which will mark the shows tonight and Friday night, will be Cliff's "fault."

West Quintet to Meet Central

Pirates Favored In First Round Games Tomorrow; Battle to Start at 5 o'Clock.

West High school's luckless cagers, holders of the least enviable record of any of the 16 teams entered in the central district basketball tourney which opens tomorrow afternoon at the coliseum in the Ohio State Fair grounds, will meet the Central Pirates in the first round according to the announcement of drawings made late last week.

Central Favored

The Wissmen, winners of but two victories in 15 starts, will be the underdogs in the game with the city league's co-champs, although the game is by no means over until the final gun has cracked, members of the squad will tell you.

The game will get under way at 5 o'clock, with West's starting line-up probably finding Spears at center, Redmond and Brannigan at the forwards and Link and Francis at the guards. No definite line-up has been announced by Coach Wise, however, and variations of the above are in order.

Should the locals by any chance manage to come out on the long end of the fracas, they will meet either Lancaster or Aquinas, probably Lancaster. Losing the Central game, the charges of Wise will probably meet Aquinas in the first round of the consolation tournament.

West barely escaped occupancy of the cellar in the city loop last Friday evening at the Aquinas gym by defeating the Terriers for the second time, and incidentally, ring up their second victory of the year. The final count was 31 to 21 although the Green started a brilliant rally in the final frame which was cut short only by the gun.

Spears and Link were the big guns for the Hilltoppers accounting for 17 points between them. West's reserves, copping their second victory of the year, defeated the Aquinas subs, 12-11.

Eleventh Ward Club Will Meet Tonight

The Eleventh Ward Republican club will meet Thursday, Mar. 1 (tonight) at 8 o'clock, at 2383½ W. Broad St.

Mrs. Elma C. Valentine, Republican state central committee-woman, will address the club. Following the address there will be entertainment and refreshments. All members are urged to be present.

Curtain Raises At 8:15 o'Clock

Hilarious Entertainment to Feature Opening of Colorful Production Tonight.

A rip-roaring evening of hilarious comedy is awaiting those who attend the opening performance of the Hilltop Business Men's Fifth Annual Minstrel and Frolic at West High school tonight. Featuring prominent Hilltoppers in acts ranging from the ludicrous to the more ludicrous, with a touch of the sublime only now and then, everything has been pronounced in readiness for presentation.

Starts at 8:15

The curtain will raise at 8:15 o'clock tonight, and with its rising will begin two hours and a half of most excellent fun. The opening part of the show,

Premiere

One of the outstanding acts of the first part of the show will be the world's premiere of the Hilltop's one and only Galli-Curci. Blossoming forth in a voice of rare quality, the star-to-be has hidden its light under a bushel heretofor, and it was only through the combined efforts of 68 local business men that the brilliant singer could be inveigled into signing a contract. With unusual modesty, she refused to be interviewed, or even divulge her identity.

with the Hilltop Male Chorus under W. Haydn Jones, and the four end men, William Coulthard, George Painter, Lou Saunders and Leo Phillips, in the leading roles, will feature vocal and instrumental music, as well as the usual array of laugh-provoking patter.

The featured chorus number will be "The Last Round-up," with Dr. C. H. Lose doing "Sing Along" and C. E. Johnson, "The Old Spinning Wheel."

End Men Sing

Songs by the end men are: "Roll Out of Bed With a Smile," by Leo Phillips; "It Hain't Nobody's Business," by Lou Saunders; "Those Were Wonderful Days," by George Painter, and "I'm From Alabama," by Bill Coulthard. A special quartet composed of W. Haydn Jones, Bob Jones, Anson Fox and Leo Phillips will also do several selections.

One other feature of the first part of the show will be the patriotic pageant, featuring a cast of six local men. They are: Willard Young, Paul Rausch, Dr. W. M. Baker, W. C. Eidson, Dr. Fred Sulzberger, and Raymond Huffing.

No Intermission

The continuity of the production will not be interrupted by an intermission, the usual intermission time being consumed by a novelty act by Ray Boyer. The nature of the skit has not been announced by officials, but they report it to be of extra-comical quality. A string trio, composed of Jim Auburn, 1777 Sullivant Ave.; Lee Chatfield, 368 Highland Ave.; and Dick Allen, 2677 Sullivant Ave., and an orchestra, directed by Jack Ellison, will complete the "in-between" program.

The nine-piece orchestra, composed of local boys, is managed by Bud Lorenz, 162 N. Powell Ave. Others in the group include: Louis Smith, Howard Wellman, Howard Delkert, Ed Ellison, Bob Bauns, Howard Schubert, Dick Hyer and Walter Haney. The organization has been in operation for the past two years and is donating its services to the show.

The official minstrel orchestra will be composed of: Edith L. Robbins and

New Constitution Favored By Group

West High Alumni Have New Membership Rules; Event of Mar. 23 to Be Announced.

At a meeting of the West High School Alumni association at the Hilltop School of Music on last Friday evening, the new constitution, revised by a committee headed by W. E. Ferguson, was accepted by the organization.

Important changes include a division of memberships and the election of officers by the entire active membership, instead of by the executive committee, as formerly.

Three classes of membership have been established, namely, the inactive group including those who have graduated from West or attended there two years; active members, including those who have fulfilled the requirements of the first group, and in addition, have paid their dues; and honorary, including persons rendering meritorious service to West High.

According to information received this week, the plans for the big mystery event, slated for Friday evening, Mar. 23, will be announced next week.

Plans are rapidly being formulated that will insure an event of real entertainment value. Tickets will be on sale at various business houses and through members of the association on Mar. 9.

The Big Event of the Season

The Fifth Annual Hilltop Minstrel

West High Auditorium

Thursday and Friday, March 1 and 2

You'll find it ripping—a rollicking, rugged, roaring, round-up of furiously fast and funny buffoonery. . . . The Hilltop Minstrel, we mean, wherein Fritzie Raether (the economy man) and Goldie Seiler (his naybor) laboriously turn out "Pussy's in the well" . . . And that school board chappie, Raymond (Hauntz), who rapturous'y describes this "great, wide, wonderful, beautiful world."—Ah, me, Raymond. . . . On with the minstrel and Gergie Matson, who gets hips and lips all mixed up—and—oh well, lettergo. . . . And ah, me, what a sin to keep from you the title of the (guy, chap, femme, lady, gentleman) who does that gorgeously grand operatic number. My heart leaps up in admiration and I almost bubble over and spit out (his, her, its) name—But you'll be pleased and I wouldn't dast say that (Oscar Butterfield, J. G. Collicott, Otto H. Magly, S. Talmadge McGann, N. W. Kent, Roody Baesman, R. M. Draper or H. H. Reighley) is the person involved. But for ivry guy what don't roar at the act, we'll give an engraved tomato can (The kind grandma makes grandpa carry on motor trips so's he won't expectorate baccer jooce inaccurately out the window). . . . What they'd otta do is get F. F. Shank—Mr. F. F. Shank—nope, by golly, Prof. F. F. Shank—to do an act all by hiself. Whatta beeyooteo that would have been. . . . But Jack explains that the entire affair is an amateur show, after all, and it wouldn't be fair to the others. Also (But ye who know him have heard the story, and ye who know him not, have not lived hereabouts long enuf. . . . Make no mistake. You'll never save a quarter by not attending that show. Those of you who are hefty will lose a pound a minute laughing . . . and ye who are lean will gain likewise in the same proportion . . . And ye who enter not therein, will lose thine health weeping when it is all over. . . . But none will have compassion on you, yea verily, ye shall even be chastised, for lo, t he opportunity did knock, and ye were slothful and turned away your head. Selah.

To Observe Fifth Year At West Hi

P.-T. A. Plans Special Program for Monday, Mar. 12; James Mattox to Speak.

Plans for observance of the fifth anniversary of West High's occupancy of the new building are being made by a committee of the West Sr.-Jr. P.-T. A., under the leadership of Mrs. W. L. Willikin, chairman of the program committee, it was announced this week.

The program will be held at the school in conjunction with the monthly meeting of the association on Monday, Mar. 12. Four of the board of education members who served at that time will be present, with Mr. James Mattox being the principal speaker. An effort is also being made to secure J. O. Collicott, superintendent of Columbus Public Schools, also Judge Cook J. Randall, whose efforts to obtain the new school were noteworthy.

A special musical program will feature Miss Penelope Johnson, violin prodigy, who will leave immediately after her graduation for the New York Conservatory of Music, where she has been awarded a scholarship. Mr. Charles Walton, pianist, who has also been awarded a musical scholarship at Oberlin, will also appear on the program.

Curtain Raises At 8:15 o'Clock Tonight

Hubbert Jones, violins; Edith Ray Zelkoff, cello; Howard Young, banjo; Paul Holcomb, flute; Joe Turner, trumpet; Howard Moon, saxaphone; Clay Young, drums; and Edith Greiser, piano.

Last Day of School

In the second part, the last day of school, feautring two dozen local business men, will be augmented by three crack olio acts. The Happy Steppers, with Buddy Webber, Billy Ewald, Mary Campbell and Phyllis Rawlins, do a brilliant skating act, with a pair of other numbers which will, as usual, please tremendously.

Libby Lee Czatt, seven-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Czatt, shows some clever dancing, and does a couple of songs, while Leroy Sheehy and Mary Louise Storch, also juveniles, turn out an excellent skit.

24 in Class

The following business men and women, dressed as boys and girls, have special parts to play during the ceremonies involved in the last day of school during the period known in history as the "gay nineties." The "pupils" are: Dr. A. C. Myers, Ray Hauntz, Dr. C. O. Miller, Otto Mattox, Miss Mary Benta, Curt Wolpin, R. D. Hastings, Fred Raether, M. W. Seiller, George Matson, C. H. Campbell, Gene Todd, Frank Kent, Miss Edith Robbins, Miss Ethel Grebner, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Zelkof, Hubbard Jones, Don Smith, Harley Sapp, Sherm Edwards, A. C. Safxger, Dr. C. H. Czatt and Paul Holcomb.

All in all, it's to be a grand performance. The show, directed by Tom Lewis, will be repeated at the West High auditorium tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock.

Link Named On Mythical Quintet

around ability that he displayed all season. His offensive playing was neat and he played an important part in South's fine passing attack.

For the guards on this honor quintet Hickle from South and Roan from North received the nod. All season the captain of South displayed a brand of basketball that was pleasing to watch. Defensively he proved his worth time and again by tying up his man effectively. Offensively he was hard to stop. His accurate eye for the bucket and his deceptive feinting and passing kept his opponents worrying. Because of his all around ability surpassing all others he is given the honor to captain this quintet. Roan, the dusky lad from North, was a consistent player throughout the season. Playing an easy yet fast breaking game he was responsible for many points for North. His close, watchful guarding caused his man to be helpless on many occasions. Griffith his team-mate was a close second choice for this position, because of his aggressiveness and eye for the basket, yet Roan seemed more consistent.

Second Choices

Selections for the second squad was more difficult. Stark from East seems to be the logical choice at center. There was a scarcity of good tip-off men in the league this year. Colston of East and Freeman of North easily take care of the forward posts. Colston could be considered by many as having first team qualities. Griffith was readily given a guard berth but the choice for his running mate was a toss-up among three or four capable lads, with the writer giving Link of West the nod. Link, handicapped by playing with new material in the line-up, constantly deserves much credit along with Spears, his teammate. Link seems to be the headiest player on the second squad therefor he gets the captain's assignment.

Spears and Gramm of Aquinas played good consistent ball all season with Gramm being the main cog of his team. Burger of Central and Tupia of South showed signs of flashy playing at times.

Had Bell of North, Rogers of East, Evans of South and Thompson of Centra played all season they would have been All-High possibilities.

Even though it was an unsuccessful basketball season for West High it cannot be said that it was a disappointing one. At the beginning of the season the Cowboys were not expected to do much and the result of winning but two games out of 15 ran true to predictions.

In their first game with Central the Cowboys played well enough to cause the co-champions to fight to the finish.

on their second encounter the local cagers was outclassed and there was too much from South played rings around West in their first game but fans were treated to the second game [illegible] West played its best game of the season when it met North the first time. Had the Cowboys kept up such stellar defensive work all season they would have gone places. In their second game with North they didn't have a chance and were outplayed in every department of the game. Last night find the Cowboys much trouble in their first encounter but had to fight hard to down the Crimson in their second meeting. Both games were close but it could be seen that West had the better team especially in the second encounter.

West lacked good material was obvious from the start. Coach Wise could get least of more than twelve three regular ball handlers to round out a fighting combination. Basketball players are born and no many words and carefully laid plans were made at the 1933 organization this year.

Steele and Link were the mainstays of the squad this year and it was due to their consistent playing that West had a few bright spots in their games. Link played a great floor game all season. He held down his man defensively and also added his share of the points to the scoring list. Spears also played a hard game many a time sinking shots from out on the floor when the defense was tight around the basket. His offensive playing in the last three or four games was exceptionally good. The loss of McCoy for the last few games because of a shoulder injury, slowed up the Cowboys considerably.

Of the few who started the season with the squad but did not finish, Jividen was the only one who was valuable to the team. The rest did not show much class when they did play.

At the beginning of the second round, Redman, the colored lad, came up from junior high ranks. He as a clever player and he added some spice to the squad. Because Coach Wise had to resort to the reserve squad for reinforcements so much it was impossible to get a combination that clicked. The promoted reserves were not of first team quality and were outclassed by the men they were stacked up against. Maybe in two or three years this squad will get going even though they will be without the services of Spears and Link who will be graduated.

Baseball In Air As Church Cage Season Closes

Hillcrest Baptist Quintet to Compete in City Finals for Class B. Honors.

With local church basketball teams having rung down the curtain on their respective seasons, thoughts in sport circles are fast turning to the baseball season, not far in the offing.

All local squads with the exception of Hillcrest Baptist, have completed their seasons. The Hillcrest quintet is still in the running for city class B honors, having just Tuesday night defeated Avondale U. B. to cop the honor in the West Church loop.

Despite rumors that the recreation department would not sponsor a circuit for church recreation ball teams this year, plans are being made for an even better campaign than last year. Reports indicate that the league may have 10 teams entered, with Sullivant Friends possibly replacing one of the Hillcrest teams. The Baptists will enter but a single aggregation this year.

Repeated requests for an explanation of the new eligibility rule governing participation in church athletics are being made. According to Leo Cridil of the recreation department, a player at one church must have been eligible there for 15 months before he may become eligible at another church.

A player who played baseball at Church A last year, would not be eligible to compete in athletics at Church B until 15 months had expired. This is an attempt to thwart the trump athlete who plays basketball at one church and baseball at another.

On the other hand, if an athlete has played his 15 months at one church, or been eligible to play, he may change churches and participate in athletics upon fulfilling the eligibility requirements of attendance through one month.

Weather permitting, the local campaign will get under way in mid-April. Entrance fees, it was learned, will be the same as last year.

Dreary Baseball Season Forseen At W. Hi School

Frank Link Only Regular Back; First Call to Be Issued Within Two Weeks.

Diamond prospects at West High, where high running teams are usually turned out, appear at the present writing to be almost as bleak as the basketball season just closed, according to the information released by Coach Harold Wise this week.

Frank Link, an all high third sacker from last year is the only letterman back, although Dick Francis, catcher de luxe, and LaVerne Ankrum, outfielder who saw some action last year, will also be available.

Material coming from West Jr., also, is sparse and of the mediocre variety, and all in all, it looks like a spring without sunshine as far as brilliant baseball is concerned.

Coach Wise indicated this week that the first call for aspirants would be issued within two weeks. Although the schedule has not yet been completed, information regarding it will be forthcoming soon.

Wise will be in full charge of the Diamond sport with Frack in charge of Claude Chrisman, newly appointed coach who assumed his new duties Monday.

To Speak

Major Herbert M. Pool, U. S. Army officer of Ft. Hayes, will speak on national defense Monday evening, Mar. 5, at 8 o'clock in the Dessler Hotel at a meeting of the 12th Ohio Congressional District Republican club. The public is invited.

Revival

The revival of the Church of God, 3319 Sullivant Ave., will start Sunday, Mar. 4. Services will held each evening at 7:45 p. m. The public is invited to attend these services.

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

BRICKS AND ROSES

Stew bad, but there are always the knockers. . . . The kind of guys that keep hammering, but never build anything. . . . That local man, for instance, who slapped at local chaps who "had time to make a fool of themselves in the Minstrel." . . . Those cracks make this corner hot south of the cars, and so a brick. . . . But heaps of roses to the doctors and lawyers and grocerymen, and mechanics and cops and men of all callings who had parts in "the greatest builder of good will" the Hilltop has. . . . We liked "The Spinning Wheel" scene, with Dr. Baker at the loom and C. E. Johnson presenting the vocal accompaniment. . . . But the opening chorus, a classic, might have edged it, but for the hoodlums who must stand on the mantel and yell when visitors come at home. . . . A brick or so to them then, wrapped in a couple of pages from Emily Post. . . . A rose to Pinkie Edwards who did a pleasing dance,—and not a word of publicity before the show. . . . . An orchid to the prettiest girl in the town—Mary Louise Storch.

A bookay, too, to Libby Lee Cyatt, a zippy stepper. . . . A pebble (and a rose too) to Lou Saunders, who fooled you all the foist ate by forgetting the initial pair of lines to his song. . . . But he interpolated the third verse, and ye never knew. . . . The patriotic pageant drew the greatest applause. (Isn't it a shame, the chronic kicker couldn't see that. He didn't see the show, you know) . . . Fetch forth a flower for Tom Zelkoff's wife, Edith. Too bad her singing was done back stage, for she warbles well. . . . Three cheers for Nina Shank's paw, none other, ladies and gents—F. F. . . . A small pebble to Cliff Kohn, who did such a swell job on properties, but after warning them all (over an 100) to be sure and get measured for their outfits—he went to dress rehearsal last Wed. having forgot to his own.

Ed Barnes, whom we wondered about via stooge reports some time back, is a surgeon in a Louisville, Ky., hospital, according to info. . . . Jack Williams, who tells every different lass with whom he be a date, about the time he carried a 450-lb. bath-tub up a flight of stairs on his back. . . . Roody Baesman, upon whose dresser reposes a foto of Jean Harlow. . . . And he has engraved thereon (the conceited awse) "To Bob, with love, Jean." . . . That protest of Hillcrest's win over West Park was disallowed. . . . Betcha Mr. Dillinger and Mr. Bowman don't meander out toward Tucson, Ariz., in order to evade the hands of the law. . . . Which brings up the question of just who is running this country. . . . guys like Bowman and Dillinger and the Lindberg kidnappers—or Huey Long—or Mr. Roosevelt. . . . Wonder if Whitie Looker's bowling has improved since taking instruction from Bill Rogers.

Things I'll never be able to explain: Why the fundamentalist views the skeptical mind with such great alarm and becomes the extreme skeptic when something scientific is presented to him. . . . Maybe the difference is that the former is fearful, lest what he believes be blown asunder, while the latter is courageous in seeking for truth. . . . Zoological note: In Hall's (43 N. Warren) backyard, there is a cat, two dogs, a chicken and a rabbit. . . . Sign of spring: Bob Humphreys in, talking baseball. . . . John Florio, speaking to a companion on the St. car: "I'll telya this. Two can't live as cheap as one." . . . And lest we forgit: "A bowl of daffodils to Ethel Greiser and Edith Robbins, who spent no little time in making the Minstrel go good." . . . A lady called this week, hilariously telling of a couple, coming home on the street car, so wrapped up in each other, they couldn't watch the other customers smile. Perhaps it was that same pair, whose wooing en route downtown was chronicled hyar two wks back—coming in from a honeymoon.

2500 Entertained At Presentations of Minstrel Show

Audiences Respond With Deserved Applause As Spectacular Show Makes Big Hit.

According to information available this week, more than 2500 attended the Fifth Annual Hilltop Minstrel Show held at the West High auditorium last Thursday and Friday nights. Adverse weather conditions prevented overflow crowds, although full houses were in evidence at each performance.

Although more than 4000 attended the 1933 shows, it was pointed out that admission prices were set at 10 cents and the production presented three times.

The 1934 show, in the opinion of the majority, was the best ever sponsored by the association. And in colonial costumes, powdered wigs et al, the affair was undoubtedly the most brilliant and spectacular.

Painter Wins

George Painter, who sold 578 tickets to the Fifth Annual Hilltop Minstrel Show, won the annual "Minstrel Hat" for the second consecutive year.

His closest rival, according to available information, was Herb Deems, whose 230 sales was no mean figure.

C. C. Hartley, for the past two years the show's director, and formerly a resident on the Hilltop, said that this year's production had not been matched by any given in previous years. Hartley, former editor of the Hilltop Record and secretary of the Hilltop Business Men's association, is now managing editor of the Green Field Times in Greenfield, O., where he makes his home.

Every act brought forth repeated rounds of applause with the closing scene on the first part, a patriotic pageant, being especially appealing to the audiences both nights. The opening chorus, with special lighting effects, drew much favorable comment.

Floyd F. Green, interlocutor for the past several years, gave his usual stellar performance in that role.

Songs by end men George Painter, Leo Phillips, Lou Saunders and William Coulthard and ballad singers Dr. C. H. Lose and C. E. Johnson, were well received, with Pinkie Edward's dancing also meriting the applause it received.

The male quartet, composed of W. H. Jones, Robert Jones, Anson Fox and Leo J. Phillips, presented a program all too short, with the male chorus also in an abbreviated program consisting of "The Last Roundup" and an encore chorus of "The Bells of St. Mary's."

"The Last Day of School," depicting the days of the gay nineties, featured 24 local business men and women, with Herb Deems presiding as the school marm, proved to be hilarious entertainment.

Specialty numbers, also well received, were: "The Happy Steppers, featuring a skating act by Mary Campbell, Phyllis Rawlins, Buddy Webber and Billy Ewald; an impersonation of Kate Smith by Phyllis Rawlins "Daddy's Brown Derby" by Mary Louise Storch and Leroy Sheehy; song and dance by Libby Lee Cyatt; a harmony trio, with Jim Auburn, Lee Coulfield and Dick Allen; "Brother Ephriam Bones" by Ray Boyer; Jack Edward's orchestra; and last, but not least, Jack Shank, assisted by Edith Zelkoff, presenting a classic version of "Carmena."

The music of the show was in charge of Ethel Greiser and Edith Robbins of the Hilltop School of Music.

Officers Named

The Woman's Missionary society of the Burgess Avenue United Brethren church has elected the following officers to serve for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Gladies Coyle; vice-president, Mrs. C. H. Hill; secretary, Mrs. Clarence Schofield; treasurer, Mrs. C. L. Campbell; secretary of literature, Miss Hazel Brown; secretary of stewardship, Mrs. Frank Wolford; secretary of thank-offering, Mrs. Dimmo; delegates to branch convention, Mesdames Goodhill, Alling and Coyle.

Opens Floral Shop

William C. Albright, formerly with the Hilltop Florists, announces this week the opening of his new shop, specializing in cut flowers, potted plants and funeral designs at the same location, 511 S. Hague Ave.

Speaker

JAMES A. MATTOX

Mr. Mattox, who will be the principal speaker at the West Sr.-Jr. P.-T. A. meeting observing the fifth anniversary of the opening of West High school on Monday, will speak on "The Romance of the Columbus Waterfront."

Music Day At Hoge Memorial

Annual Pre-Easter Service to Be Observed Sunday Morning at Presbyterian Church.

Music Day will be observed at Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church Sunday morning at 9:15 o'clock. This is an annual event in the Pre-Easter services at the church.

The Hilltop School of Music trio, composed of Edith L. Robbins, violinist; Edith Ray Zelkoff, cellist; and Ethel Greiser, pianist, will feature the program. The Sunday school orchestra under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Corcoran, and Mr. Ferne Buckingham, organist, will also have part. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Hymn No. 258
Selection from "The Bohemian Girl" ..... Balfe
Hoge Memorial Orchestra
Solo by Mrs. Edith Ray Zelkoff
Violin obligato by Miss Robbins
Miss Greiser at the piano
a. "Ave Maris Stella" ..... Grieg

Get Recreation Room At Glenwood

Equipment to Be Purchased and Installed at Glenwood Shelter House This Year.

According to plans announced by the recreation department officials last week, a recreation room at the Glenwood shelter house, equipped with checker and card tables, ping-pong tables, etc., and also library facilities, will be available to local residents before the year is out.

First steps toward the completion of such a project were taken last week when more than 100 local cage fans paid 10 cents each to watch the finals in the West church league. The receipts, augmented by funds from the recreation department, will be utilized to furnish the room.

The evening of entertainment was sponsored by the recreation department cooperating with the Hilltop Business Men's association.

When completed, it will be the only fully equipped club room on the Hilltop.

Mid-Winter Institute

A large number of young people of Glenwood will attend the Mid Winter Institute of Columbus District Epworth League to be held at Broad St. M. E. church on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Mar. 9, 10 and 11. Rev. Frank McColm will be the dean and Roberta Chapman as registrar.

A district banquet will be held on Saturday night at 6 p. m. with Rev. Joel Wareing as toastmaster and Dr. Isaac Miller as speaker.

Cops Lose

In a high scoring game played at the Glenwood shelter house Tuesday evening, the cage team of the Newark Police Dept. edged the Columbus cops, 41 to 40. The game extended into one overtime period.

Mrs. Pool Seriously Ill

Word was received this week that Mrs. S. E. Pool, formerly of the Hilltop, is seriously ill in the hospital at Barnesville, O., from an operation for cancer.

West Alumni to Have "Sho-Dance" At School Gym

Gala Event Planned By Committees; Ticket Sale Gets Under Way This Week.

One of the largest undertakings ever attempted by the West High Alumni association will be presented in the form of a "Sho-Dance" at the school gymnasium Friday evening, Mar. 23, according to information released by the committee this week.

Plans call for a floor show, presenting a dozen first class variety acts, in addition to the dancing. Acts already engaged include: Merrell Thompson, baritone; Helen Richter, accordion soloist; Valeda Gugger and Audrey Shields, dancers; Bill Grace, tenor; and Jack Sherrick.

Fred Gaugler, chairman in charge of the music, announced that Charles Bennett's orchestra had been obtained.

Ticket sales, in charge of W. E. Ferguson, got under way this week. Ducats are obtainable at both Todd Drug Stores, Campbell's Pharmacy, Willburger's Pharmacy, Hilltop Bldg. & Loan and the Hilltop office of the Ohio National Bank.

Announcement of other acts will be forthcoming next week, according to the chairman in charge, Don Craig.

Aged Residents Saved From Death

Miss Elizabeth Williams, 81, and Brother John, 74, Rescued By Firemen Saturday.

Trapped in their burning home at 2720 W. Broad St., near midnight Saturday, Miss Elizabeth Williams, aged 81, and John Williams, her brother, aged 74, barely escaped with their lives when a neighbor, hearing the former's screams for help, called the fire department which arrived in time to affect a rescue.

The crackling blaze, of unknown origin, near the bedrooms of the sleeping residents, aroused Miss Williams, whose way of escape was blocked by the flames. Her cries for help were heard by Mrs. G. A. Tharp, 2525 W. Broad St., who called firemen.

Using breathing masks and ladders, Miss Williams was carried to safety. Mr. Williams was found in his bed, unconscious. He was taken to Grant hospital, where he was revived. His condition was improved early this week.

Miss Williams, suffering from shock, is at the home of relatives on the South Side.

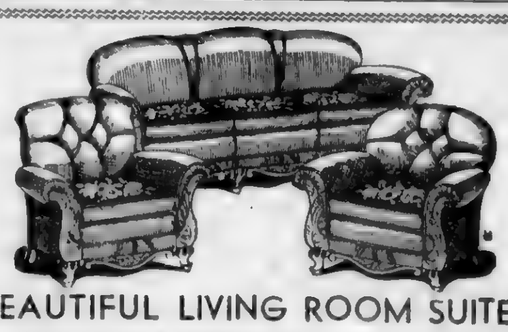
IN MEMORIUM



To the memory of R. R. McKinley who was called to his reward March 6, 1933.

His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall,
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.

Mrs. Ada McKinley.

By J. N. WOLFE

Guy Kellar, lamped two times now, on N. Warren Ave., after the chimes had smote the hr. of 12. . . . Janice Booth, who told the wrong guy that she doesn't like this scribbler, is fishing again. . . . And her ole pal, Pee Wee Ka-nox, wants to go out with Roody Bateman. Going to the dogs right, beh buddy. . . . Personal note: Dear Roody: Your letter reed. (unfortunately). And read (again unfortunately). And delivered to the w. b. (fortunately). . . . Who is that guy who seeks to publicize Ruth Dell hyar because she razzed him the last time he blotted this pillar? . . . With spring coming Wed., causing hearts to go spinkity spank, we should get much colmanar material. . . . Curt Wilcox thinks his basement is the best on the Hilltop, what, with it all carded up and white-washed. . . . But in Draper's abode, the walls depict, desert scenes, etc., in brilliant color. . . . And so another section done.

Forrest Martens, former local lad, is a cookies salesman in Cleveland, where he will take unto himself a bride in Oct. . . . Dave Ballard, back in town over the week end, reports a basketball season of eight wins and nine losses. . . . Wonder if M. Krejci still dances with all the boys in her Shiloh High sch. . . . "How can you tell whether this volcano is active?" a professor, showing a foto of the thing, asked of his engineering class at OSU. And Paul Crosier, a student thar, studied intently. At last, with great profundity, he babbled: "I don't see how it could be active with that guy standing on it." . . . It happened, I think, at Dublin, as I, a smart city lad, was motoring one day. Says I to one of the town philosophers, pointing directly ahead: "How far is it in that direction, mister?" The old gent, greatly deliberate, replied: "Wal, son," and he spat a great spit of tobacco juice,—"jest as fer as you wanta go."

Margaret Bier is wearing a rock on the correct finger. Kelly Martin is the donor—last Xmas. . . . Royce (Gig) Curtis is in the U. S. Coast-guard. . . . Cliff Hatton (they used to call him "Scrubbins") is making bi-weekly trips to a village in West Va. O me, o my. . . . . Our linotype operator, who sets this drivel, suggests giving his wife a membership in a nudist colony to save the expense of an Easter outfit (Just like him). . . . Wonder what ever became of Ralph Brasket. . . . And Rudy Lutz, whose contributions are missed, not heard of in some spell. . . . But Spook Wade is still slaying them. . . . Never did know what our postman's name is. A right nice guy, too. . . .

That lady on the street car, wearing four diamond rings and another poll—"blowing her nose" with both hands—so's nobuddy could see she had any jewlery. . . . Why such items have been out of style for five years—the rockets, I mean. None brag any more about the money they make or the riches they own. . . . Folks talk nowadays about their kids in school, the books they read, the friends they know and have, the things they make and do during the time they used to spend "on the go" etceteraditfinitum. And so endeth the epistle lesum for today.

Ineligibility Is Obstacle to West Diamond Prospects

Green Team to Represent Cowboys in Baseball; Frank Link May Do Mound Chores.

Ineligibility, as well as a paucity of material, will be the most difficult hurdle for West High's baseball coaches to surmount this spring, according to Harold Wise, the West mentor. With but a single letter man back and several outstanding prospects either ineligible or threatened with such a fate due to scholastic difficulties, the outlook is truely dark.

Link May Hurl

According to Wise, no one should be surprised if the squad representing the Cowboy institution this year is composed of a sophomore infield and outfield, with a battery composed of Frank Link, last year's all-high third sacker on the mound, and Dick Francis, erstwhile grid star, behind the bat. Gentile and Smith are also possible moundsmen, however. Burdette, another possibility, has quit school.

Redmond, whose ability on the hardcourt this past season was worthy of note, may get a chance at the receiving post, relegating Francis to the initial bassock. The latter, however, is just above the line which separates the sheep from the goats, scholastically, and consequently proves a source of much worry to his coaches.

Weak With Stick

A weak-hitting aggregation at best, is forecast for the Crimson. Ankrum in right, a sub from last year's outfit, has never been noted for offensive labors, while Dietrick, a sophomore, must improve much to make the squad. Burr, centerfielder, is ineligible.

Bill McCoy, a sub keystone sacker last year, may become a regular this spring, if he remains eligible. Carl Coleman, an infielder of two years back, will return for the opening rehearsals today.

Get Call Today

Coach Wise has sounded his first baseball call, with the squad scheduled to report this afternoon in the gym where workouts will be held until suitable weather permits out of door rehearsals.

Track aspirants, under Coach Claude Chrisman, will be called next week, it was indicated this week.

Hillcrest Team Class B Champs

Win Final Game In City Eliminations Over Linden M. E. No. 2, 23 to 11.

Hillcrest Baptist basketballers copped the city class B championship last Friday evening at the Central Y. M. C. A. in the church league finals, defeating Linden M. E. No. 2, 23 to 11.

The local team won its way into the finals by defeating North Congregational, and Mt. Vernon M. E. The Baptists won four and lost four in the West church loop during the regular season.

In the Intermediate class A finals, Glenwood M. E. dropped a decision to St. Clair Presbyterian, 22 to 10.

Gift St. M. E., winners of the bunting in the West church circuit, reached the finals Friday, but bowed to Linden M. E. for the title, 18 to 12.

STRAIT NAMED

Alva Strait, 758 S. Terrace St., has been named scoutmaster of Troop 79, Boy Scouts of America, at the Burgess U. B. church.

Recreation Ball Rules To Undergo Slight Changes

Three changes of a more or less minor nature will in all probability prevail in the recreation ball circuits of the city this year, according to Leo Uridil of the recreation department.

The pitcher's box will be moved back one foot, making the distance 37 feet from the mound to home plate; players in all positions will be permitted to use gloves; and rubber cleats will be permissible.

Awaiting the results of the rules committee meeting in Chicago, local officials will make official announcement of the rules to be used in Columbus in the near future.

Two items are certain, however—nine players will be retained instead of the official 10 suggested by the rules committee and the outseam ball will be retained here. Inseam balls have been declared official.

Th pitching distance will be the most vital change in local recreation ball, it was thought, inasmuch as most players, with the exception of the first baseman and catchers, will prefer to play without the use of gloves.

Meetings of church league managers will be held within the next two weeks, and playing and eligibility rules discussed.

Local Library May Go On Full Time Schedule

W. L. Millikin, Who First Sought Branch Libraries, Favors Appropriation If Possible.

The Hilltop Library, busiest of the five neighborhood branches, may go on a full time schedule if city council, at its meeting Monday evening, appropriates the necessary funds asked for by John J. Pugh, librarian.

Unemployment has created a greater demand for books and periodicals, it was pointed out, and at the same time, funds for operation have been curtailed. The local branch, where Miss Jane Williams is librarian, led all branches in number of services rendered during the past four years, and during the past two years, on part time, the demand has increased markedly.

Wyatt L. Millikin, who first introduced the resolution for neighborhood libraries, said this week that he favored the necessary appropriation if it could possibly be obtained.

"And I believe the other councilmen would be in favor of the project, if the money is at all available," he said.

Local Cop Hurt In Fight Monday

Patrolman Russell Bachman May Lose Use of Hand After Tussle In Cruiser.

Patrolman Russell Bachman, 159 S. Warren Ave., sustained severe injuries to his hands Sunday night following a fight in a radio cruiser with David Temple, aged 60, rear of 1140 Cleveland Ave., who was being taken by Bachman and Patrolman Paul Hinton to call a patrol wagon.

The prisoner, who started using the razor, was shot five times in the thighs and beaten on the head by the policemen. Hinton also sustained cut hands. All three were taken to White Cross hospital, where attaches said Bachman might lose the use of his right hand.

Temple had been arrested at his home on a charge of intoxication following a complaint that he had broken a window at 1112 Walters St. He drew the razor in Sidney St., just north of Fifth Ave., slashing at Bachman. He was finally subdued when the officers opened fire. He is in serious condition at the hospital.

Sharp, district lecturer of the 19th Masonic district of the Grand Lodge of Ohio, will be the inspecting officer. All regular Masons are welcome.

That Priceless Ingredient

In the city of Bagdad lived Hakeem, the Wise One, and many people went to him for counsel, which he gave freely to all, asking nothing in return.

There came to him a young man, who had spent much but got little, and said: "Tell me, Wise One, what shall I do to receive the most for that which I spend?"

Hakeem answered, "A thing that is bought or sold has no value unless it contains that which cannot be bought or sold. Look for the Priceless Ingredient." "But, what is this Priceless Ingredient?" asked the young man.

Spoke then the Wise One: "My son, the Priceless Ingredient of every product in the market-place is the Honor and Integrity of him who makes it. Consider his name before you buy."

Consider our name before you buy glasses for the only pair of eyes you will ever have. Our name, which means Service, has been that Priceless Ingredient for more than thirty years.

Ample, shaded light from modern fixtures equips the kitchen with the light needed to see easily at all times.

Shadowless light overhead and at the range, sink and table permits the speed and certainty cooking requires.

Work at a hot oven, the cutting of foods and the inspection of meats and vegetables are done accurately and safely under good lighting.

Use light for the most in convenience and safety in the kitchen . . . and throughout all the house as well.

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

MEMORY

Spring is a-comin' back into the hills. And with the blossoming forth of arbutus and saxifrage and hepatica, there floods into my mind a host of memories—of pleasant rambles.

No better hiker ever donned a boot than Bill Craft. No jaunt was too long; no weather too disagreeable; no cliff too high; no valley too deep;—but what Bill could "do" it.

Long, graceful strides took him over ground at an amazing rate. And when we stopt to rest, he was the philosopher, the poet.

I well remember, when we'd stop on a little bridge over a murmuring creek, in the dead of night—and we'd often ramble after the chimes in the town over the hills had struck the hour of 12—he would look up at a star sprinkled sky.

"Living's like hiking," he'd say. "There's always something better over the next slope."

"And those stars up there"—and he'd pause, before continuing with dead certainty—"just prove to me there's something finer beyond the last hill."

Bill's gone on now,—over the last hill. And if there's something out yonder—beyond the horizon—it's a better place because he's there.

The Young twins, Ada and Eva (they're long since attained their MRS degrees) used to pronounce oil—orl. . . . Whatever became of Jeanette Brown? She seemed so frail. . . . Elmer Smith was telling the lads that app. 5,000,000 red corpuscles per cu. mm. of blood was normal for a man. . . . And Roady Baesman, in that babbling way of his, reported that he only had 4,900,000—which approaches normalcy for the female of the species. . . . Whatever became of Ronald Howard? . . . Mrs. Leo Schneeberger, who arose at such an hour as 2:30 a. m. one Thursday to catch a train, and found, after she got to the station, that it didn't depart until Friday morning at the same hr. . . . Hoo-o-o! Hu-u-u-u-m. . . . George Matson claims to be the smartest boy in school. "You can laugh or not," says George, "but Herb Deems told me so. He said I was the only one who graduated."

Adam Addison, who was fearful lest his name be mentioned hyar along with that of Betty Fink, a right fetchin lass. . . . Now we went and dunnit. . . . Got Bill Knox all glarey eyed and fire spittin cause that girl which doesn't like us was mentioned hyar a week back. . . . Oooooomp—Ah. . . . To a more or less regular blotter of this pillah, Ruth Dell says: "I outta sla-a-a-p you-o-o-o," and she might have truthfully added, "you-oo-oo nawstee-see nawan." . . . So Whittie Looker thinks Larry Persons revealed the secret of his bowling success? Nope. . . . Bobb Trott is working again, but our stooge has no dirt to speak of the lad, that is, of the medium variety. . . . Max (alias Maxine, Florida, etc.) McCarty is working nights, but so does a burglar. . . . Hank Culland is driving a milk truck (We're sure to be misinterpreted on that item, judging by the intelligence of some of our readers as exemplified by anonymous letters. They'll think we intimated Frank is raising cows). . . . Oh, yes, Howard Shunting is the chap we've been wondering about, and couldn't recall the name. He played Villon, pronounced approximately "Wee-yon" (opes, in "If I Were King," the next to last of West High's good class plays. . . . The last time I saw Edgar Hiser he was painting a picture of a cotton wood tree—and because he is an artist, the bark appeared red. . . . Stan Hamilton, of whom they writ in the Occident: "Then he will talk—Ye Gods! How he will talk! . . . Another Occident description, so accurate: "No sinner—nor no saint, perhaps. But—well, the very best of chaps" Of course, Rajah Snedecker . . . Four people, whom I remember as fellow laborers in Miss Jones' Latin class in Cicero—Ferne Shelton, Ruth Vorce, Elizabeth Dudley and John Nutting. John was more in my class.

Passion Play In Moving Pictures At St. John Church

Pictorial Reproduction of Famous Oberammergau Pageant to Be Shown Tuesday.

An opportunity will be extended to residents of the Hilltop and members and friends of the St. John Lutheran church, Hague avenue and Broad street, next Tuesday evening, Mar. 27, to see a pictorial reproduction of the famous "Passion Play" of Oberammergau, according to an announcement made this week.

The seven reel motion picture is being brought to the Hilltop by the Luther League of the St. John church and depicts the last suffering and death of Jesus.

The drama, presented in Oberammergau, Bavaria, Germany, every decade, will be accompanied on the screen with sound effects. The program will get under way at 8 o'clock in the Sunday school rooms of the St. John church.

The presentation is a part of the Holy Week observance at the local church, where Rev. Henry E. Koch is pastor.

Legion Drive Is Launched

Camp Chase Post No. 98 In Final Effort to Secure Additional Members.

On Saturday, Mar. 17, the final drive of the Camp Chase Post of the American Legion, to reach its quota for the year 1934, was inaugurated.

The drive is under the direction of Vice-commander James E. Hurd, assisted by a large committee. It is the committee's intention to contact every world war veteran on the Hilltop, of whom they have any information.

Eligible men of the community have been extended an invitation to visit the Post club rooms at 2383 W. Broad St. and get acquainted with the Hilltop Legionnaires.

Mrs. William Rogers, 673 Chestershire Rd., president of the Camp Chase Auxiliary, also announced this week that a last drive for new members and renewals was under way. The drive is in the form of a contest and cash prizes will be awarded.

On Saturday, Mar. 17, the local auxiliary entertained at the Franklin County Children's Home. Mrs. Edgar Planck, 42 S. Harris Ave., is chairman of the committee.

Cowboy Gridders May Play Middleport Oct. 26

Announcement of a tentatively scheduled game with Middleport High school of Saturday night, Oct. 26, was announced this week by Coach Harold Wise. Efforts will be made, however, to have the game played on Friday afternoon either at Middleport or on the local lot.

One other game will be scheduled for the Wisemen before the season opens next year, and the Cowboy mentor indicated Tuesday that it would be of the tough variety on Friday, Sept. 14. If the two games are definitely set, the Cowboys will have 10 games on the menu for the 1934 campaign.

Services Each Evening At Hillcrest Next Week

Beginning Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, there will be services each night during Holy Week at the Hillcrest Baptist church. Special music has been arranged for by W. E. Knox, music director of the church.

The sermon each evening will be taken from an event in the life of Jesus during that day of the week before his crucifixion. The sermon topic for Sunday evening is: "Spring Cleaning Time in God's House."

All services will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. S. Talmadge McGann.

C. E. Zinn Succumbs At Grant Hospital

Funeral services for Charles Edward Zinn, aged 65, who succumbed Thursday at Grant hospital, were held from the residence, 131 Eldon Ave., Monday afternoon, Mar. 19. Burial was in Green Lawn cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Mame, one son, Ervin; one daughter Mrs. Marie King; and one grandchild. He was a member of the Humboldt Lodge of Masons and Franklin Lodge K. of P.

"The Children's King" At Glenwood Sunday

"The Children's King" by Elizabeth Edland will be presented by a cast of children under the direction of Miss Judith Ann Garrison at the Glenwood M. E. church Sunday night.

The following will take part: Stanley Kuhn, Willard Holycross, Billy Chrisman, Eleanor Swigert, Robert Trout, Martha Lee Fletcher, Anna McKinley, Elizabeth Walton, Charlene Young, Carl Speckman, Herbert Stewart, Francis Suter, Billy Miller, and Evelyn Dewitt.

75 Candidates Out For Baseball

West High Squad Has Dominance of New Men; 115 Report to Jr. High Coach.

Approximately 75 baseball candidates at West High school responded to Coach Harold Wise's initial call Monday afternoon, and workouts in the gymnasium got under way Tuesday. Of the group, only four are seniors. They are: Shade, McCoy, Howison and Morgan.

With such an abundance of green material, slight hope is held for the locals to race high in the scholastic loop, although material at other competing camps is also of an unknown calibre. Coach Wise indicated last week that the squad will be composed largely of first year men, with possible exceptions of Link and Francis, players of more or less proven ability.

Mud or no mud, the candidates will get their initial out-of-door workout no later than today, barring further snow flurries, when sliding practice will be held.

At West Jr. High, Coach George Williams was greeted by 115 aspiring young ball players last Friday when he issued his first call.

Material in the junior sector is of a more experienced nature, with last year's high running team returning more or less intact. Oncoming material, however, will probably replace many of last year's regulars, all of whom will have to fight plenty for jobs this spring.

18 West Students Honored Monday

Attend Annual Luncheon of Rotary Club at Deshler Hotel; Named By Faculty.

Eighteen West High students, nine boys and as many girls, were honored Monday of this week at the annual luncheon of the Rotary Club for outstanding seniors in the Columbus High schools.

Selection, made by the faculty, was based on personality, participation in school activities, and leadership, was announced Friday. The following students were named from West: Clifford Boye, William Eckle, Don Falkenberg, Arthur Haines, Denver Jividen, Herbert Nettleship, Henry Ruegg, Charles Walton and George Ward; Betty Benton, Virginia Burris, Betty Currier, Charlene Frye, Helen Howell, Ruth Lewis, Lily Petrie, Pauline Rowland and June Stone.

Jasper Dean's Buggy Wrecked Sunday a. m.

When the auto driven by Joseph E. Loos, 71 N. Chase Ave., struck the buggy of Jasper Dean, aged 76, of 49 N. Wayne Ave., early Sunday morning, the vehicle was demolished and the driver, a railroad crossing watchman for the Big Four R. R., sustained bruises about the arms. The accident occurred at Eldon avenue and Broad street.

Mr. Dean, who has gone to and from his station near the West Side Lumber Co., via horse and buggy for many years, was treated at Mt. Carmel hospital and taken home. Loos was unhurt. Dean's horse was slightly hurt.

Large Attendance At Westgate Inspection

A large attendance featured the annual inspection of the West Gate Lodge, F. & A. M., Monday night, Mar. 19, when an official attendance of 91 visitors and 71 members was recorded.

Twelve past masters were present. They were: Turner, Allen, Matson, Mosgy, Constans, Winkler, Rungs, Brady, Jordan, Elder, Dorsey and Jacobs.

Evangelists At Burgess U. B. Church

ELIZABETH S. VINAROFF

REV. G. E. VINAROFF

Rev. G. E. Vinaroff and his wife, Elizabeth S. Vinaroff, are the revivalists at the special revival meetings now in progress at the Burgess Avenue U. B. church.

The Vinaroffs have their headquarters at the "Moody Institute" in Chicago. Mr. Vinaroff is musical director and soloist and Mrs. Vinaroff is accompanist and Vibraphone artist.

The preaching is being done by Rev. J. G. Spears and Rev. A. W. Clutch, the pastor of the church. The subjects announced for the coming week are as follows: Monday, "The Little Bible;" Tuesday, "Stop, Go Signs," or "Disregarded Signals;" Wednesday, "Zacheus," or "The Call of God to Us;" Thursday, "The Serpent on the Pole;" Friday, "Our Youth, the Perils of the City."

Monday has been designated as Sunday school night; Tuesday, Men's Brotherhood night, and Friday, young people's night. The public is invited to attend these meetings which will extend through April 15.

Good Friday Union Services

Annual Union Good Friday services will be held in two local churches, Westgate Evangelical and Glenwood M. E., between 12 o'clock noon and 3 o'clock, next Friday, Mar. 30, it was announced this week by officials of the Hilltop Ministerial association.

The program will get under way with a half hour of devotional service at each church. There will follow, by various ministers, programs of 20 minutes duration. Each minister will speak from a text taken from one of the last seven sayings of Jesus.

The following is the program as announced by Rev. C. D. Osborn, chairman of the committee:

There will be a ten minute closing service at each church conducted by the respective ministers of the Westgate and Glenwood congregations.

Each minister will provide the music accompanying his 20-minute talk. Those attending may come and go as they desire, it was pointed out by Rev. Osborn, chairman.

Track Workouts Start Monday

Track Coach Claude Chrisman at West High school will start molding the 1934 cinder path machine in earnest Monday, provided fair weather continues, it was learned at the Cowboy stronghold this week.

With last year's outfit practically disrupted by graduation and ineligibility, a new array of talent will represent the scarlet this spring, and with the initial meet with Upper Arlington tentatively scheduled for Apr. 7, West's new mentor will have his task laid out for him.

The annual Newark-East-West triangular meet at Newark is carded for Apr. 14, with the annual city meet slated for May 4 and 5 or May 11 and 12. The state meet is scheduled for May 18 and 19.

More than a score of candidates reported this week and for the past two days have been working out in the gym. Out-of-door workouts will probably begin Monday, according to Chrisman.

The Nature Trail

By JOHN WOLFE

SPRING COMES STEALING

Slowly, imperceptibly, softly,—spring is stealing back into the hills. Horizons, yet black, and hillsides, yet bare, only belie the fact to the swift passerby. But deep pillowed in leaf mold and mosses, tiny shoots are even now pushing forth, soon to flower and deck the woodlands in the freshness and color of spring.

The heaviest snow and the lowest temperatures in years had brought to the Hocking hills an awe inspiring wintry grandeur. But giant pillars of ice and a soft blanket of snow, spectacular garments of King Winter, soon crashed and crumbled and melted and sided away when two days of warm spring rains and southern breezes dominated the weather in the hills.

A warm sun shown forth and from across the open field came the welcome song of the bluebird. This fellow, who had probably spent the winter in the region, was nevertheless dressed for spring days, in bright blue back and wings, with reddish breast. Another of the early songsters, the Song Sparrow, piped his vibrant melody from the top of a willow tree along the creek.

Crows, in greater numbers now, call their "Caw! Caw!" as they wing their way over the woodland. The cardinal's call is loud and clear, and once, the faint "Spring-is-here" of the meadowlark was wafted into the woods from the fields beyond. No notes are quite so thrilling to the ear as the notes of these friends when the last snows of winter are gone.

But the birds are not the only harbingers of spring. Just beneath the surface of last fall's brown leaves, there is activity. Hidden deep in a patch of moss, shoots of the Hepatica are now half an inch high. This plant, one of the most interesting of the wild flowers, will be among the early ones to bloom. Its blossoms, which may be shades of lavender, pink, or shades of blue, are borne on densely hairy stems before the leaves appear. The latter are three lobed, and have the shape of a liver, and in olden times the plant was regarded as an excellent medicinal agent. One may well doubt its value, although it has probably "cured" many an "ailment."

Too, before this is read, Trailing Arbutus will have begun to flower and scatter its fragrance through the woodlands. Preceded only by its paradox, as far as odor is concerned, Skunk Cabbage, it is the real barometer of the coming of spring.

In habiting rocky ledges, its hairy, ovel-shaped leaves, forming a mat on the rock surface, and its auxiliary flowers, along with its fragrance, make it easily recognized. No native wild flower of the state surpasses it in fragrance.

On the moist slopes, where not so long ago, evergreen ferns held sway, the woodland floor has a more forlorn appearance than at anytime during the long winter months. But digging beneath the surface, we found the curling shoots of the Christmas Fern, already an inch high, almost emerging save the brown leaves. Surely, the long winter is almost over.

In the swamp of the valley below we searched diligently for Skunk Cabbage. But all in vain, although three years ago we recorded pioneer of spring blossoms on Jan. 28. Its globular, yellow flower, enclosed in a green, purple striped, spathe, and its rank odor, make it difficult to miss. Following the blossom, the leaves appear, sometimes in summer, attaining a growth of two feet in length, or more, and more than a foot in breadth.

But the afternoon was wearing on, and we, with our packets of lichens collected as we rambled, struck back for the car. The sun dipped low, and disappeared behind cloud banks in the west. And through intermittent showers, we returned to the city, almost convinced that "winter's shroud was rent apart."

Mitchell Organizes Aeronautic Chapter

A squadron of the Columbus Chapter of the National Aeronautic association is being formed on the Hilltop under the leadership of Carroll Mitchell, of Melvin's Hardware. Regular meetings have been scheduled for once each week at a Hilltop church or at the Glenwood shelter house.

Mitchell has been active in promoting interest in and encouraging the work which is now being done along these lines.

Fifteen squadrons are being formed throughout the city, it was announced by J. E. Konkle, contest editor of the Columbus Chapter, and city-wide contests will be held at the Ohio State Fair coliseum.

Boys and men interested in this type of model work are urged to get in touch with Mr. Melvin or Mr. Mitchell.

NEW CITRUS FRUIT

A new citrus fruit, a cross between the "satsuma" orange and the "sweet" kumquat, is called the Nippon orangequat. It is a deep reddish orange in color, larger than the kumquat, with a tart flavor which is acceptably brought out by preserving or crystallizing.

Spring Is Here!
And with it comes the annual task of housecleaning. And as in past years, a great array of furniture, and what have you will be shifted from the attic corner into another attic corner.
That Annual Burden
can be easily remedied if some of those items—useless to you—yet valuable, could be disposed of. And the disposition is a simple thing—once you've acquired the habit of using Record Want Ads.
So----
The next time you go up in the attic, think of the work you'll have to do—spring after spring—if you don't get rid of some of that surplus furniture. Then too, maybe you'll get that new Easter bonnet as a result of an investment costing but a few cents.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Hilltop Leaders Are Active In Girl Scout Activities

Mrs. Wyatt Millikin, 86 E. Warren Ave., and Miss Catherine Page, 1845 Sullivant Ave., are members of the local Girl Scout Council. Miss Page is the chairman of the committee on training and personnel.

Mrs. Lueta Clark, 261 N. Wayne Ave., a former Girl Scout captain, has been assisting the office in the handicraft part of the Girl Scout program. She has had two evenings of handicraft study at the Girl Scout office, for which many of the leaders in Columbus have registered. Mrs. Charles Thompson, captain of Troop 34, Hilltop Church of Christ attended these meetings.

Mrs. Clara Kimmel, captain of Troop 13, West Broad Street Elementary school, has registered for the tramping and trailing course.

Troops Unite

Troops 22 and 31 have united and will continue to meet at the Hoge Memorial church. The troop recently took a civic hike to the General Baking Co., Mrs. Myrtle Powless, 117 N. Burgess Ave., and Miss Anita Jones, 24 S. Richardson Ave., are the leaders of this troop.

FEW HABITUAL DRINKERS?

The United States Commissioner of Industrial Alcohol predicts that America will drink 80,000,000 gallons of liquor during the first year after the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment! In making this estimate, which he considers to be low, he says, the estimate is no higher because "there are fewer habitual drinkers than before 1919."

Recreation Dept. to Close Cage Season

With final games in the champ of champs basketball tournament scheduled for tonight and next Tuesday at the Glenwood shelter house, an announcement of interest to baseball managers will be forthcoming from officials of the recreation department next week.

Following a meeting of umpires to discuss rule changes, managers of church recreation ball teams throughout the city will meet at the department for an explanation of the new regulations. Various leagues will then be organized according to Lee Urkill of the department.

PLANT CAN SMELL?

An interesting experiment with a sundew plant seems to prove that it has a sense of smell. This plant has a leaf rimmed with red tentacles, which close in upon any insect that touches them. In the experiment a piece of raw meat was hung near a leaf, but by no means touching it. At first the leaf was straight, almost bending backward. In forty minutes it was bending toward the meat. In another forty minutes the tentacles had grasped their prey. The faculty of smell has never before been found in a plant, but there seems to be no other explanation of the photographic evidence.

Cake Frostings With Variety

A frosting can make or mar the lightest, most perfect cake ever made. And many of us, secretly, eat our cake for the frosting if it's piled high and has a smooth, delicious texture and flavoring. So try some of these new icings on your favorite cake recipes to give them interest and different flavor.

Of course, uncooked frostings are the easiest to prepare and of these butter frosting takes the lead for simplicity and deliciousness. Here is the foundation recipe that may be varied according to your taste and ingenuity.

Butter Frosting

3 tablespoons of butter.
About 3 cups of confectioners' sugar.
½ teaspoon salt.
3 or 4 tablespoons of liquid flavoring.
1 egg yolk.

Cream the butter in the mixing bowl and gradually cream in the sugar. When about half the sugar has been used add the egg yolk and beat until the mixture is fluffy. Add the rest of the sugar alternately with the liquid, mixing well. Among the flavorings that may be used with the above basic recipe are:

Chocolate—Using milk for the liquid and toward the end add 4 squares of melted chocolate.

Spices—Sift the following spices with the sugar: ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon nutmeg. Use milk for the liquid.

Orange—Use 1 tablespoon lemon juice and the rest orange juice for the liquid.

Lemon—Use 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 2 tablespoons water for the liquid.

If you want a particularly delicious cake try using two frostings instead of one. Bake a plain white or yellow cake and spread caramel frosting between the two layers and on top. Then spread chocolate frosting over the caramel top and on the sides of the cake.

To make caramel frosting boil 1½ cups granulated sugar, ½ cup light brown sugar and ¾ cup evaporated milk until just below the soft ball fudge test. Add 1 tablespoon butter and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Cool, then beat until stiff. Add enough evaporated milk to spread. Chocolate frosting is made in the following way: Break off 2 squares of chocolate and melt over hot water. Stir in ½ pound confectioners' sugar (about 2 cups) alternately with enough evaporated milk to moisten. Beat until creamy and smooth and add ¼ teaspoon vanilla.

Lemon Custard Filling

Put ½ pound butter, ½ pound sugar and the yolks of 4 eggs in a double boiler. Stir until thick and smooth, take from the fire and add the juice of two lemons and the grated rind of one. Stand aside until cool.

White Frosting

Boil together 2 cups of sugar, 6 tablespoons hot water and 1 teaspoon vinegar until the mixture threads. Then pour gradually over the stiffly beaten whites of 2 eggs. Flavor as you like and beat until cool.

Lady Baltimore Filling

This filling should be used with a fine white cake. Put 1½ cups sugar, 2 egg whites and ½ cup water in cook over boiling water. Beat with Dover beater 7 minutes or until frosting is thick. Remove from hot water. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla. Continue beating until cool. To this add ½ cup chopped raisins, ½ cup chopped walnuts, ¼ cup chopped steamed figs, ½ cup chopped, drained maraschino cherries. Blend well. Spread between cake layers. If you wish to frost the top with plain frosting use only ½ cup of the boiled icing first prepared, reserving balance for frosting top and sides.

Boiled Frostings

A good basic recipe for boiled frosting is as follows:

2½ cups sugar.
½ cup light corn syrup.
½ cup water.
¼ teaspoon salt.
2 egg whites.
1½ teaspoons vanilla.

Put the sugar, salt, water and corn syrup together in a sauce pan and stir over a gentle heat until the sugar is dissolved. Then cover the sauce pan and let the syrup boil vigorously for 2 minutes until the sugar granules are all melted from the sides of the pan. Then boil until the syrup gives a soft-ball test in cold water. As soon as this occurs remove pan from the heat and quickly beat the egg whites in a bowl until they will form peaks.

Then slowly pour about 1-3 of the syrup over the beaten egg whites, beating constantly as the stream of syrup is added. Continue beating for about one minute or until the mixture is smooth. Cook the rest of the syrup until it gives the firm-ball test in cold water. Remove from fire and when it has ceased to bubble, pour slowly over the egg white mixture, beating as before. Continue beating until the mixture will hold its shape enough to spread on cake. Add the flavoring last.

Chicken and Bacon

Cook finest white corn meal and put into a small bread pan; let it stand until firm. When ready to use, cut into slices a quarter of an inch thick and fry in butter. Have chicken boiled and cold; cut breasts of chicken into strips about one inch wide and three inches long; sprinkle with a little flour, salt and pepper; saute quickly in hot butter. Have bacon all cooked, cut in pieces same length of chicken. Arrange slices of corn meal around platter; place chicken and bacon equally on top of slices; make a sauce from a little chicken broth and cream, thicken a little with cornstarch. Or make a sauce of butter melted in the pan the chicken has been cooked in and pour over chicken.

Mother's Cook Book

EVERYDAY MEALS

Is corn meal being used enough in our family menus? We need more coarse foods and there are so many appetizing dishes prepared from corn meal which the whole family may enjoy.

Aristocratic Johnny Cake

Soften two tablespoonfuls of butter, add the beaten yolks of four eggs, one pint of milk and one cupful each of flour and corn meal, one-half teaspoonful of salt, four teaspoonfuls of sugar. Mix well and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Bake forty minutes in a moderate oven. Serve hot. Half of this recipe will be sufficient for a small family.

Corn Meal Muffins

Pour one-half cupful of boiling water over one-half cupful of corn meal, add two tablespoonfuls of butter, then cover and let stand one hour. Sift two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and one-half cupful of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt; add to the corn meal mixture with one egg beaten light and one-half cupful of milk; mix well and bake in well buttered gem pans about twenty minutes.

Spoon Bread

Take one cupful each of corn meal, cooked rice and boiling water, scald the meal with the water and cover tightly for a half hour. Add two cupfuls of sweet milk, two beaten eggs, one teaspoonful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt. Bake in a serving dish which may be placed on the table.

Date Corn Meal Pudding

Scald a pint of milk and pour it over one-half cupful of meal, add one tablespoonful of butter, one cupful of chopped dates and two eggs. Turn into a baking dish and bake until of the consistency of custard. Serve with hard sauce.

Prayer

But maybe a prayer is a road to rise,
A mountain path leading toward the skies
To assist the spirit who truly tries.
But it isn't the shibboleth, creed or code,
It isn't a pack horse to carry your load;
It isn't a wagon, it's only a road,
And perhaps the reward of the spirit who tries

GLEANINGS

"It seems to me that man have not begun to discover the magnificence of their life. . . . To breathe the perfumed air of a garden! To feel one's strong body in the sun! To feel thought flashing on the mind and emotion like a glowing fire in the soul! . . . There is splendor here if one can find it. Out there is the night, crowded with beauty! And we herd inside, feverish with little games. Why?" From "Death Takes a Holiday," by Walter Ferris.

"This subject brings me to the ... the odious militia. The man who enjoys marching in line and file to the strains of music falls below my contempt; he received his great brain by mistake—the spinal cord would have been amply sufficient." —Albert Einstein, in "Living Philosophies."

"The worst slums in the world are in the United States." Prof. J. A. Leighton, head of the Philosophy Dept., O. S. U.

"The Russian Revolution is the outstanding thing of the 20th century!" Prof. M. Gordon Hayes.

By J. N. WOLFE

EASTER PARADE

We're sorta hoping for rain, sleet, snow, ice, and cold Sunday morning. Not that we're particularly fond of such weather — especially after a long, hard winter.

But we believe it will be for the good of regular church goers. It must be more or less disconcerting to the regular occupant of a church pew, to find, upon his arrival on Easter Sunday morning, the surrounding pews, so often empty, filled with a galaxy of finery. He must say to himself, along with the pastor: "The clothes, indeed are fine, but the spirit is weak."

So, if the weather is adverse, you probably find the regulars in their respective places. On the other hand, the number of the front rank participants in the annual Easter Parade will be diminished. There will be, of course, a few bold hearts, who fearful that neighbor Smith's wife will venture forth, will see to it that they get there too.

We're just a bit doubtful, in a rather pleasant way, about the quality of the spiritual response to the Easter call. We suspect that the number of parades could be increased proportionately with the increased size of wardrobes. The quality of the parades, however, is probably conversely proportionate.

MIDDLE MONIKERS

Marie Kent's middle name is Marie, but it's first now after dropping the Alma. . . . Likewise Aileen Lanthorne, whose foist name is Amanda. . . . Woody Link uses the middle moniker first, replacing Louis. . . . Madge Markins has no middle handle. . . . Where's Elmer? — Kenneth Elmer Metting. . . . The Pinsenschaum twins are Grace Mae and Jesse Muriel. . . . It's Afton Price, Afton Elmore Price. . . . And George Raymond Owen. . . . Judge Randall's dotter Mary, follows through with Evangeline. . . . Another dotter, Virginia, is Nell. . . . Mr. Roy Ruffing has also Murray on the birth certificate. And Vivian Burris, the Stroller satellite, runs May in between. . . . And Kenneth Edwin Clark. . . . And F. Crosier, the volcano detector, prefers Paul to Vincent. . . . Audrey Earl's Catherine is spelled with a C. . . . Bob Evans takes the middle Robert instead of the opening John. . . . Betty Finke [we-omitted these a week back] registers as Betty Amelia. . . . Emilie separates Ruth and Hessenaur. . . . There's a cute story that goes with Mary Baker's "W." . . . John Kimber Williams is none other than our boy Jack. . . . And if Mrs. Wolpert's son would drop the Phil, they'd call him Jake, short for Jacob.

Mrs. Hutchison, the preacher's spouse, says she's afraid to glance down this pillar when it comes to her home every week. . . . Anybody else, and we'd accuse of glitty conshunts. . . . Sfunny, a chap could be in too many things to get to go to that Rotary Lunch rotmer Monday. Allan Mathews, frinstance, who played football, worked on the Occident, Student Council, and W. and win the city russlin title, among other things, got left. . . . "By no means," Herb Deems declares, "did George Matson graduate. I merely said he passed." So Geo., yore on the spot. . . . Circulatin false rumors like that. . . . Nobody packs more color than George Stewart, whom they call "the little flower." His conversations are orations, and his dynamic descriptions are punctuated with such a galaxy of gyrations and gestures — presented in innocent profundity — that one has a desire to roll on the floor and shout hallelujia. . . .

David C. Myers, 72, Dies At Mt. Carmel

Funeral services for David C. Myers, aged 72, of 55 S. Eureka Ave., who succumbed Monday at Mt. Carmel hospital, were held Wednesday afternoon from the C. J. Kohn funeral home. Interment was in Green Lawn cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Clara Myers; two sons, Leslie and Donald; one daughter, Dorothy; two brothers, two sisters and one grandchild.

Cooking School To Be Conducted Here Apr. 18-20

Westgate Electric Company and Triangle Grocers to Sponsor Demonstrations At Ritz.

Announcement is being made today of a Hilltop Homemakers school to be held at the Ritz Theatre, Sullivant avenue at Richardson, on April 18, 19 and 20, under the sponsorship of the Westgate Electric Shop and the Triangle Grocers.

Miss Edna I. Sparkman, director of Refrigeration Home Economics of the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co., will direct the school's activities. Miss Sparkman is widely known through her work on women's magazines, and as a radio lecturer, along with her experience in the field of electric refrigeration and electric cookery.

Miss Sparkman will demonstrate the various uses to which the electric refrigerator can be put. Along with the demonstration of the refrigerator, the home economist will actually prepare many new and easily made desserts which really have a fine texture and show how to serve them. Eligibility lists, checked by church and recreation department authorities, will be published in the Record as soon as they are released.

Local Man Hurt In Train Crash

Dennie Redding, 588 S. Oakley Ave., Narrowly Escapes Death When Flyer Hits Truck.

Dennie E. Redding, aged 37, of 588 S. Oakley Ave., was expected to recover from severe head injuries sustained Monday night when the truck he was driving was struck by a southbound Pennsylvania railroad flyer at the Westerville avenue crossing, inside the city limits.

Redding, who suffered mostly from shock, was thrown against the windshield of the cab, sustaining cuts and bruises about the head. He was knocked unconscious by the impact.

The train struck the front portion of the trailer of the truck, owned by the Kroger Grocery and Baking Co. Witnesses said that Engineer E. B. George, 263 Richards Ave., sounded the whistle before reaching the crossing.

Junior High Play Makes Big Hit Tuesday Eve. At West Auditorium

One of the finest dramatic efforts ever done at West High school by any group, was turned out Tuesday evening by the graduating class of West Junior High under the direction of Miss Velma Moss.

"The Goose Hangs High," a three-act play, was done to perfection, and before flowers are thrown to the players, due praise must be extended to the director and Miss Ola Trump, who had charge of the music. Their work, which must have been long and tedious, was amply rewarded by excellent work on the part of the players.

No individual in the cast was outstanding over a fellow player, but splendid acting on the part of Frederick Lalid, Alice Stroup, Ralph Harper and Mary Jane Francis, in the heavier roles, must be mentioned. Ralph Deems, in a comedy party, kept the audience in constant good humor.

Billy Allen, Betty Jordan, Virginia Bean, Jack Simmons, Roger Chrisman, Dorothy Donehower, Jane Timmons, Robert Richter and Billy Epperson, along with Curtis Koons, whose short appearance proved to be an admirable piece of work, all turned in brilliant accounts of their respective parts.

All in all, few plays, if any, have ever excelled the performance by the 9A seniors at the local school.

Cold Weather Hurts Cowboys

Baseballers Kept Inside When Weather Continues Unfavorable to Outside Workouts.

If out-of-door workouts are not forthcoming in the very near future, West High's 1934 baseball team will be greener — even than anticipated — and will probably fail to burst into bloom at all as a good runner in the annual city scramble for the coveted championship hunting.

Cold weather again kept the diamond aspirants confined during the past week, and Coach Harold Wise is having problems become more difficult as the days pass.

With favorable weather in which to get in rehearsals, some of the more or less emerald hued material might be developed into something or other. But with chilly breezes prevailing, even a potential Walter Johnson or Ty Cobb must remain a diamond in the rough — unrecognized.

Weather favorable, the Cowboys will hit the mud in sliding practice for the first time Monday. A day or so later, Coach Claude Chrisman will put his truck candidates through their paces, preparatory for the opening meet with Upper Arlington Apr. 7.

Local Physician to Start 42nd Year of Practice On Hilltop

Since first establishing his office here, Dr. Whitehead has moved four times, making the final change to his present office in 1915. His first office was located at 2328 W. Broad St., the present Hutt residence.

Easter Dawn Service

There will be an Easter dawn service at Hillcrest Baptist church Sunday morning beginning at 5:30 a. m. An unusual program has been arranged for this service hour. And special music will be rendered by the vested junior choir of the church. The public has a cordial invitation to this service. The men of the church will serve a free breakfast in the church basement at the close of the service. All in attendance will be welcome to share this breakfast.

AUTO AIR CONDITIONED

It is now possible to have your automobile cool in summer and warm in winter, with fresh, filtered air to breathe all the year round. This air-conditioning can be applied to all closed cars, new or old, and it is expected that it will be standard equipment in the future, even for low-priced cars.

SPRINGTIME DELICACIES TO CROWN THE EASTER FEAST

If you are one of those who observe the Lenten period of "fast and abstinence" you're probably glad that you no longer have to rack your brains to find meat substitutes, or maybe you haven't followed Lenten rigors at all.

In any case you are certain to welcome the many delicious new vegetables and fruits that are daily making their appearance in the markets, and eager to take advantage of the "Easter Specials" featured at this time.

In planning your Easter dinner you'll probably choose one of the two meats that tradition associates with this day—a succulent whole baked or baked ham or a tender, juicy leg of lamb. Upon your choice depends the selection of the balance of your meal, of course. Here is a menu that features baked ham as its high note.

Chilled Tomato Juice
Green Onions and Radishes
Whole Baked Ham Riced Potatoes
Sweet Potato Surprise
Baked Spinach Pear Salad
Finger Rolls Apricot Fluff
Coffee

Baked Ham

1 ham.
¾ cup granulated sugar.
1 teaspoon prepared mustard.
1 tablespoon vinegar.
Few tablespoons water.
1 dozen whole cloves.
Bread crumbs.

Soak ham overnight in water. Pour this water off. Cover ham with cold water and bring slowly to the boiling point. Simmer until ham is tender. Allow to cool in the liquid in which it was cooked. Remove excess fat and tough skin. Make a syrup of sugar, mustard, vinegar and small amount of water.

Stick cloves in ham and score into squares with a sharp knife. Pour sauce over the ham and cover sides with bread crumbs. Bake, basting with the syrup until delicately brown in a hot oven.

Sweet Potato Surprise

2 cups riced sweet potatoes.
1 egg, beaten.
Dash of pepper.
8 marshmallows.
½ teaspoon salt.
½ cup crushed cornflakes.

Boil and peel potatoes, put through ricer. When partly cool add egg, salt and pepper. If the mixture is too dry add a little milk. Flour hands if necessary. Form 8 round balls with marshmallows hidden inside. Roll in corn flakes. Fry in hot fat until brown. Drain on soft paper.

Baked Spinach

Boil and chop spinach rather fine. Season to taste. To 2 cups of this (about 1½ pounds of uncooked spinach) add 2 well-beaten eggs and white sauce made from ¼ cup butter. One-fourth cup milk and 1 tablespoon flour. Place in a baking dish and cover. Place the pan in a dish of hot water and bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes.

Pear Salad

For each individual salad take ½ canned or fresh peeled pear and rest in a bed of lettuce, with the center of the pear slice up. In the center place a ball of cream or cottage cheese mixed with finely chopped nuts and chopped maraschino cherry. Garnish with creamy mayonnaise and a dash of paprika.

Finger Rolls

6 to 6½ cups flour sifted.
2 cakes compressed yeast.
2 cups milk (scalded and cooled)
2 teaspoons salt.
⅓ cup shortening.
⅓ cup sugar.
2 eggs.

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm milk and stir well. Add sugar, beaten eggs, salt and half of the flour. Mix well and add the melted butter. Beat thoroughly. Add balance of the flour or enough to make a soft dough. Turn out on floured board, knead into a smooth dough. Place in a well-greased bowl. Cover, and let rise to double bulk. Knead down and let rise 45 minutes. Merit yeast may be added to hasten the process. Pinch off pieces of dough about the size of small egg. Roll each piece between palms of hands until round. Then roll with hand on board until 2½ inches long. Place 1 inch apart on well-greased pan. Brush with melted butter and let rise until double in bulk. Bake 20 to 25 minutes in moderate oven. When done brush tops with milk or melted butter.

Apricot Fluff

Make or buy a sponge cake and cut it into thin slices, enough to line a deep glass bowl, sides and bottom. Drain canned apricots and chop them fine. Whip 2 cups of cream, sweeten and flavor with almond extract to taste. Beat the white of an egg stiff and add to the cream. Then fold in the apricots and pile the mixture into the cake-lined bowl. Decorate with sliced apricots. Chill for an hour in the refrigerator. Don't have the fruit too juicy.

If You Are Having Roast Lamb for Dinner

Lamb with its bland and delicate flavor is delicious at any time but never more appreciated than in the early spring. It seems, somehow to fit in so perfectly with the other foods that are just coming into season. Here is a menu with roast leg of lamb as the central dish.

Sea Food Cocktail
Ripe Olives Pearl Onions
Roast Leg of Lamb
Mint Sauce
Mashed Potatoes Fresh Green Peas
Celery in Cream
Head Lettuce with French Dressing
Clover Leaf Rolls
Individual Strawberry Shortcake
Coffee

Lamb Roast

Wipe roast with damp cloth and make about 8 cuts with a sharp knife in the surface of the roast. Insert slender pieces of garlic in each cut. Rub the surface of the roast with combined salt, pepper and flour. Sear roast in a hot oven then reduce to moderate oven and bake for about 2 hours. Baste frequently. When tender remove from oven and lift out what remains of the garlic segments. Make gravy from pan drippings.

Mint Sauce

Chop fresh mint very fine and cover with hot vinegar and water with a dash of salt added.

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

GREEN LAWN

The quiet solitude of the place enfolds one in the sudden realization that the great and small alike are on equal terms here. And in the dominance of such meditation, the large rocks and the small markers are no more than stone—neither large nor small—just stone.

Buried in these little mounds lies faith that was a tower and adversity that was a mountain, melted, like the ice on yonder pond with the advent of the new resurrection. Important things—Money, Business, Glory, Possessions, Conquest,—they have not and are not proving their importance.

Winds blow softly, warm sunlight shines on tender shoots and buds; green things growing; birds sing—all a part of the symphony that is nature. Down deep,—pillowed in the fresh earth—lie those whose songs are ended. They did not greatly vary the theme of life—not much more than they do now. And now they are silent and do nothing.

"The long train of ages glides away." A million years, and these shall have returned to dust. And over in a hawthorne bush, the thrush will sing full throated, rich melody.

Other graveyards will be piled on this one. Yet the theme of all will still ring out. Just the expression will change.

And speaking of the middle monikers, so many were surprised last week. But eye hath not seen nor ear heard of the revelations to come. . . . Watch ye therefore, and be of good cheer, for our data is abundant and accurate. . . . Paul O'Brien, the silent one, claims this scribbler is no longer packing a wallop. The stuff is gone. The old engine has lost its break. . . . Haint that like an Irishman? . . . And one of my favorite stooges rpts. that that awful Bacsman boy (Roody of course) is held in ill repute by a certain lass because he won't take her to a show or sumpin. . . . Joseph Llewellyn Truman, the train conductor was up till past the hour of three tothe morning—figgering out how many times the hour and minute hands of the clock were together in 12 hours. . . . He also burns much midnight wattage during the baseball season keeping track of baseball averages, for all the ball players in the major leagues. . . . And he plays a purty fair game of seven up (Iotsa you winnuin don't know what that is). . . . Bill Schmidt got a double and triple in his first game with Ohio university last Sat. . . . And Woody Wills ketched both games.

Bill Bunner, of the "bug hunting fraternity" is practice teaching in Mary Baker's Biology class at West High. . . . Add most pleasing personalities: Ruth Raggsdale, Indianapolis, who's planning with F. Howard, and in town ovah the wk. end with the "butchah lad." . . . A right pert lass too, Rev. MacGann's lady to be from Vuhginiah, also hyar Sunday. . . . N. W. Kent, whom I missed at S. S. Sunday, was in Peoria, Ill., at the A. B. C. . . . And the subject brings me to R. M. Tag Draper's crack about this pillar being fearful of mentioning Powee Knoxes suicide and uncalled for observation: "The baseball season is almost here. He was at S. S. Sunday." . . . My dear fellow, read ye: "Judge not that ye be not judged." Also "All liahs have their place in a lake that burneth with fish and brimstone." . . . Selah.

Whoops! O. H. Craft lamped at his typewriter without his hat on. . . . And so, Sylvia Walker never reads the Record. Says the dog gets it first. Smart canine, too. . . . Conquest No. 2: Prof. Shetrone defeated in bridge game Fri. Just one more victim to make this scribbler happy, but it's more difficult to get Mrs. Harold Wise in a game than to administer the defeat. . . . Stooge rpts. have it that Ed. L. removes his shoes on a date, to protect the Blue Jays (not an adv.). . . . They tell me that nobuddy knows Otto H Mogle's middle moniker—and that nobuddy can find it out. It will appear hyar in the next series. . . .

Hilltop Church Loop to Organize Monday Evening

Meeting of Managers Called For 8 o'Clock At Glenwood Shelter House.

Managers of at least a dozen church recreation ball teams are expected to attend the organization meeting of the Hilltop Church loop Monday evening, Apr. 9, at the Glenwood shelter house. The meeting, scheduled by officials of the recreation department, will be in charge of Frank Colburn, 330 S. Burgess Ave., president of the circuit.

It was announced also this week that St. Paul Congregational church would have a team in the league, and according to information, two leagues may be operated in the community, playing on different nights.

Managers of the following squads, members of the loop last year, will in all probability be present at Tuesday's organization meeting: Hoge Memorial Presbyterian, Warren Ave. Nazarene, Burgess Ave. U. B., Glenwood Tri Mu, Westgate Evangelical, St. John Lutheran, Glenwood M. E., Hilltop C. of C. and Hillcrest Baptist.

Representatives of other Hilltop churches, whether their church was represented in the league last year or not, should be at the meeting if they anticipate entering this spring.

Work on the diamonds at Westgate Park, where play will again be held this year, got under way this week. Information from the recreation department indicates that the three diamonds constructed last year will be reconditioned, especially in the outfields. Another new diamond will also be ready for play when the season opens.

The fifth diamond facing Wicklow road will be available to the loop until the opening of the playground season, at which time one game each week will probably be shifted to the State Hospital diamonds.

Cowboys to Meet Central Pirates

Locals Start Rehearsals Monday With Over 100 Candidates Reporting; Juniors Busy.

Ideal baseball weather greeted Cowboy candidates at West High school on Monday of this week and Coach Harold Wise took quick advantage of the situation to send more than 100 through rigorous preliminaries which brought consequent stiff muscles and aching bodies Tuesday.

Less than two weeks remain before the opening battle of the season against the Central Pirates. The inaugural is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, Apr. 18, and barring too much inclement weather, the locals will be in shape for the opening of the campaign.

The Junior High squad will open against Franklin at a diamond yet to be determined. None of the games have been definitely scheduled as to place as yet. The announcement is expected to be forthcoming next week.

Composing the league in which West Jr. is an entry are: Champion, Starling, Franklin, Pilgrim and McKinley.

Hillcrest Baptist Church To Observe 16th Anniversary Apr. 8

The Hillcrest Baptist church, corner Eldon avenue and Broad street, will begin its sixteenth year on the Hilltop with appropriate services Sunday morning, Apr. 8, at the regular morning worship.

The church, established in the spring of 1918 by the First Baptist church, was originally housed in a small chapel at Eldon and Steele avenues. The First Baptist church, of which Dr. Upolan was pastor, appointed W. E. Knox and Henry Ballard to serve, along with its pastor, as a committee to choose and purchase a site for establishing the new church.

The site at Eldon and Steele avenues was selected and a small chapel, with a seating capacity of 150, was erected. The building was dedicated Apr. 7, 1918 and three weeks later the full organization was completed, a membership of 69 being recorded.

Rev. Arthur E. Cowley was the first pastor and W. E. Knox, for 10 years director of music at the First Baptist church, resigned his position to assume similar duties at Hillcrest.

In 1922, a year after an addition had been built to the original chapel, Rev. E. E. McFarlane was called to succeed Rev. Cowley. Under his leadership the church continued to grow and it was necessary to move to larger quarters. Accordingly the present building at Eldon and Broad was purchased and dedicated Apr. 6, 1924.

Rev. John H. Hughes was the third pastor, assuming his duties in 1927 and being succeeded by Rev. William Pieffer in 1929. The latter resigned in May, 1933 and the present pastor, Rev. S. Talmage MaGann took charge of the work Nov. 12, 1933.

Continued growth has been evident under Rev. MaGann's leadership, 20 new members being taken last Easter Sunday, Apr. 1.

All former members, as well as present members and friends of the congregation are invited to attend the 16th anniversary services Sunday which get under way at 10:45 o'clock. W. E. Knox will have charge of the special music of the occasion and Rev. MaGann's sermon topic will be: "What Baptists Stand for and Believe."

There is a possibility Everingham and Kimbrel will fill the other infield positions. The pitching staff suffered the greatest loss on the team in Snyder who won 12 games and lost but one last season. He is regarded as the best pitcher ever developed in Junior High baseball in Columbus.

Three great prospects reported for the mound position and with further experience should make good showings. The trio includes: Emery, Holker and Howison.

Legion Supper Dance April 14

Camp Chase Post No. 98 to Observe Fifth Anniversary With Elaborate Party at Elks.

Celebrating the fifth anniversary of the founding of the post, Camp Chase Legionnaires and their friends will be guests at a supper dance to be given in the grand ballroom of the Elks' club on Saturday evening, Apr. 14.

In keeping with the growth of the post which is now the fifth largest in Ohio, the yearly celebration has grown to such proportions that the largest ballroom in the city is necessary to accomodate those desiring to attend. Although the party is scheduled for the middle of April, the original 500 reservations have been taken, and the committee is now faced with the problem of providing for nearly two hundred more guests who wish to attend.

Two bands will be provided for the occasion, Biff Weigel and his 12-piece concert band, and Bambusch's orchestra, which has been playing for the West Gate Masonic dances throughout the winter season. Johnny Hardgrove, seasoned dance master, will stage an elaborate floor show, and act as master of ceremonies. The J. W. Thompson decorating Co. has the contract for transforming the ballroom into a page out of fairyland, and many bizzare and interesting lighting effects are promised. A midnight supper will be served.

All tables are reserved, and several of these have been taken by various groups of Hilltop business men, who have been given a special invitation to attend this leading social event of the year for Camp Chase Post.

EASTER

"Fear not, He is not here; for He is risen" announced the angel to the women on that first Easter morning.

For nineteen hundred years, unnumbered millions of believing people have repeated the angel's words, Fear not for He is risen. Sometimes we become pessimistic, when we hear of wars and rumors of wars, of dictators and anarchy among governments, of strange religions, and stranger indifference to all religious; but a day like last Sunday sweeps all our doubts away.

Easter Sunday commemorates the most sublime event in the world's history. Sometimes we hear people say the church is failing and the people are losing faith but when we read that on Easter morning millions of people in every part of the civilized world gather in their churches to hear the story that He is risen, we know that it is not true. The most precious truth known to mankind is that Christ triumphed over death.

And what a beautiful Easter Columbus had! The sun was shining bright, winter had yielded to balmy spring, churches were filled with flowers and thousands of people crowded into all the churches to hear the old, old story and to sing the resurrection songs. Trouble, worry and depression were forgotten and all hearts were lifted up as we heard the angel's words: Fear not for He is risen.

Why can we not have the great multitude of people in our churches every Sunday? The world needs that peace that passeth understanding and the hope that the story of Jesus always gives.

THE SCHOOLS OF OHIO

It is a commonplace statement to say that the free public school system is America's most typical public institution. Other countries have their educational systems, some of which produce excellent results. But nowhere is the plan of education as universal and as democratic as in this country. At the school house door all distinction of wealth, race, sect or social standing disappears. The story is told that a Japanese Prince placed his son in a New England school, and in a few days the father called on the principal of the school and requested that the other pupils should not show too much deference to the Prince. The principal assured the father that he need have no uneasiness on that score, as the boys had already nicknamed him "Nig," and that he had gotten rather the worst of two or three fights.

The school room is the one place where all are equal in opportunity, and the school is the one hope of preserving democracy. New England claims the honor of creating the public school system of America. But Ohio has followed close in her footsteps. The famous Ordinance of 1787 declared that schools and the means of education should be forever encouraged, and every constitution has guaranteed free school education to all the youth of the state.

But today, the schools are in greater danger than they have ever been. The depression, of course, has paralyzed the sources of the school revenues. Millions of dollars of taxes cannot be collected and the loss has fallen mainly on the schools. The Legislature has played for months with the problem of raising money to maintain the schools and at this writing they have done nothing. The Legislature's appreciation of the schools may be judged by the fact that they have made the minimum salary of a teacher $800, and the salary of a barkeeper—Ohio is in the saloon business now—$1100.

Probably half of the teachers in the state would not have received even this amount this year, if the School Boards had not been allowed to borrow against next year's revenue. But the trouble lies deeper than the financial phase. The state is rich, and it is absurd to say it cannot educate its children. This county spends over fifty thousand dollars a year on the election board, nine-tenths of which is pure waste; millions are wasted on the highways, a new state police has been established that spent three months trying to catch a crazy man and failed. The trouble is, there is an indifference to education, and an unwillingness to support the schools. Private schools have increased rapidly in recent years, and there is a strong tendency among wealthy people to send their children to these schools, and a corresponding unwillingness to support the public schools—notice the bitter opposition of Chambers of Commerce and similar organizations to income and inheritance taxes, and taxes on intangibles to support the schools.

The determined effort to divert part of the educational fund, small as it is, to the denominational schools is a new menace to the public schools. While the Constitution forbids such use of public money, it is hoped to get around that by calling these schools by a different name. "What is the constitution among friends!"

Thoughtful people are so aroused over the school situation that a conference of national leaders has been called to meet in this city this week. Some of the most prominent people of America will take part in this conference, among others: Mrs. Roosevelt, Gov. McNutt of Indiana, Pres. Glen Frank of the University of Wisconsin, Prof. Judd of Chicago and other leading educators. It is the purpose of the meeting to arouse the people to appreciate the danger to our schools, and when the people understand the problem, their patriotism and intelligence will furnish a solution.

The Nature Trail

GREEN PLANTS IN WINTER

We have written often of the mosses and lichens and liverworts and ferns contacted by the rambler in winter trips afield. But there are a host of more familiar plants—many times unknown or unobserved in seasons other than spring—which are all the more conspicuous in this season, when the woodland floor is brown with decaying leaves and the landscape is drab except for a few flourishes of evergreen now and then.

Last week we roamed at will through an oak-hickory woodland in Hocking county, now in the stage of being gradually succeeded by beech forest. Here, under the spreading limbs of the latter tree, we found the interesting parasite, Beech-drops. This plant, which gets its nourishment through attachment to the roots of the Beech tree, is found only where such trees exist, for it is parasitic on no other plant.

Wintergreen

Nearby, on an exposed rock, intermingled and inter twined with the Fern Moss, the creeping, vine-like Partridge berry was found, it's red berries producing a striking effect against the background of fresh green. Another evergreen, which may be distinguished from the Partridge berry by the greater roundness of its leaves, is the Wintergreen. Although its leaves are not so brightly hued as those of the Partridge berry, being tough and somewhat faded, they retain their characteristic flavour and cannot be mistaken for the former. Both plants bear their delicate, pink flowers in early May.

Trailing Arbutus

Higher on the rocky slope, in the open woods, we found a flat mat of dry-appearing, rough, hairy leaves—Trailing Arbutus. Here is the first harbinger of spring, for often, before the last snow has melted from the woodland crannies, this, most fragrant of Ohio's native wild flowers, sends its spicey fragrance into the air. Often, before the rambler is aware, it has bloomed, and shed its flower, before most of the spring flora has made its appearance.

It grows, usually, in rocky habitats, where the soil is thin and of an acid nature, often in the shade of pine trees. It is abundant in the Sugar Grove region, and its pale lavendar flowers appear in the axils of the leaves in clusters. The leaves are alternate.

Skunk Cabbage

Although not an evergreen, the skunk cabbage often precedes the Trailing Arbutus in appearance, its peculiar flower preceding the leaves. The writer has found the plant in bloom in late January, although it is generally late February before it flowers.

In swampy places, barely emerging from the ground, enveloped by a spathe, the plant grows in abundance. The spathe is spotted and striped with purple and yellowish green, while the spadix, enclosed within, is globular and yellow. Later in the summer, huge leaves appear, often measuring more than a foot in width and more than two feet in length.

The plant is perennial; and if the tissue is broken, a strong odor, much like that of the skunk, is noted. Of interest, perhaps, is the fact that the Calla Lily is a member of the skunk cabbage family.

Hepatica

Occasionally, in early winter, on some moister slope, small clumps of liver-shaped leaves may be observed. This is the Hepatica, another plant, the flowers of which appear in early spring, not long after those of the two mentioned previously. The leaves, however, die before spring comes back, and the blue, lavendar or white flowers are borne on densely hairy stems. The new leaves which appear later, are liver-shaped, from which the plant gets its erroneous name of "liverwort." In times of yore, it was thought that the leaves and roots of this plant would cure all sorts of liver ailments. As far as the writer knows, the plant has no actual medicinal values. It doubtless has "cured" many troubles, however.

One could fill much more space with the names of evergreen plants common in the woods and field through the winter, but enough have been mentioned to indicate that all life is not dead with the coming of the first frost.

The Box Elder

These plants, the winter through, carry on the processes commonly known to plant life, and through photosynthetic action, "manufacture" food which is used to some extent, but largely stored.

Perhaps one of the most interesting cases of food storage through the winter months is noted in the Box Elder. This tree, which may be identified by the green twigs, grows along river banks, and in the summer, receives much shade. Through the winter, however, photosynthesis is carried on in the green twigs, the resulting starch stored, and growth results from this supply in the summer, when the subdued light prevents the sufficient production of plant food.

It must be made plain, however, that this winter "manufacture" of food is carried on not BECAUSE of the summer shade—or SO THAT the tree can live through the summer. It is merely stated that the tree can live in such habitats because is has a sufficient supply of food to last it through the period when its sun-light requirement is not met due to over-abundance of shade. There is little evidence to show that this form has been purposely favored to occupy such a habitat by some all seeing eye. There is sufficient evidence, however, to conclude that this tree occupies its habitat because of its structure—which is a product of many million years of development.

SPECIAL TAX FOR FOREST LANDS

In Wisconsin tax-delinquent lands revert to the counties in which they are located. "As there are two and a half million acres now owned by the counties and seven and a half million which will eventually become county lands, a system of special taxes for forest land has been devised. The owner of forest land registers the area and enters into a fifty-year contract with the state. Then instead of paying the usual property tax he pays annually ten cents an acre to the town and the state pays an equal amount. Tax-delinquent lands are also under zoning regulations. Restricted uses include forestry and recreation, and occupancy is limited. Unrestricted uses include "operating farms and other activities."

A surgeon noted for his success in mastoid operations prays before every operation he performs. There are many physicians who follow his example in asking for God's guidance.

The poor fish can never weep, no matter how badly he may feel, for the simple reason that he has no tears. Frogs, toads, and other amphibians are more fortunate in this respect.

According to information, the headquarters will be open between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. each day of the drive. In Ohio, incomplete tabulations indicate that almost 11,000 disaster sufferers were aided; over 61,000 home service cases were handled; almost 25,000 home visits were made by nurses and 9000 school children inspected.

At the present time, 22,220 are enrolled in the life saving corps, with almost 3000 completing the First Aid course. The home hygiene course was completed by 1500.

The exhibit will include handwork of original design, drawings, paintings, sculpture, wood carving, weaving, fine needlework, quilts, rugs of original design, metal work, fine cabinet work, pottery, glass, small models, book making, and stage designs which have been made since 1930.

Hilltop Business Men's Chorus Prepares For Defense of Title

The Hilltop Business Men's Association Male Chorus, composed of approximately 60 voices under the direction of W. Haydn Jones, go into the last week of rehearsals today preparatory to entering the annual Jackson, O., Eisteddfod next Friday night, Apr. 20, in defense of the champion-ship won by the group last year.

Since the close of the annual minstrel show, the organization has been working hard toward perfecting the two competitive numbers which will be presented next Friday night. Every effort is being made by the local group to retain the laurels won last year.

According to information available, choruses from Lima, Marion, Jackson, and several other localities will compete for the title now held by the local organization.

The Ohio State University Glee club, although a competitor last year, will not be represented next week. The Lima chorus, which has been twice victorious over the Hilltop entry in other contests, will prove the greatest obstacle to the business men effort to retain number one standing. The Lima group was defeated last year, however.

The chorus of 60 voices will make the trip via bus and private motor car. Reservations on the bus are still available and may be made by calling the secretary, C. H. Campbell. The Hilltop is expected to have a large representation in the audience, and with the size of the chorus almost half again as large as last year, hope for the retention of the chorus championship is burning high.

The trip to Jackson will get under way at 4 o'clock next Friday.

Officers Named At Hoge Memorial

At the annual congregational meeting of the Hoge Memorial church Monday evening, Apr. 9, the following officers were named: Elders, W. H. Next year's budget has been raised fifty dollars. Rev. H. C. Hutchison, pastor, is completing his eighth year at the church.

To Close Year

Sunday, Apr. 15, will mark the close of the conference year at the Wheatland Avenue M. E. church. A special feature of the program at 7:30 o'clock will be the singing of a group of Spirituals by the chorus of boys and girls under the direction of Mrs. Nora Doss Roberts. The public is invited to attend.

Hilltop's Premier Cooking School In Session Wednesday

Capacity Crowds Expected At Initial Meeting At Ritz; Prizes to Be Given.

The Hilltop's first Cooking School, sponsored by the Westgate Electric Shop and local Triagle Grocers, will get under way Wednesday afternoon, Apr. 18, at 2 o'clock, with Miss Edna L. Sparkman, noted writer and home economist, in charge. The event will be held at the Ritz Theatre, Sullivant avenue at Richardson avenue, and will continue through Friday, Apr. 20. The program will get under way each day at 2 o'clock and last through 4 o'clock.

Capacity crowds are anticipated by the sponsors, who are urging those who plan to attend to be on hand at an early hour. More than 50 prizes will be given away as well as several grand prizes at the final meeting. Tickets have been available at local Triangle grocery stores and the Westgate Electric Shop for the past week.

Daily prizes, according to the announcement, to be given on the tickets each day, include baskets of food, Westinghouse automatic irons, sets of dishes, furniture, flowers, and theatre passes.

Grand prizes are: Westinghouse Kitchen Treasure Chest, Westinghouse Automatic Toaster, Table Lamp and an electric kitchen clock.

Miss Sparkman, who prior to her affiliation with the Westinghouse company, was a prominent radio lecturer and magazine writer, has spent a great deal of time in the industrial and sales fields. It is her aim, she states, to bring the appeal as from woman to woman, not stressing the mechanical features or the engineering efficiencies of electric refrigeration.

Miss Sparkman is a graduate of the Practical Arts of Teachers College of Columbia, and following her graduation she was associated with the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Tribune Institute in New York, and later was on the staff of "Modern Priscilla" and "Delineator." She also has lectured for the Home Equipment Department of the Women's Radio Institute.

Spring Sports Season On Hilltop To Start Next Week

Cowboys to Inaugurate High School Baseball Season In Battle With Central.

With crack of ash against horsehide and third of fast flung ball into padded mitt, spring sports on the Hilltop flared again into the limelight this week, and with the coming of Wednesday, the annual races will get under way in earnest.

Wednesday afternoon, on the Central diamond, nine scarlet tossers representing the 1934 baseball machine—such as it is—will take the field against the Pirates of Central in a game that will mark the opening of the scholastic season.

One week later, the church league is expected to swing into action with no less than a dozen teams striving for the trophy now held by the Hillcrest Baptist aggregation.

Tomorrow afternoon, Coach Claude Chrisman's tracksters will meet East and Newark at the latter's stronghold in the annual triangular track meet between the three institutions.

Likewise, Coach George Williams' Jr. High baseballers will see action next week, although the first official game is not scheduled until Thursday or Friday, Apr. 26 or 27. Only two lettermen are back from last year's second place squad and their positions are by no means secure.

Cowboys Play Today

The baseball season will unofficially be inaugurated this afternoon at Lancaster, where the Cowboy squad will see its first action. Tomorrow, at 2:30 o'clock, on the West field, the team will tangle with the alumni.

According to indications from the West camp, either Redmond or Francis will do the catching, and the other, probably Redmond, will be in the game. The latter is well versed in the use of the stick, and will probably work out at the short field.

Other receivers include Morgan, Haughn and Davis, the latter, sophomores.

Have Six Throwers

The pitching staff is composed of half dozen throwers, who may or may not get by, depending largely on the manner in which the defense stacks up under fire. Miller and Smith, sophomores; Gentile and Boyer, juniors; and Beachler, Velt, Deem and Bubna, seniors, are candidates, along with Link, who may also see action on the mound.

At short-stop, Redmond will probably be replaced by Stewart in case the former is called to the catching post. In that case, Francis would be placed in the outfield to make use of his stick work.

Jerry Spears will be the first sacker, and his addition to the line-up makes no little difference in the potential strength of the 1934 unit. Brannigan is his understudy.

McCoy, Graschel at Second

At the keystone sack, McCoy and Graschel have the inside track, with Ballard and Snyder, weak hitters, on their heels. Coleman and Moyer will operate at the hot corner in Link's absence. The latter is an all-high selection of last year and will see action throughout the campaign, either on the mound or at third base.

Good hitters are striving for the outfield berths, with Howison and Everett especially effective. The last named hits from the wrong side of the platter, and rifles them out. Other candidates are: Ankrum, Shade, Bunt, Shinault and Ditrick.

Golfers in Victory

Last Saturday, on the Dublin course, West's golfers hung up their initial victory at the expense of Grandview, by a score of eight to four. Tony Demattio, number one for the Cowboys, scored one half point; Veto Fragnant, of hole-in-one fame, added two more; Snyder contributed three points and Rocky Mathews, two and a half. Others on the squad, in their order, are: Bowman, Stevens, Frost and Ferguson.

Through the courtesy of Al Murchi, pro at the Beacon Light golf course the local squad has been working out on that fairway.

Church League Organized

Monday evening, at the Glenwood shelter house, the Hilltop Church League was organized, 12 teams being granted franchises. Fees, payable immediately, will be the same as last year, namely 50 cents per game for each team, plus a 50 cent ground fee, which will amount to $12.00 for both seasons.

Representatives from the following teams indicated that they would have teams ready for the opening battles scheduled Apr. 30: Sullivant Avenue Friends, Hilltop C. of C., Hillcrest Baptist Reds, Hillcrest Baptist Blues, Hoge Memorial, Glenwood Tri Mu, Glenwood M. E., Westgate Evangelical, St. John Lutheran, Warren Avenue Nazarene, Burgess U. B. and St. Paul's Congregational.

Schedule

The following is a tentative junior high baseball schedule:

April 26 or 27—Franklin at West.
May 3 or 4—Pilgrim at East.
May 10 or 11—McKinley away.
May 17—Starling at West.
May 24—Champion at West.

Red Bird Ducats

Hilltoppers desiring to purchase box or reserved seats for the inaugural baseball game between the Columbus Red Birds and the Louisville Colonels at the Red Bird Stadium Tuesday afternoon, may obtain the ducats at the Todd Pharmacy, 2107 W. Broad, thru Apr. 14.

Tickets will be available at Todd's for all Sunday and holiday games through the Red Bird home baseball season.

Church League Squads Begin Rehearsals Preparatory to Opening of Season.

Improvement Held Up

Improvement of the diamonds at Westgate Park was held up this past week, after four days of work, when C. W. A. labor was discontinued. Efforts will be made to complete the project by Apr. 30, however.

With but five diamonds at Westgate Park, and six games to be scheduled each week, it will be necessary for the recreation department to furnish another diamond or split the league into two circuits. This was voted down by the managers Monday, who favored also, the split season, which would mean a total of 22 games for each team, necessitating two games weekly through a portion of the season.

Trackmen to Newark

Tomorrow afternoon at Newark, Coach Claude Chrisman's track squad will receive its acid test when Newark and East are met in a triangular meet. Tuesday afternoon of this week, Upper Arlington was met at Upper Arlington in a practice workout.

The following are expected to do the bulk of the Cowboy scoring, if any: Doherry and Caldwell, along with Millikin in the dashes; Zenker, Cresap and Lynn in the hurdles; Nichols, distance runner; Hoffman in the field events; and Rings in the high jump and pole vault.

Others who will make the trip are: Blackmore, Highland, Williams, Carter, Brown, Wood, Walker, Stevenson, and Green.

Junior Baseball

From almost 200 candidates, Coach George Williams at West Jr. has wielded the ax to all but 30. Several practice games will be scheduled and the opening league encounter is slated for Apr. 20 or 27 against Franklin at the West diamond.

According to the Junior High mentor, Frasure or Bradley will do the catching, with the latter also an understudy to Kuhn at first; pitchers will be selected from Johnson, Jackson, Albert and Graves. Palmer and Carter are battling for the keystone position while Larkins, Jones and Nelson are scrapping for the guardianship of the hot corner. At shortstop, Buckingham is being edged by Healy.

Outfield candidates include: Wallace, Bob Miller, Ingles, Underwood, and Welsert. Nelson will be utilized in the outfield if another gets the call at third base.

Independents to Meet

Five teams answered the call to independent teams last week and with prospects of three more entering an eight-team loop may begin operations the week of Apr. 30. The following squads were represented at last Friday's meeting: Painter's Market, Gearhardt Hardware, Penfield Market, Paley Drugs and Dobler's Market. Kent's Market and Broad-Hague Hardware have also indicated that they may have squads to enter, while Frank Holyeross, at 526 S. Wayne Ave., has a squad which is seeking a backer. Ward's Bakery may also enter, it was learned.

Another meeting will be held this evening at 7:30 at 2744½ Sullivant Ave. All backers and managers are urged to be present by George Hardy.

HOW SHALL WE BE TAXED?

The General Assembly has been trying for months to enact a permanent tax law. This is the most important duty of the Legislature and deserves our attention as well as theirs.

The state must raise from fifty to eighty million dollars per year depending on the amount of school money the state shall furnish. The amendment adopted at the last election to limit the tax on real estate to one per cent makes it necessary for the state to assume at least part of the expense of maintaining the schools. The following plans have been considered: A tax on intangibles, increased franchise taxes, inheritance tax, income tax, diversion of the fuel tax, and a sales tax. Of course it is easy to produce argument for or against any of these forms of taxation.

But there is one vital principle at stake, and when that principle is determined, the solution of the tax problem will be simple. Should the taxes be levied on all the people regardless of their ability to pay, or should taxes be levied with regard to ability to pay? The sales tax follows the first principle and the others the second. In other words all except the sales tax place the burden on the rich, while the sales tax puts the burden on the poor. A tax of three per cent on his food and clothing amounts to nothing to a man with a ten thousand dollar income, while to a laboring man it is a real hardship.

But the people with large incomes are organized and maintain lobbies of shrewd men who are able to bring all manner of influence to bear on the members of the legislature. Even the Administration is trying to force a sales tax on the state, although it has been twice rejected by the House.

But unfortunately the common people are not able to maintain lobbies at the State House, and have no influence except their votes. The writer believes a sales tax is the most burdensome form of taxation, and that no man should be sent to the legislature who supports such a tax.

Fergusonion Luck Synonomous With The Bad Variety

Some people have all the luck, and on the Hilltop it's the Fergusons—Mr. and Mrs. W. R., of 235 Guernsey Ave. But the Fergusonian variety of luck isn't in popular demand, for during the past 18 months, the breaks have been for the worse.

On Wednesday, Apr. 4, Bob Ferguson broke his right arm while roller skating in Crescent drive. Five days later, Bill, his brother, pulled the same stunt on the same street in the same fashion and the injured member was also his right arm.

A little over a year ago, a fire in the garage at the Ferguson home caused much damage. Two weeks later, Mrs. Ferguson was taken to the hospital for an operation, and then Bob sustained a 12-inch slash on his leg while coasting at the Glenwood Park.

Things moved along for a spell, then, in rather unusual style, an accident of greater dimensions than a spilled cup of coffee being recorded until Bill sustained a broken left arm while playing basketball at West Hills this past winter. About a month ago he was taken to a hospital to have the member operated upon, a piece of bone having lodged in the flesh. And now, each of the boys are carrying broken arms in slings.

According to all rules of scientific method, one can easily conclude that the Fergusons run "take it." Or, if you happen to be a Ferguson, ya gotta "take it." And they are doing that very thing, despite the fact that the law of averages apparently has been repealed, particularly as far as the tough luck is concerned. In the process known as "survival of the fittest" the Fergusons no doubt, will linger long. At least they're becoming hardened.

10 Church Squads To Face Barrier In Openers Apr. 30

Modified Pitching Rules Expected to Produce Close Race In Hilltop Circuit.

Ten Hilltop church recreation ball teams, representing nine local churches, will inaugurate the 1934 campaign one week from Monday on the re-constructed Westgate diamonds, in what promises to be a close and interesting race.

At a meeting of the representatives Monday evening at the Glenwood shelter house drawings for the opening battles were made and finds Hillcrest, champions of last year, pitted against Glenwood Tri Mu; Hoge Memorial, runners up, vs. Glenwood M. E.; Westgate vs. Warren Ave. Nazarene; Sullivant Ave. Friends, newcomers in the loop, vs. Burgess U. B.; and St. John Lutheran vs. Hilltop C. of C.

With the advent of the "live ball" and modification of pitching rules which will eliminate all semblance of effective hurling, all squads will be on an equal footing. Heavy scoring will predominate and some of the squads which raced high last year because of excellent pitching received, will be trampled under in the rush by teams whose punch is greater. All in all, the strong squads have been weakened and the weak aggregations strengthened by the new rules.

According to information available, umpires have been instructed to not only be exceedingly watchful in bringing the hurlers within the rules, but also have been ordered to begin the games within 15 minutes of the starting time, 6 o'clock, or forfeit the game.

Work on the local diamonds, discontinued last week, was again undertaken this week and indications are that all lots will be in excellent condition for the openers.

Baseball enthusiasm reached a high peak last fall in the memorable series between the Hillcrest Reds and Hoge Memorial Presbyterians when more than 1000 spectators watched the three games, and with a closer race in prospect, attendance is again expected to be high as the season gets under way one week from Monday.

Aged Resident, 81, Dies At Mt. Carmel

Funeral Services for Mrs. Catherine Seiller Held Thursday From C. J. Kohn Home.

Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Seiller, aged 81, who succumbed Tuesday morning at Mt. Carmel hospital, were held Thursday afternoon, Apr. 19, from the C. J. Kohn funeral home, Rev. H. E. Koch, pastor of the St. John Lutheran church, where she was a member, officiating. Interment was in Memorial Burial Park.

Mrs. Seiller lived with her husband, Andrew, at 111 S. Wayne Ave. She is also survived by four sons, Martin, 29 Eldon Ave., proprietor of the Seiller Dry Goods Store, 2401-06 W. Broad St.; Leonard, John and Phillip, all of Columbus.

She had been taken to Mt. Carmel hospital last Saturday, Apr. 14. Death was due to complications, it was reported. She had been a resident of the Hilltop for more than 30 years.

Two Hurt As Taxis Crash On Broad St.

When the taxicab of Ray Sullivan, 1574 S. Third St., crashed into the rear of a cab driven by Kenneth Williams, 1257½ N. High St., Saturday, Apr. 14, at Highland avenue and Broad street, the latter's car was hurled into the corner of the office of Dr. C. E. Sharp, 2363 W. Broad St. Two passengers, Joseph Jamieson, 263 Highland Ave., an occupant of Sullivan's cab, sustained a fractured arm, and Mary Lewis, 907½ S. Champion in the other car, suffered head lacerations and internal injuries. Both were treated by Dr. Sharp.

According to reports, Williams had stopped for a traffic light on Highland avenue when struck from the rear by Sullivan.

ALUMNI LOSE

After as many as five campaigns under Harold Wise, West's varsity finally defeated the alumni in their annual battle. The game, played Saturday afternoon, finally ended with the Cowboys on the long end, 14 to 10.

Merchant League to Inaugurate Season

On Wednesday evening, May 2, on the Westgate diamonds, the Hilltop Merchants will inaugurate their second recreation ball campaign with eight teams going to the wire. Final organization was made at last Friday's meeting of the various managers.

The following teams will be represented: Paley's Drugs, Penfield Market, Painter's Grocery, Kent's Market, Gearhardt, Hardware, Broad-Hague Pharmacy, Saltz Motor Sales, and the Derby Club. All games will be played on Wednesday evenings.

Special Music At Baptist Church

Hillcrest Choir to Sponsor Service Sunday Evening; Mrs. Conkright to Sing.

The Hillcrest choir, under the direction of Mr. W. E. Knox, is sponsoring a special musical program Sunday evening beginning at 7:30. Among the items of interest on this program will be the guest artist, a soprano soloist, Mrs. Edith Perkins Conkright, who will render several numbers and several organ numbers by Mrs. Helen Vance Eckelberry, the Hillcrest organist. The pastor will give a brief sermon on "A Religious Experience With Great Composers." The vested choir of forty voices will also render two numbers.

Cowboys Meet Aquinas Today; Defeat Central

Terriers to Be Faced On Home Grounds At Four o'Clock; Opener Is Slugfest.

Following a heavy hitting battle with Central Tuesday afternoon on the Pirate field, in which the Cowboys inaugurated the city scholastic diamond campaign with a 17 to 13 victory, the second meeting of the race is scheduled for the home lot this afternoon with Aquinas furnishing the opposition. The game is slated to get under way at 4 o'clock.

In the opener, West barely emerged victorious, and many rough spots appeared in the 1934 machine, which, however, will go places and go places fast if the will to win is developed. The locals have the hitting power; defensive strength; and some pitching, which should improve with experience. Poor baserunning and the like, as exhibited in Tuesday's battle with Central will soon be ironed out.

Frank Link, lone remnant from last year's squad, was the big gun offensively against the Pirates. The third sacker got four hits, including a homer in five trips to the platter and drove home six runs. Howison, whose baserunning marred a brilliant performance, also got four for five, and drove in five runs. Dick Francis also busted one over the wall with two mates aboard.

Defensively, the locals have an ace combination in Graschel and Redman, patrolling the keystone sector, but they could get but a single hit between them. Graschel's work stood out on several difficult chances and Redman's arm from the short field is the best seen in several years at the local camp.

Tomorrow afternoon, the Cowboys will meet Lancaster at Lancaster. The third league game of the season is scheduled for next Wednesday afternoon when North is met at the Polar Bear field.

No greater bargain was ever offered the students will tell you as they endeavor to sell their respective quotas of five tickets—after which they get one free.

Coach George Williams' team will officially open the season next Thursday, Apr. 26, against Franklin, champs of last year. The team is fast rounding into shape, and in two games between the yannigans and the regulars, the first stringers have rung up 3-2 and 6-5 victories.

C. C. C. to Extend Call For 400 Boys From Franklin Co.

Boys Between Ages of 18 and 25 On County Relief Rolls, to Be Given Jobs.

In maintaining the Civilian Conservation Corps, the government is offering a splendid opportunity to boys for physical, mental and moral development. During the past week 115 boys have been enrolled in the Conservation Corps and sent to Ft. Knox, Ky., for a seasoning period preparatory for service in California.

Another call is expected the coming week for more than 400 boys from relief families. In this call, only boys from relief families on Franklin County Relief rolls are eligible. Requirement is that they must assign a portion of their pay to some member of their family or other person on relief rolls. The enrollment is for boys from 18 to 25 years of age inclusive, physically able, and of good moral character. This enrollment does not include boys who have previously served in the Civilian Conservation Corps.

All boys meeting the above requirements and desiring to enroll, should immediately get in touch with their family's relief visitor or the Franklin County Relief Administration office at 337 S. High St., Columbus, O.

W. H. Hartsough, Jr., Franklin County Relief Administrator, states that the detachment sent this week to Ft. Knox was a splendid lot of boys and he is hoping the new enrollment will be equally as good. He believes this is a splendid opportunity for any young man who is eligible.

Hilltop Church League Notes

Some records are sure to fall as the campaign proceeds this year, although the total runs in one game record set by the Hilltop C. of C. and Glenwood No. 1, last year, when they played a 21-21 game is fairly safe.

Hoge Memorial, playing against Glenwood Tri Mu, has the record for most runs in one game, counting 25. The Methodist counted four times.

Hoge also holds the honor of having the most consecutive victories, the Presbyterians hitting their stride as the first round closed last year and winning everything until Calvary was met in the city finals.

The Hillcrest Blues took in eight wins in a row while the Reds' longest string was seven.

The rather dubious honor of consecutive losses goes to the Hilltop C. of C. squad which outit took nine on the chin before coming out on the long end.

Burgess U. B. and Westgate Evangelical also hung up unenviable records, both squads dropping seven before winning.

Five pitchers turned in scoreless efforts, "Speedy" Kent of Hillcrest Reds topping the list with four. Don Shaffer of the Blues turned in three. While Owens of Hoge and Corder of Tri Mu had two each. "Bill" Reese, all church league choice for moundsman, had but one shut-out to his credit.

Westgate Evangelical, Warren Nazarene, Hillcrest Reds and Glenwood No. 1 were the only squads to avoid a shut-out humiliation.

Cowboys May Tie For Loop Lead With Win Today

Local Nine Slated for Crucial Game With East on Home Lot; Lose Wild One to North.

West High's battling baseballers will have one last chance to remain in the gonfalon gallop this afternoon at 4 o'clock when the present league leaders, East Tigers, are met on the home diamond.

Following a comedy of errors at North Tuesday afternoon and evening, in which the Scarlet failed to break the Polar Bear jinx, going down to a 17 to 16 defeat by committing 16 errors in the field, the Men of Wise should be set for the leaders' onslaught.

Tuesday's fray was a sorry spectacle, for after North had counted eight times in the first inning, West battled valiantly behind the nice pitching of Al Smith, and in the ninth frame went into a 16 to 14 lead. Then came the tearful exhibition, North scoring three runs on not a single blow. A walk and a hit batsman put the tying runs on the sacks which promptly scored when McCoy let a bounder go through him. With two down, the winning run scampered across when Spears dropped a high pop fly.

Following through from their victory in the opening battle of the season, the Cowboys' definitely established themselves as threats in the scholastic pennant race last Friday by trimming a strong Aquinas aggregation by a score of 9 to 2.

There was no let-up in the Scarlet onslaught, and the murderer's row composed of Link, Howison, Spears, Francis and Hunt, proved too much for Terrier hurlers. Howison, whose hitting has been terrific, proved a stalwart also in the field, as did Link and Spears. Redman, who as yet has failed to hit his stride, had another bad day afield, but the Terriers could not profit from his errors, so all is well.

An unknown quantity, in this lad Miller, took the mound against the green clad warriors from out Mt. Vernon Way, and lasted the entire route, keeping nine hits widely scattered. Barring some sort of disaster, the so-called favorites in the loop will hear of him again.

Today's Issue of Hilltop Record Is 885th; Never Late In 17 Years Here

Seventeen years ago today, Apr. 27, 1917, the first Hilltop Record made its appearance in the community. And since that time, 884 issues have rolled off the press each week at the regular time. Not once in all this time has the Record ever been distributed late.

The first issue, published by S. J. Westlake, whose printing shop is still located at 2364½ W. Broad St., was a four-page sheet, four columns wide and 13½ inches deep—about one-sixth as large as the paper being distributed this week. And where its circulation amounted to 2000, the Hilltop Record this week goes into 8560 local homes.

The biggest news event of 17 years ago, according to the Record of that date, was the Baraca Class banquet of Glenwood M. E., whereat the two city champion basketball teams of the church were honored. The junior squad that year, according to the records, won 14 of 15 games played while the "Big Team" took 23 out of 26, beating West High in one battle, 26 to 21. The team also beat West Park M. E., runners-up in the West Church Loop, 78 to 7.

Two of the four front page columns were utilized for church announcements, while the fourth was given over to brief items of Hilltop activities and a Keller Dry Goods advertisement.

Other business houses, still in operation in the community, and advertising in the first edition of the paper include: Dr. Fred L. Suisberger, then located in the Cunins & Hartzough Department store; W. L. Millikin Hardware, at his present location; T. C. Mitchell, barber, 2385 W. Broad St.; Umbenhaur's Drug Store, still located at Wayne and Broad; The Economy Variety Store, then operated by Brown C. Turner; A. Silliman, dry cleaning and pressing, at 2396 W. Broad, and the Reaner Transfer and Storage Co., now the Hilltop Transfer Co.

"We begin this week," the first editorial runs, "the publication of The Hilltop Record, and expect to continue issuing the same each week, date of publication being Friday.

"We have no great predictions to make concerning the future of the Record, but we do promise to do our best to make it an interesting newspaper devoted exclusively to the Hilltop..." The editorial still holds good.

R. D. Hastings, 36 S. Ogden Ave., present owner and publisher, took over the paper in 1926 and in 1928 moved to the present location, 14 S. Oakley Ave. In the past 17 years, the Record has kept pace with the growth of the community, and hopes to continue to be a vital part of the Hilltop.

No other community newspaper in Columbus and vicinity has excelled the Record's record for the past 17 years. Local residents are invited to send their social and news items in for publication. Job printing is also done by the Record.

Religious Drama Festival Opens

Glenwood M. E. Is Only Hilltop Church Entered in Competition; to Give "Ba Thane."

Final plans for the religious drama festival, sponsored by the Franklin County Youth Council of Federated churches, are nearing completion. The preliminaries, for which the county has been divided into seven sections, will be held the evening of Apr. 29, when more than 20 dramas will be presented in seven different churches.

A winner will be chosen from each district and the successful contestants will enter the semi-finals to be held the following Sunday. From the semi-finals three plays will be chosen for presentation in the finals in downtown auditoriums May 13. The festival date is May 18. The purpose of the festival is to show the effectiveness of good drama as a means of worship.

The seven churches at which the preliminaries are to be held, together with the other churches, each to present a one-act play, are as follows:

At North Methodist, North Broadway, Westerville and North M. E.; Tenth Avenue Baptist, King Avenue M. E., Tenth Avenue Baptist and Westminster Chapel; Shiloh Baptist-Centenary M. E., Shiloh Baptist.

Broad Street M. E., Central and Broad Street M. E. and Broad Street Church of Christ; First M. E., Reynoldsburg M. E., Mayflower Congregational, Grandview M. E., Boulevard Presbyterian and First M. E.; St. John's Evangelical Protestant, Thurman Avenue and Livingston M. E. and St. John's; West Park M. E., Gift Street, West Park and Glenwood M. E.

Chorus Shares 1st Place At Jackson

Competition Fails to Show Up As Business Men's Group Defends Title Friday Eve.

The Hilltop Business Men's Association Male Chorus, champions of their division in the annual Southeastern Ohio Eisteddfod last year, retained a share of that honor last Friday evening as a result of competition held at Jackson, O.

Whether it was the inclement weather or the keen competition, the highly vaunted choruses from other cities, usually in attendance, were absent from the annual song fest and as a result the first prize money ($250) was divided between the local contingent and the Jackson entry.

And so, although the local group has shared in the championship for two consecutive years, a record bettered by but a single chorus in the history of the event, the victory was more or less hollow. Whether or not either chorus was at its peak, is a question—nevertheless the defense of the crown by the Hilltoppers and the conquest by Jackson—was hardly worthy of either. Perhaps it was lack of competition.

Haydn Jones and Haydn Evans, entrants in the tenor-baritone duet, were also defeated in the competition.

Broad Acres Open

Broad Acres golf course, after four years of development, is in the peak of condition this year, according to the management. The course is now open for play and is ideal for those who shoot in the 80's.

Red Cross Drive Successful Here

Local Workers Come In Second Only to Upper Arlington In City-Wide Campaign.

The annual membership drive of the American Red Cross, on the West Side and Hilltop, will come to a close Monday, Apr. 30, and it was announced this week that the local sector will have fulfilled its quota of $200, by today. On Wednesday of this week, according to figures released by Mrs. W. R. Ferguson, chairman of the campaign here, $178.25 had been raised. She stated that it was certain that the drive would go over the top before the week was out.

The drive, originally scheduled to terminate on Tuesday, Apr. 24, was continued by officials when all sections of the city fell below the various goals. Upper Arlington was the only section to out-distance the Hilltop, its quota being filled on Tuesday, according to information.

All in all, the local drive was regarded as highly successful. Those assisting in the immediate community were: Mrs. James Simpson, 2081 Fairmont Ave.; Mrs. H. W. Driver, 172 Guernsey Ave.; Mrs. Clyde D. Moore, 236 Binns Blvd.; Mrs. Leo Pence, 601 S. Burgess Ave.; Mrs. Wyatt L. Millikin, 53 S. Warren Ave., and Mrs. Eleanor Myers, who was major for this division.

The present officers are: Eddie Scanlon, 552 S. Richardson Ave., president; Ed Gray, vice president; Clyde Biegler, treasurer; C. D. Kamer, secretary; and W. D. Timmons, athletic director.

Music Teachers to Convene May 3-4-5

Miss Robbins and Miss Greiser, who are on the membership committee of the coming Music Teachers' State Convention to be held here at the Deshler Hotel, May 3-4-5, hope to interest all teachers and students of music on the Hilltop to try and attend some of the sessions as such artists as Beryl Rubinstein, director of the Cleveland Institute of Music; Mrs. Edgar Stellman-Kelly, Jean Ten Have, Cincinnati, violinist, and many more leading men and women in the world of music, are on the program.

To Open Monday

The Franklin Post American Legion baseball team No. 1, lost a double-header last Saturday, Apr. 21, by scores of 6-3 and 7-4. Its first league game will be played Monday afternoon, Apr. 30. The starting lineup of the Franklin Post team will be: Ries, l. f.; Wilgus, c. f.; F. Clark, r. f.; Cruise, 3b; Downing, s.s.; Holland or Curtis, 2b; Mitchell, 1b; L. Clark, c. The pitching selection will be announced before the game Monday which will start at 4 p. m.

Coat Stolen

A top-coat left in a parked car last Saturday evening was stolen from Charles Apel, 59 N. Warren Ave. Another coat and a hat, in the same car, were not taken by the thief, who jimmied the lock of the auto to gain entrance.

Primitive Art Displayed In Local Family's New Guinea Collections

The collector's instinct dominates the Bodensieck family—Rev. and Mrs. Julius Bodensieck, and son Justice, and daughter Mathilde—165 Binns Blvd. Everything that can be collected is represented in their treasure chests—from stamps to rocks to butterflies to strange and interesting things from New Guinea, an island north of Australia, inhabited by strange people.

And it was these latter things that were proudly displayed to this reporter Sunday evening, the owners not aware of the fact that even if we had a hat, few things could be kept under it. And so we saw many trinkets and gadgets once used by the cannibalistic peoples of this strange island, the only place in the world where the bird of paradise is found.

And with each of the trinkets in this grand array of primitive art, there came interesting stories—some weird and gruesome—some hilarious—some ridiculous.

There was the great, boat shaped dish, three feet long and a foot deep, in which the food of the natives is stirred with a big paddle—rats, mice, vegetables, pork—all mixed together to form a more or less appetizing meal. There was the grass skirts, actually worn by the New Guinea people and made by them (unlike the apparel of the Honolulu maidens, which tourists found labelled "Made in New Jersey"); there were strange, carved pillows, bearing the resemblence of the upper six inches of a crutch, on which the men lay their heads at night to keep from getting their hair "mussed."

Primitive stone axes, used by the men to chop down tropical trees; trinkets made from sea shells and pig teeth; arrows for warfare and for use in obtaining food; bamboo cigar holders; loin clothes, made from the coconut tree by hammering on the bark and slipping it off, as fine a piece of cloth as one could wish after it is dried; signal horns made from giant sea shells, war drums composed of hollow logs and snake skins; and a half-hundred other items, all mutely speaking of a strange, barbaric people.

Rev. and Mrs. Bodensieck told of strange customs—gruesome and weird burial rites. On this island, the dead are burned, and the parents or close friends take the skull and arm bones as a part of their wearing apparel. And if the dead is a sorcerer, his body is placed upon a scaffold, underneath which a fire is built. And as he slowly burns, the drippings fall in a little trough, where the natives come with their bowls of food, adding a bit of the "flavoring" so none of the sorcerer's strength may be lost.

Those wild, primitive people, in habiting tiny villages in the midst of the tropical jungle, have built up odd superstitions. They claim that the earth is shaped like a toadstool, and the god at it's foot, in an angry moment, shakes the entire structure, causing earthquakes. They say, too, that the sun and moon were both to be found in the sky at once, but the sun, telling the moon it was going to take a bath, didn't stipulate as to the definite time. And the moon slipped down into the ocean first, and since that time has never caught up with the sun.

Most hilarious of all the tales is the linguistic efforts of these people. It is known as pigeon English and is a grand mixture of everything under

The Hilltop's first Cooking School, attended by almost 2000 local housewives, which closed last Friday afternoon at the Ritz Theatre, will in all probability become an annual event, according to information from the sponsors, the Westgate Electric Shop and the Triangle Grocers, received this week.

The affair drew much favorable comment, and from all available reports, both those who attended and those who sponsored the event, were well satisfied. Many requests have been made to make the school an annual affair in the community.

AMERICA'S GREAT FAMILIES

The recent visit of Mrs. Roosevelt to Columbus calls to our attention the great families that our country has produced. We have no titles of nobility to be handed down from generation to generation and we believe that every man's success is due to his own ability and industry. However, there are several families whose character and ability have made them leaders in our civic life for generations. Outstanding are the Adams, Harrison, Lee, Beecher and Roosevelt families.

The Adams family is probably the most remarkable in American history. They are an old English family tracing their ancestry back to the days of the Normans. The founder of the American branch came to this country at the beginning of the 18th century, but their greatness starts with John Adams, who lived from 1734 to 1825. Adams taught school when a young man and managed to work his way through Harvard college. He practiced law at the ancestral home, Quincy, Mass. He married Abigail Smith, the daughter of the local Congregational minister. This lady had brains in abundance and the union of these two brilliant people is the beginning of the Adams greatness. Abigail Adams was the most brilliant woman that ever occupied the White House. Her private letters read like state papers and her counsel was sought by the great statesmen of her time. Her inspiration made her husband president and her training made her son a president. If the theory of inherited greatness is true, America owes a boundless debt to this woman, all of whose descendents have been great. John Adams was the ablest man in the Continental Congress. He was a member of the committee that drafted the Declaration of Independence, first embassador to England, signed the treaty of peace with England, was the first vice president and the second president of the United States, and next to Washington, the most influential statesman of his age.

John Quincy Adams was the only son of John and Abigail Adams. He was a graduate of Harvard as all the Adamses have been. He was the most highly educated of all our presidents, held high offices fifty years, was embassador to Russia and England, member of both houses of Congress, secretary of state in the Monroe cabinet, and President of the United States. He was the real author of the Monroe Doctrine, although the president's name was attached to it.

In the next generation is Charles Francis Adams, our embassador to England during the Civil War. His diplomatic skill and firmness probably prevented England from recognizing the Confederacy and breaking the blockade. He once told the British prime minister that his policy meant war and the minister backed down. No one else ever talked that way to John Bull.

The present generation are too numerous to mention, but all great. Henry Adams is perhaps our most philosophic historian. Charles Francis, jr., and John have been leaders in Massachusettes politics, while another Charles was secretary of the navy in the Hoover cabinet.

Three families have furnished two presidents each: Adams, Harrison and Roosevelt. Benjamin Harrison of Virginia was a signer of the Declaration of Independence, his son, William H., was a general, territorial governor, member of Congress, and president. Benjamin Harrison was a great lawyer, general, U. S. Senator and president.

The Beecher family has furnished great preachers and reformers. Beginning with the elder Lyman they aroused the conscience of the nation against slavery, and one of the daughters, Harriet Beecher Stowe moved the nation by her "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The Lees have always been the leading family in Virginia. In the Continental Congress, Richard Henry Lee made the motion that the American colonies should be free, and every generation has had its generals, governors and congressmen. Robert E. Lee was probably our greatest military genius.

The Roosevelt family is the most prominent in this generation. They are an old and wealthy Dutch family, long prominent as lawyers and business men in New York. Like the Adamses they are all Harvard men. "Teddy" looms first among the great. Author, traveler, cowboy, assistant secretary of the navy, colonel of the Rough Riders, governor of New York, vice president and president, finally leader of the Bull Moosers. To even name his various activities would require a book. No other president has caught the imagination of the American people as he. His son Theodore, jr., has been governor of the Philippines and is destined for greater honors. Alice Roosevelt Longsworth is one of the most outstanding women of this period, and many believe that had Speaker Longsworth lived, she would have made him president.

Eleanor Roosevelt, the gracious lady who visited us last week, is a Roosevelt by blood as well as marriage, and seems to possess the magnetic personality of her famous uncle. Franklin Delano Roosevelt is today the greatest political force in the world. Of course, no one can say what the final verdict of history concerning this remarkable man will be, but today he is the most popular of all our presidents. We do not know how the New Deal will result but for the moment it is the hope of the world.

These are a few our illustrious families. No country in the world can show greater.

Have Your Cake For Springtime Dessert

EVEN the most resourceful of cooks sometimes feels baffled in her attempts to keep her menus varied, interesting, nutritious and yet economical. There are so many things to be considered in planing a meal. Dad loves Porterhouse—but it's a little high; Jimmy hates parsnips and Sis insists on a salad. How to tie the many conflicting tastes together so that everyone, including the family budget is satisfied is a little difficult. Perhaps these suggestions will lend a hand.

Cake that's light as a feather, that hides its tempting texture beneath frostings that would tempt the most jaundiced eye! Not too rich—yet satisfying enough for days that seem to indicate a dessert of special springtime lightness and delicacy. Such cakes are these—and such days are these. Try them!

Sour Cream Cake

1 cup sour cream
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1½ cups cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup raisins
½ cup nutmeats

Whip the sour cream with the soda until stiff and add the sugar. Separate the eggs, beat in the egg yolks and flour, which has been sifted with the baking powder and salt. Then add the spices, raisins and nuts and lastly fold in the egg whites beaten stiff. Turn into a greased loaf pan measuring 9x11 inches. Bake in a moderate oven 30 to 35 minutes. Frost with 7 minute icing.

Chocolate Cake

½ cup shortening
1¼ cups light brown sugar
2 squares unsweetened chocolate (melted)
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup sweet milk
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
4 egg yolks

Sift dry ingredients together. Cream shortening and sugar. Beat yolks and add, then add the rest of the ingredients and beat 3 minutes. Pour dough into a shallow pan lined with waxed paper. Bake for 25 minutes in a moderate oven.

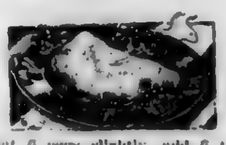
Boiled Frosting

2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons vinegar
2-3 cup water
2 egg whites beaten stiff
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt

Mix sugar, vinegar and water together. Boil slowly and without stirring until a thread forms when a portion is slowly poured from a spoon. Pour on beaten egg whites, beating until cool. Add vanilla and pile on cake.

Sunshine Cake

1 cup sifted cake flour
1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
6 egg whites
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
4 egg yolks beaten until thick
½ teaspoon lemon extract



Sift flour once, measure, add ½ sugar and sift flour two times more. Add salt to egg whites and beat. When foamy add cream of tartar and continue beating, add remaining sugar gradually and continue beating until whites are stiff enough to hold peaks. Fold in egg yolks and lemon extract. Sift small amount of flour over mixture and fold in carefully, continuing until all is used. Pour batter into ungreased tube pan. Bake in slow oven 30 minutes, then increase heat slightly and bake 35 minutes longer. Remove pan from oven and invert for 1 hour or until cold.

Baked Onions and Spinach

Peel and parboil in salted water 10 or 15 minutes medium size onions. Drain and scoop out centers. Fill cavities with baked lima beans. Have cooked and chopped enough spinach to cover bottom of baking pan to the depth of 1½ inches. Place onions on spinach bed and dot with butter. Bake in moderate oven till onions are tender. Serve from baking dish.

Breakfast Omelet

Beat 6 eggs slightly, add 6 tablespoons milk, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon paprika. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in pan and pour in egg mixture. Stir slightly at first. Then let cook slowly 2 minutes. Lift with fork so uncooked egg mixture may precipitate. Fold outside edges over toward center. Turn out on platter folded side down.

Spring Salad Plate

Serve crisp, inviting spring vegetables on an assorted salad plate for appetite teasers. Sliced tomatoes, radishes and cucumbers, or spring onions, avocado and celery curls.

Waffles Win

Breakfast or luncheon—waffles win! Mix and sift 1½ cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar. Add 1 cup milk, gradually, then 2 egg yolks and 2 tablespoons melted fat. Fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Cook in well-greased waffle iron.

By J. N. WOLFE

That prominent local chap's cousin, who, with her boy friend, tried to make a whiskey and soda with the baking variety of bicarbonate. . . . They want something to appear lyar about our ace stooge, but nay nay. . . . Would it be wise, friends, to slaughter the fowl that deposits the golden egg. . . . Lillian Houizen feeds her canine pet cod-liver oil, and refuses to feed it potatoes for fear it will get fat. . . . Add memories of the old home town: The tomatoes they used to lay on the thin-covered bench in the back yard, for seed. . . . The wash bench, where Uncle Nic used to sputter and snort while washing before supper. . . . Dr. T. S. Fox, strolling down Brd. St. to work. Betcha his mind was on fishin for black bass. . . .

Add things that burn us up. That note coming here via post last week, landing in the skies a certain chap—and the thing unsigned. . . . And until the one who wrote it calls us up and verifies the fact, we're gonna believe that the author was the fellow discussed in the note. . . . We may even print the dope, which would be embarrassing, eh wot? . . . The guy that writes "letters to the editor" and doesn't sign his name. Ha—aw well shucks, what difference does it make. . . . She thot it woodin get hyar, but a month back Edna Corcoran baked a cake—a fine cake, but was so unfortunate as to use pancake flour instead of the regulation variety. . . . And Charlie Houx tells about that feller in W. Jeff. whom he hired to dig him a gallon of earth worms. . . . And the worms were forthwith dug and Charlie inquired of the lad the price. . . . "I'll tellya," spake he, "if you'll let me keep half of them, it won't costya anything." Which is a truly benevolent attitude, if not so business-like.

Add more things irritating: The fellow (and women too, Glory be) who tries to sit down on a nine-inch space in the street car, and has to occupy the edge. He's one of these frugal birds that can't see anything go to waste. Not comfortable himself, and permitting no one else to be comfortable, he should be made to ride on the roof. . . . Also, the fellow who boards a car 15 feet ahead of the regular stopping place, so he'll get a seat, but the thing that is more gripe-ful than his selfishness, is his thoughtlessness, for as the car passes those who are waiting, he brushes against them, sending them sprawling and their packages helter skelter. . . . Add also: High pressure salesmen, chambers of commerce, people who are dead-sure they're right. (They're usually wrong, statistics prove), back-slappers, hailators (they admit they're no good or too lazy to develop their own talents), hypocrites (which include gossips, cowards and parrots), and last but not least, the witch doctors, who know everything, explain everything, and worry everybody. They should be shot carefully, and carelessly buried. (They include fortune tellers, astrologers, crystal gazers, contactors of the spirit in a finite way, etc.)

Mr. Robert Clark, who fetched his wife (Thelma Rodgers) a singin canary. They named it Dicky. And lo, after a short spell had passed, it brot forth a quintet of eggs. . . . Henry (ego to the nth degree) Melragon, who, if you know him, there'd be no sense in further reading feeble efforts of description here, and if you don't,—we just couldn't spell the event. His middle moniker, by the way, is Albert. . . . Flash: Roody Brannon of circulation stops—yes, stop everything. . . . Items: H. C. Bletrone sometimes shaves with a straight razor, as does Ross Westlake. . . . C. E. Raether likes a nibbling of cheese before retiring. . . . Mrs. Fred Raether bakes the old fashioned kind of coffee cake (the good kind) and the whole family dunks it for fun, morning breakfast (Listen, highbrows, if ya never dunked coffee cake, you're livin in the wrong country. How 'bout that, Henry (Melragon, of course) . . . D. Fernholz, an ONU botanist, is frequently bumped on N. Optics Ave.

Close Race Looms As Hilltop Church Loop Opens Season

Eight of Ten Squads of Championship Caliber; Hoge Memorial Nine Favored.

The Hilltop Church League inaugurated its second campaign Monday evening, April 30, when 10 teams, eight of which have been strengthened through the winter months to such an extent that a torrid race looms, met in five games, four of which were played on the yet to be improved Westgate diamonds and the other at McKinley.

Hillcrest Reds, champions of last year, sustained a mighty scare at the hands of Glenwood Tri Mus, but a last-inning rally furnished six runs, enough to beat the Methodists, 11 to 6.

Hoge Memorial, runners-up last fall, with a much strengthened outfit, took the measure of Glenwood M. E., 16 to 2. The winners appear to be the team to beat for the pennant at the present stage of the race.

St. John Lutheran, which next week will be additionally fortified at first base, on the mound and in the outfield, took its first game from Hilltop C. of C., 13 to 7. Martin, Wehrle and Dick Bateman stood out for the winners with Bundy leading the way for the losers.

How They Stand

Team	W.	L.	R.	OR.	Pct.
St. John Lutheran	1	0	13	7	1.000
Sullivant Friends	1	0	12	11	1.000
Warren Nazarene	1	0	9	7	1.000
Hoge Memorial	1	0	9	7	1.000
Hillcrest Bap.	1	0	11	6	1.000
Westgate Evan.	0	1	7	9	.000
Glenwood Tri Mu	0	1	6	11	.000
Burgess U. B.	0	1	11	12	.000
Hilltop C. of C.	0	1	7	13	.000
Glenwood M. E.	0	1	2	16	.000

Warren Nazarene and Westgate, two of the favored squads, fought tooth-and-nail before the former hammered out a 9-to-7 win and in the finale, Sullivant Ave. Friends defeated Burgess U. B., 12 to 11.

In games slated for Monday evening, the fireworks should be set aflare when Hoge Memorial and Warren Nazarene hook up in the main attraction of the evening. In other games, Hillcrest meets St. John Lutheran; Burgess U. B. and Glenwood Tri Mu are to meet in the third fracas with Westgate vs. Glenwood M. E. and Sullivant Ave. Friends vs. Hilltop C. of C. rounding out the program.

Merchant Nines In Close Games

Derby Club, Gearhardt's Hardware, Kent's Market and Sniff Motors Turn In Victories.

Opening its second season—the first as an organized loop, the Hilltop Merchant's recreational ball campaign got under way Wednesday evening on the Westgate diamonds, Sniff Motors, Kent's Market, Derby Club and Gearhart's Hardware turning in victories.

With the entire team hitting hard behind the fine hurling of Sunker, Sniff Motors defeated Broad-Hague Drugs, 22 to 2, in the only unevenly matched contest of the evening.

Kent's Food Market, with Reese and Kent doing the mound chores, edged Paley's Drugs, 15 to 7 in a close game despite the score. Stellar fielding by Humphreys in left and Howard Kent in center featured the battle.

George Hardy pitched the Derby Club to a 7 to 6 verdict over Penfield Market, despite the heavy hitting on the part of the grocerymen.

In the final fracas, Painter's grocery bowed to Gearhart's Hardware, 9 to 3. Scott, in a relief pitching role for the losers, might have turned in a victory had he been started on the hillock.

The second round will be played on the Westgate diamonds next Wednesday evening.

She was taken to Mt. Carmel hospital for treatment.

But all of her luck was not of the bad variety, for when she was thrown from the moving vehicle, her pocketbook, containing $50, was lost. But it was found,—by an honest man, and returned.

City Grid Title Lost to Cowboys When Player Discovered Too Old

It's a sad, sad story that broke out at West High school last Tuesday. In a nutshell, West did not win the football championship last fall—didn't even tie for it—in fact, ended the season deep in second division. And the golf team, which was leading the league until Tuesday, is now located in last place.

And the reason. It's all because one boy was too old and Central High school authorities found it out and took the information to the powers that be in Ohio high school athletics. All of which resulted in the returning of the beautiful Harley Trophy, emblematic of the city gridiron supremacy, to East High school, the only team West officially defeated last year in Columbus.

Out at West High school, in the record files, Tony Demattee was listed as having been born on June 24, 1915. Tony was born on June 24, 1913, which makes him too old to compete in high school sports. And he played football in the Aquinas, Central, South, Portsmouth and Zanesville games—four of which were chalked up on the right side of the ledger—but are now erased.

And he was also a member of the golf team, and the squad had been victorious thrice in as many efforts.

Thursday, of last week, before the news was officially broken, West High's baseballers did not practice. Every man was down at the vital statistics bureau getting a certified copy of his birth certificate. Every boy who plays at West from now on will have a birth certificate before he plays, and it will be filed in the school office. Similar precautions are to be taken in the Junior High division. There'll be no more stories break like this one.

The track team didn't go to Wesleyan last Saturday. Two of the boys couldn't get birth certificates in time. They had to send away for them and no athlete participates in athletics at West unless the birth certificate is in the office files.

Such is the sad tale coming from West High. And from the picture of the squad will be struck the script, "Co-Champions," and 15 gold footballs will be stored away, never to be worn again. Because one substitute was offside.

Rev. Hutchison To Observe Anniversary

The Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church will hold special services all day on Sunday, May 13, in observance of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the ordination of Rev. H. C. Hutchison, pastor. At the morning service, communion and reception of new members will be held. In the evening, Dr. W. J. Hutchison of the Boulevard Presbyterian church of Cleveland, O., will be the speaker.

Complete announcements of the programs will be made next week.

Central Pirates to Meet Cowboys This Afternoon

South's Surprise Victory Over Locals Gives East Undisputed Lead in City Circuit.

While East High was winning its game with North Tuesday afternoon and at the same time losing the services of Owens, its ace pitcher and first baseman, West baseballers dropped a grand opportunity to become the unquestioned favorites to cop the bunting in the city league circuit by being defeated by South on the South Side lot, 12 to 8.

Although the locals made but three errors, a nine-run rally by South in the third frame was too much to overcome. Smith, Baban and Miller toiled on the hillock for the locals with Miller the only one showing anything that resembled effectiveness. Spears, with three hits, one a homer with the bases filled, was the Cowboy offensive highlight.

This afternoon, on the local diamond, the second round will get under way with Central scheduled as the opposition. A much improved team will be faced and although Coach Wise has not indicated his hurling choice, Gentile will probably get the call. The game will start at 4 o'clock.

THE COMING ELECTION

Ohio will elect state and county officers this fall, also a United States Senator and Congressional delegation. The election will have unusual significance as it will express the people's approval or disapproval of the Roosevelt administration and the New Deal.

The most important office to be filled is the senatorship. On the Republican side, Senator Fess will undoubtedly be renominated. Several others may be candidates for the nomination, but they will run merely to get their names in the papers and secure a little free advertisement. Senator Fess is one of the ablest men in the senate. He was classed as a progressive in former years but is now considered a conservative. The truth is, the country has become much more radical while he has not changed.

On the Democratic side there will be a battle royal between Governor White and ex-Governor Donahey for the nomination. Congressman Truax also is a candidate but he is not considered of senatorial calibre and probably will drop out. Governor White will be a strong candidate because he is at the head of the state administration. Every appointive officer from the highest to the lowest will be found boosting the governor. A man with a hundred million dollars patronage at his disposal will always have support and Governor White has the strongest political machine Ohio has known since Mark Hanna ruled the state with a hand of iron.

Ex-Governor Donahey has a large personal following and has always been a wonderful vote getter. He is the only man that ever was elected governor three times in succession, although Allen Trimble, R. B. Hayes and James Cox were each elected three times but not successively. Ex-Governor Donahey has the happy faculty of making the people think that he is very economical in the administration of public affairs—that is if you don't examine the budget too closely. But he has a wonderful hold on the people and will probably be nominated.

For the office of governor, there are three candidates on the Democratic side, Lieutenant Governor Sawyer, ex-Lieutenant Governor Pickerel, and ex-Congressman Davies. They are all able men and one guess is as good as another as to who will be nominated.

Among those seeking the Republican nomination are ex-Lieutenant Governor Brown, Daniel Morgan, ex-manager of Cleveland, and Mr. Elden, formerly commander of the Legion. There seems to be more enthusiasm for Attorney General Bricker, but he seems to prefer a bird in hand to one in the bush and probably will ask a re-election as attorney-general.

The race for congress in this district promises to be a hot one. Congressman Lamneck will be opposed by Representative Addison for the Democratic nomination. Lamneck has aroused some opposition by his use of the public patronage and his vote on the veterans' pay and federal salary bill which incidentally raised his own salary a thousand dollars a year. However, he will probably will ask a re-election as attorney general.

Ex-Congressman Speaks will again seek the Republican nomination. He represented the district ten years and, while not a brilliant man has always had the confidence of the people. The Machine will have a candidate, probably ex-Mayor Thomas, but Speaks has never had any difficulty in securing the nomination, and it is likely that he will be nominated this time.

There are numerous local offices to be filled. The candidates will be fellows who want the salaries. They remind one of the town that had only two hotels. It didn't make any difference which one you stopped at you wished you had gone to the other.

OUR LEGISLATURE

The State of Ohio has many institutions of which it may be proud, but the present General Assembly is not one of them. Whenever there is a political landslide, a large number of people are carried into the legislature who ordinarily would not be elected and have no qualifications for the position. This time the state seems to be unusually unfortunate. The present legislature began its career by destroying all the temperance legislation on the statutes even permitting the sale of liquor on the Sabbath. Betting on dog racing and public gambling has been legalized and the state shares in the profit. A bill is pending even to legalize a public lottery. Only an indignant exposure by the leading newspapers prevented them from authorizing the municipalities to use their sinking funds for current expenses thus practically repudiating their debts. These are only a few of their amazing antics. But their most astounding failure is their attempt to enact a permanent tax system for the state. For more than a year they have struggled with this problem and have accomplished nothing.

The governor has call them back into session time and again, but they simply talk and adjourn. Unless a tax program is enacted the schools will close next year, the municipalities will be bankrupt and all the state institutions will suffer. But so far they have been content to vote themselves four dollars a day extra for their board, and one house has voted to raise their salary from $1000 to $1500 per year.

We believe that public sentiment will force some action. But why is it necessary to have such a condition of affairs?

If the constitution were changed so we could have a smaller legislature of abler men at a salary that would attract able men the state would get much better results.

Of course, politics is at the bottom of the situation and will be until a higher type of legislators is secured.

EARLY MORNING BIRD HIKE

Last Sunday morning, before the first red rays of the sun shot over the eastern horizon, Dale Jenkins and the writer set out for Greenlawn cemetery, in search of birds. Dale already has a list of over 40 for the year, and Sunday's ramble added more.

Those of us who slumber the early morning through miss much of the beauty of the new day. Fresh and invigorating it is too, with the air clean and cool and the landscape washed with crystal dew drops, and bird song providing a veritable symphony of melody.

Meadowlarks called from the field, and once I thought the "treery-leery burn of the bluebird" could be heard. Bob White called his familiar note from some fence post in the meadow, and mingling with these were the notes of two dozen or more other species, too indefinite to be identified.

No sooner had we reached the lake than we heard a more or less familiar call, more like a squeak, followed by a drumming, tapping sound. High on the trunk of a maple, drilling into the sap-wood, was a yellow-bellied sap-sucker. This fellow, with his yellow breast and red throat and crown, and black wings spotted with white and black tail, is present again in great numbers, and with an apparent ravenous appetite, he drinks the sap from maples and more often from orchard trees. Evidences of his presence can often be noted by the holes found in trunks, where he has been drilling and feeding.

A friendly bzzz, bzzz next attracted our attention to a nearby pine tree, and looking closely, we found one of our tiniest of native birds, the golden crowned kinglet. Almost as small as a humming bird, he is almost as active, and as he searches for small insects which form his food, he may often be glimpsed in variously acrobatic positions, at which time one may be fortunate enough to see the red, rimmed with yellow crest, from which he gets his name.

His upper parts are grayish, with a lighter shade of the same color dominating the underparts. A most sociable chap, he often may be found the winter through, especially in pine groves.

Other familiar friends were observed and as we struck for the ravine, a great clattering and cawing of a group of crows in a fine spruce tree brought forth the comment from Dale that an owl might be in the vicinity. At our approach, however, the big black fellows dispersed, and we strolled on, hoping to find a towhee in the brush near the bridge.

Our approach, however, was greeted by the clear, sweet "fee-bee-e-e-e" of the Phoebe, and we felt quite certain of our predictions that the home of the fellow would be located beneath the bridge that spans the ravine. They always locate their nests near or under bridges, and we'll wager this fellow is no exception.

Retracing our steps then, past the big spruce where the crows had been, we spied several golden crowned kinglets in the tree. Then, with a soft rustle of wings that completely startled us, a great barred owl flew out from the branches, and soon, in hot pursuit, a half dozen crows made life miserable for him. This chap had been the cause of so much clatter among the crows and had been completely missed when we passed the tree on the first trip.

He was a beautiful bird, with a wing spread of more than three feet, and his more or less erratic flight was further punctuated with attacks by the crows. We followed him around from tree to tree for a few moments, until finally, he circled wide to a distant tree beyond our vision. Yet we knew he was there, for his enemies continued their war cries with vigor.

All in all, we obtained a list of some 20 birds, and as we went back to the car, the sweet, plaintive trill of the field sparrow completed our total. It was a grand trip and we will again be in the vicinity this Sunday, perhaps an hour earlier, for the warblers will soon be on their way northward—in fact, one, which we could not identify, was heard Sunday.

"Futurist" Church Arouses Protests

EXTERIOR view of St. Saviour's church at Eltham, England, which was completed recently at a cost of about $50,000. While some church-goers express a liking for the new edifice, it has, in general, aroused a storm of protest because of its fortress-like construction. It is built of purplish brick and has long slit-like windows. The vicar, Rev. G. H. Isaacson, sees in the building an attempt on the part of the church to meet the needs of the Twentieth century.

Police Show At Auditorium

Contest On Between Teams Of Department for Ticket Selling Honors; Show May 16.

Corp. Robert Cline and Patrolman Robert Cook head two teams which will be composed of police department members and aiding civilians who will sell the tickets to the annual Columbus Police Athletic Show, scheduled for Columbus Auditorium on the evening of Wednesday, May 16. Their teams will oppose each other in selling tickets all over the city.

Money made goes for athletic equipment and to further the work of this association, which trains Columbus policemen to make better protectors of the city. The wrestling attraction which will go to make up the show will be chosen by Al Haft, who is producer of the show, and the police themselves. Haft will send champions or would-be champs, who have been runners-up in some of the biggest shows of the past few weeks.

There will be two hour-long bouts and four lesser ones, besides several features put on by the police, making the show one of the greatest of the year. Tickets are on sale at Haft's office, at police headquarters, and by individual policemen. Chief Fred F. Kundts and members of the board of governors of the Police Athletic Association, aided by civilian members, are putting on the show.

Hilltop Church League Notes

There should be a sportsmanship trophy, as well as a championship trophy, in the local loop, to be awarded annually to the team which, in the opinion of the various umpires, displays the finest spirit throughout the season.

With the addition of Bob Blesch, a southpaw, on the mound for St. John's Lutheran, and a fine chap, six feet five inches, on first base, by the name of Allen, that squad is set to make plenty of trouble for everybody.

And speaking of trouble, Curt Wilcox's Tri Mu aggregation, equipped every one with gloves, is snagging them sensationally and hitting hard. Make no mistake, for these veterans will spill the dope with monotonous regularity before the leaves begin to fall.

Westgate Evangelical, one of the weaker sisters last year, is another squad well fortified. With Paul and Charles Casey, along with Mason, Mawhirter and Todd, all star high school athletes of a few years back, in the line-up, they appear dangerous.

And the fact that the Powell Ave. squad dropped one to Warren Nazarene this week indicates that Reese and Glass are again in form and being accorded good support afield and at the plate. Just another tough team.

According to Wyatt Millikin, hopes for the improvement of the ball diamonds at Westgate Park are good. Attempts will be made to have the area filled in and rolled with a steam roller. Work done thus far has been a sorry spectacle and at present the lots are in worse condition than last year—which was bad enough.

Spring Overhauling

The fact that all cars should have a spring overhauling is brought to the attention of car owners by Lawwell and Beasley, Inc., local Ford dealers at 761 W. Broad St. The Lawwell-Beasley service department, headed by Willard Jones, invites all Ford owners to stop in and look the department over. Estimates on all service work is cheerfully given. The improvements on the used car lot, located across the street from the showrooms, have been completed and a select lot of cars are now on display.

Ball Team

At West Jr. Has Four Games On Tap; Beat Everett 15 to 7 On Local Diamond Tuesday.

A busy week is scheduled for baseballers at West Jr. High, four games being carded. Monday, Franklin will be met on the Cowboy field in a regular league battle; Tuesday the local American Legion Juniors will meet the Orange and Black, with the Hilltoppers meeting McKinley in another league fray Thursday.

Coach Williams' lads were to have opened the season yesterday against Pilgrim. Frazier will probably be the regular catcher, with Kuhns at first base. Palmer or Carter are scrapping for the keystone sack as are Hughes and Jones at shortstop. Larkins is a fixture at third base with the outer garden being patrolled by Weisert, Nelson Bradley and Miller. Graves, Johnson and Albert compose the hurling staff.

Tuesday of this week, the locals turned in a 15 to 7 win over Everett. Graves' four-hit pitching was marked by wildness. Larkin, with a homer and a double, and Nelson, with a pair of triples, were the offensive highlights. The game was marked by mental lapses on the part of the Junior Cowboys, also.

Central Pirates To Meet Cowboys

With Reiman snapping out of his hitting slump to bang out three safeties in four times to the dish; Link cracking out a like number including a three ply swat, besides perloining five sacks; and the whole squad fighting against mountainous odds, West hopped on the league leading East High nine last Friday on the local lot and brought in a Tiger pelt to the tune of 6 to 5 in 11 innings.

How They Stand

Team	W.	L.	R.	OR.	Pct.
East	4	1	45	37	.800
WEST	3	2	56	40	.600
South	3	2	42	30	.600
North	2	2	36	47	.500
Central	1	3	35	38	.250
Aquinas	1	4	27	38	.200

The victory placed the locals definitely on the upward path and barring the ever present danger of a let-down, West is picked as the team to beat for the trophy. Only the fact that every man on the team is having to fight to retain his position is responsible for the calibre of ball being displayed.

Last week's exhibition is typical of what can be expected. With the Tigers out in front in the tenth frame by two runs, the Wisemen came up and smote out a pair themselves, and in the next session won the game, Francis' theft of third being the contributing factor. Hunt, who was on first when the latter stole third, followed his mate up a notch and when Stevens, Tiger third sacker tried to nab him at the keystone station, Francis sprinted homeward, beating the throw by inches.

Miller, who turned in a neat performance on the mound in his second attempt of the season, was the final factor in the victory. He fanned three, strolled but two and gave up but six safe blows in the 11 frames. Which, to this writer, is pitching.

There are more cells in a man's head than there are known stars in the heavens (and they're more than you can see with the naked eye).

Want Games

The intermediate recreation ball team of the St. John Lutheran church wants games with other intermediate squads on the Hilltop. Call Charles Apel at RA. 0006, after 6 o'clock.

Starling Wins

Starling Jr. High school baseballers inaugurated their 1934 league campaign Thursday on the Central High diamond, defeating Pilgrim by a 14-to-2 score.

Lose Close Game

Friend in Charge

Irvin Friend, well known in local sport circles, has been selected to be in charge of the Broad Acres driving range which is now open daily between the hours of 8 a. m. and 10 p. m., according to the management.

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

Jane Jones (Henry's Spouse) awoke tother three a. m. to find herself singing "Goin' Home." . . . Doc Durflinger has a new automobile, a great, large job, and all because he's jealous of Mulsers' big machines at the airport and Sherm Edward's big limousine. "I wasn't tryin' to put on the dog with my car," claims Sherm. "I'm just in that class of people which drives car like mine." . . . The boss here, in his hurry to work tother morning, wore his wife's glasses . . . Dorothy Malcom has changed boy friends, and the first one didn't know it till now. . . . One word description of Milly Bussey, the Campbell clerk—chirrupy. . . . A bunch of roses to that bespectacled youngster out at Westgate Park—catching a hardball game tother day without a mask. . . . Reliable reports have it that Helen Hastings' bed has fallen to pieces twice within the week. Getting heavy, screams N. Line. And now he'd better duck.

An OSU professor exclaims: "A young man's fancy, in the springtime, lightly turns to what the girls have been thinking about all winter." . . . Mose Williams shaves with a safety razor (Due maybe, to the nervousness brot about by campaigning for the committeeman job of the 11th ward). . . . Things I can't imagine: Bob Jones unshaved (he too, uses a safety). . . . Ray Hauntz with one of those curled up mustaches. . . . Cliff Kuhn running down the street after a fire truck. . . . Herb Deems without a "good morning" salutation, in any weather. . . . Tom Zelkoff, never smiling. . . . Fred Rasther never smoking a cigar the rest of his life. . . . Sherm Edwards riding a kiddy car. And Mrs. Currier's boy Herbert, out in Utah, missed the Lookout last month. Boy, oh boy, if we could only get somebody from byar to move to New York, and get Herb transferred to San Francisco, we'd be read from coast to coast. . . . Haven't heard from that anon. letter writer yet—and we still have the lettah. (Ah, a deep, dark, blackmail plot.

I saw her on Brd. St. Meticulously made up, immaculately dressed, tripping along as though she were 17 instead of 47. In a meaner moment I would have shouted: "Hey, there, don't stumble over the double chin." . . . But I didn't. . . . Add things I'm sorry for saying; For telling Miss Gress at West High once, after she had explained that Tennyson was a six foot he man, that he should have been a manual laborer instead of a poet. . . . Which reminds me that Miss Gress was one of my favorite teachers, tho I didn't know it then. . . . And likewise Miss Foster. . . . So flowers to both of them. . . . Haven't heard from Bob Sherwood in a spell, but a couple of months back he was the ace feature in a vaudeville show at Monmouth College in Ill., where he's a student. . . . I'm of a mind to turn out a pillar titled: "If I should Die Tonight". . . . Also "If I were the chief mudjemuck of the Hilltop"—a request from P. O'brien. . . . But I'm so lazy.

Waiting, just waiting, for a certain lad's public apology to a certain institution. . . . Sr. High girls will wear white frocks at graduation, and sleeves will be no shorter than elbow length. The hem line will be 10 to 12 in. north of the floor—no longer, no shorter. Jewlery and flowers will be taboo, and shoes will be of white kid and cuban heels. Hose of an off white shade will be preferred. . . . A number of French novels have been presented to the WHS library by the family of the late Olive Flowers, teacher at the local school for many years. . . . That WHS poet, who scribbles bunk about violets and roses and goldenrod growing in the woods. . . . The poet must go out in the woods sometime—to gather roses and golden-rod from the open field. . . . 1200 people attended a recital by Penelope Johnson, crack violinist, a while back. And now she'll attend the Juilliard School of Music in New York.

West Jr. Wins Opener

Hitting Features Games In Hilltop Church Ball Loop

Sullivant Friends, Hoge Memorial, Hillcrest Tied for League Lead After Games Monday.

With the resounding crash of base hits featuring all tilts, the second round of the Hilltop Church League was completed Monday evening on the Westgate and McKinley diamonds, and when a hundred players had finished traipsing about the paths, the tabulations indicated that one scoring record had been broken and Sullivant Avenue Friends, Hoge Memorial and Hillcrest Baptist nines rested together at the top of the 10-team heap.

Although Sullivant Friends victory over Hilltop C. of C. was not an upset, the 28 tallies the Quakers shoved across the rubber in the nine innings of play, while their opponents could garner but five, broke a league scoring record set up last year when Hoge Memorial trimmed the Tri Mus, 25 to 4.

Hoge Memorial continued its march and subdued the tough Nazarene nine, 10 to 3, Simms' fielding featuring the battle for the winners and the work of Glass standing out for the losers.

The slugging of Sam Toy and Howard Kent, with three hits each, and Don Shafer's four-hit hurling, were the highlights of Hillcrest's 14 to 4 win over St. John Lutheran. Blesch, on the mound for the losers, was accorded poor support at critical times.

Burgess U. B.'s 10 to 10 victory over Glenwood Tri Mu was the evening's biggest up-set, the winners wielding powerful bats, while the clubs of the losing squad were just a little less productive of runs.

Burwell's mound work for Westgate Evangelical, and the heavy stick-work of his mates, was sufficient to subdue the Glenwood M. E. team, 13 to 4.

Monday evening, the following games have been scheduled for Westgate Park: Glenwood Tri Mu vs. Sullivant Friends, No. 1; Glenwood M. E. vs. Warren Nazarene, No. 2; Westgate Evangelical vs. Hoge Memorial, No. 3; Hillcrest Baptist vs. Hilltop Church of Christ, No. 4; and St. John Lutheran vs. Burgess U. B., McKinley No. 4.

Three Teams Tied For League Lead

Gearhart, Derby Club and Sniff Nines Win Wednesday Games to Take Top Notch In Race.

Three teams in the Hilltop Merchant loop retained clean slates after Wednesday evening's games, and stand tied for the top position in the loop. Sniff Motor Sales, Gearhart's Hardware and the Derby Club squads are the favorites thus far.

Gearhart's, behind the excellent hurling of Burwell, defeated Kent Market, 8 to 3. Toy's fielding in center for the losers was outstanding, while Simm's defensive play stood out for the winners.

The Derby Club's second win was chalked up at the expense of Broad-Hague Pharmacy, 13 to 3, Hardy, Fulton and Nice performing well for the winners. Sims, on the mound for the losers, was accorded poor support.

The first shut-out of the season was recorded when Sniff Motor Sales defeated Penfield Market, 13 to 0. Porter and Mawhirter starred afield for Sniff's while Penfield stood out for the losers.

In the finale, Painter's Market won a thriller from Paley's Drugs, 7 to 6, Scott's ninth inning bingle concluding a late rally on the part of the grocerymen.

Cowboys Slated To Meet Lancaster In District Tourney

Battle With Fairfield Countians Scheduled For 2 o'Clock Today At Ohio State Stadium.

This afternoon, at 2 o'clock, as a result of a decision made late Wednesday by the Central District Board, West will meet Lancaster in the district Class A tournament, on the Ohio State varsity diamond. At 4 o'clock, East and South, other entrants in the district, will clash. The two winners will meet for the title Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Admission to the finale will be 25 cents.

The regularly scheduled city league games, in which West would have met North this afternoon on the home diamond, have consequently been postponed. The Cowboys will resume their chase for city honors on Tuesday, at Hurley Field, against the league-leading East nine. Next Friday, North will in all probability be met in the postponed game, unless the Cowboys cop the district tournament. In that case, they will participate in the state tournament, Friday and Saturday, May 18 and 19.

West will close its league season the following week, Tuesday, May 29, with South as the opposition. A clean sweep of the remaining games on the ranchmen's schedule will assure the squad of at least a tie for the top rung.

Pounding out 15 hits and taking advantage of 8 free passes, West scored 18 runs from four Aquinas pitcheres Tuesday, while Al Smith went the route, giving the Terriers eight scattered blows. As usual, the Cowboys were erratic afield behind him, and the Green counted six runs.

Redman was the offensive star, getting five safeties in six trips to the plate, while Link, Smith and Hunt each obtained two.

Class Play to Be Repeated Tonight At West High School Auditorium

Portraying a more or less "balled-up" romance of a trio of couples in a fine comedy Thursday evening, "Husband For Sale," West High's senior class play, will be repeated at the school auditorium at 8:15 o'clock this evening. A capacity house is expected at tonight's show. All seats are reserved.

After sensational maneuvers, June Stone, leading lady, finally landed the hero, Oscar Leach, who had been subjected to financial embarrassment by the depression, and who sold himself to the highest bidder among the elite.

Don Falkenberg, Leach's valet, however, steps in and takes possession of the rich maiden, Betty Entsminger. Pauline Rowland, Betty's stouey-hearted sister, adds much to the tangle of the various threads of romance.

Arthur Haines and Martha Swigert, an engaged couple, proved quite clever, and carried their burden of the plot out in perfect style.

Exceptionally well done was the work of Marjorie Wheeler and Burrell Drake, colored maid and chauffer respectively, as was also the playing of Hugh McKinley, minister.

The West High school orchestra, under the direction of H. E. Hutchinson, assisted before the show and between the acts with several numbers. Vocal solos by Arthur Currier, Bill Grace, Marjorie Fleming and Robert Ferguson, and instrumental solos by Edward Haas, Eldridge Boggs and Penelope Johnson, were also well received.

The play was produced under the direction of C. L. Leahy.

ONLY ONE OF OUR JOBS
Electricity - Household Servant

Maintaining a dependable source of light and power for the city and farm does not represent our only service to customers.

We refer to our service of acquainting customers with how electricity can be made a more efficient servant in the modern household.

We are prepared to demonstrate the use of electric appliances and their correct operation and maintenance.

Whether it is to demonstrate the greater usefulness of the electric range; or the greater convenience and economy of electric refrigeration;
or the desirability of more useful lighting and electric wiring;
or to investigate radio interference in the neighborhood;
or to tell of the part electricity plays in air conditioning homes;
our representatives are supplying the desired service.

If you are now using electrical appliances, or if you are purchasing others, we hope you will take advantage of this service in order to get the most efficiency from the appliances and the electricity you use.

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

DR. G. W. LOSE

No one more patient have I ever known than the late Dr. G. W. Lose. That quality, as he so abundantly exemplified it, stands out as the loftiest of the virtues. No kinder heart ever counselled his congregation; no steadier hand was more constant in pointing to the upward path; no soul so hurt when someone fell; no one so happy in helping the other fellow's boat across.

With patience he taught and led his people; in kindliness he lived with and for them; in jovial good humor he mingled with them. He taught them—not how to die—but how to live, and live abundantly.

I sat once, not long after his passing to happier shores, at his breakfast window. His oft-read Bible still laid upon the sill, and without, the fragrance of the unblemished morning seemed no finer or fresher than my memory of him. The red rose, dew sprinkled, unfolding in the garden outside the window was no more patient with the seasons than he. And no garden flower ever matched his life for beauty.

I work spasmodically. Whether there at the microscope, in the field or at the typewriter, what some refer to as "the mood" must strike me before fetching work materializes.

Often, in a ramble of many miles, specimens abundant remain untouched. Then, with sudden vivacity, I shall gather a basket-full in half an hour and never trudge a rod.

But when the fancy holds sway, thoughts tumble helter skelter in utter profusion. Yesterday, while writing a letter, notes were struck off on ideas for this pillar, a thesis paragraph, an experiment and another item that slips me even now.

And I dare not let them flit by unrecorded. They pile up then, never to be recalled, try as I will. They clog the stream of thought, as logs in a log-jam thwart a water's course—and serve the ends of discouragement.

Tag Draper (I shall never accustom myself to the Robert M. he uses in his professional capacity) has the most excellent memory of anyone I know. Reading casually through a volume—be it fiction or philosophy—he may quote passages verbatim months later. Yet, on scrap paper, ranging from calling cards to old cigarette packages, he forever scribbles addresses, quotations, etcetera, storing them away in his pockets, generally never to see them again.

It suddenly strikes me that silence is a giver of strength. Last week, midst the babble of gossip which crops out in the best of regulated organizations, I became aware of the fact, that to see better, one should be without the center of the whirlwind. In silence I retired, and have had no unnecessary words with my associates since. Today I am the most confident man in the array. They're wondering if I haven't a curve on the ball not yet used or displayed. Yet, come tomorrow, I shall be among the gabblers again, and they shall find that I am a marble shooter—not a pitcher.

Yesterday evening I strolled an fancy dictated through the Browning amphitheatre on the campus. With startling suddeness I came upon two collegiates in fond embrace. I turned my head as suddenly as they recoiled, with cynic Shopenhaur's classic passage whining through my brain——" If now, we contemplate the turmoil of life, we behold all occupied with want and misery . . . . In between, in the midst of the tumult, we see the glance of two lovers meet longingly; yet why so secretly, fearfully stealthily? Because these lovers are the traitors who seek to perpetuate the whole want and drudgery which would otherwise speedily reach an end."

In a generous moment tonight, I permitted Max McCarty to read the copy for the above. "That," said Max, "sounds like me when I'm drunk."

Plans Complete For West Broad Hobby Exhibit

Event Scheduled For Tuesday, May 22; Group to Elect Officers At Final Meeting.

Plans for the West Broad P.-T. A. Hobby Exhibit have been completed, according to an announcement made this week by the committee in charge. The event, which is open to non-professional residents of the community, will be held between 2 and 10 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium of the school.

Prizes will be awarded in the four divisions—for men, women, boys and girls—and decisions will be made by popular vote. Balloting will close at 9 o'clock, and the results will be announced before 10, it was learned. Three prizes will be awarded in each of the divisions.

All entries should be made at the school between 8 and 12 o'clock Tuesday morning, May 22. Exhibits may be called for immediately after 10 o'clock Tuesday evening, or on the following day.

In addition, a display of baked goods will be held, with A. Delvaux, chef at the Neil House, as judge. A prize will be offered to the winner in this event also. All goods will be sold between 4 and 6 p. m.

Mrs. John T. More, 253 N. Hague Ave., is in charge of the exhibit. Contestants seeking further information should get in touch with her.

21 to 6 Defeat at Hands of East Tuesday Eliminates Wisemen From Pennant Chase

Having been eliminated from the running for the 1934 city scholastic baseball gonfalon, West High's Cowboys will close the season next Tuesday, with South as the opponent. The game, originally slated for today, was postponed to allow the Bulldogs to participate in the state tournament being held at the O. S. U. diamonds.

The game with North, postponed when West played in the district tournament, has not, as yet, been rescheduled. Inasmuch as both teams are out of the running, it may be removed entirely from the schedule, though no official information has been forthcoming to that effect.

Tuesday, at Hurley Field, East put the clamps on any championship hopes the Cowboys may have entertained up to that time. Hitting Miller and Smith hard, the Tigers retained the top rung of the ladder with a 21 to 6 conquest. Scoring 12 runs in the second frame, after the locals had taken a one to nothing lead in the first, the Tigers were never headed or even threatened.

Last Saturday, the Cowboys were defeated in the central district finals by South, 22 to 5, after beating the undefeated Lancaster nine the day before, 8 to 4.

W. C. T. U. Speaker Slated At Hillcrest

Rev. Ada M. Hagler, Albion, Ill., an ordained minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, will be the speaker at a rally of local W. C. T. U. forces at the Hilltop next Monday evening, May 21, at the Hillcrest Baptist church.

The meeting is being held under the auspices of the Franklin County W. C. T. U., the Hilltop Ministerial association cooperating. Rev. C. D. Osborn will be in charge of the music. The program will start at 8 o'clock.

Tenth Ward Meeting

As Decoration Day falls on the date of the regular meeting of the Tenth Ward Republican Club, the meeting will be held next Wednesday evening, May 23, at 8:00 o'clock in the W. O. W. hall, West Broad street and Lechner avenue. Election of officers will be held and several speakers will be present. All members asked to attend.

Men Called

Men of the Wheatland Avenue M. E. church have been asked to attend a special meeting at the parsonage tonight, May 18, at 326 S. Wheatland Ave. Women of the congregation will meet at the church, it was announced by Rev. B. F. Holloway, pastor.

Correction

Acknowledgement of an error in a story carried in last week's issue of the Record regarding the former pastor of the Wheatland M. E. church is made this week. The former pastor of the congregation was Rev. Roberts, and not Rev. Ashburn. Rev. Ashburn is pastor of the Oakley Avenue Baptist church.

W. H. Deems Rites Held On Monday

One of Founders of Hoge Memorial Church Succumbs Saturday Following Heart Attack.

Funeral services for William Henry Deems, aged 60, of 33 S. Westmoor Ave., who succumbed Saturday morning, May 12, after a heart attack, were held Monday afternoon, May 14, from the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian church, which he helped found and where he was a member. Interment was in the Memorial Burial Park by C. J. Kohn.

Mr. Deems, with the Rev. Walter Huston, assisted in the establishment of the Hoge Memorial congregation at its original site now occupied by the Voss Bros. motor car dealers. The site was first occupied by a saloon, to be taken over by the new church when first organized.

He was born near Camp Chase, and has lived most of his life on the Hilltop. He resided two years in Buffalo, N. Y., and two years in Oklahoma.

Throughout his life, he was an active member of the church he helped found, and at his death he was serving as elder, having been elected just a few weeks ago.

Besides his wife, Minnie F. Deems, he is survived by one son, Herbert O. Deems, 62 Nw Ave., former president of the Hilltop Business Men's association and secretary of the Hilltop Building and Loan; one daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Jordan, 127 S. Thoughtless Destruction!

EDITORIAL

It is a rather low type of individual—made even worse by the fact that it is old enough to know better, that destroys property wantonly, for no apparent reason at all—merely thoughtlessly and heedlessly satiating a lust for destruction.

Such is the type of hoodlum that has played havoc with all attempts of officials at West Broad St. school to beautify the grounds surrounding the building. Last week, two days after trees had been planted, high school boys and rowdies beyond the high school age, pulled out the plants, stripped some of branches and destroyed the tops of others. Year after year, such destruction to school property has occurred. It is time some action is taken.

One wonders, sometimes, what type of mental reactions, if any, pervade the minds of such people. And when the performance is repeated, by the same group, it is well nigh time to investigate.

The crowd which perpetrates these acts—and they're too numerous to mention in toto—operates from the vicinity of Hague and Broad. The very nature of the gang's activities indicates that there is too much loafing going on. This in turn, produces the undesirable results, or the opportunity for the same, noted above.

And no policeman—merely passing by—will curb it. It will take more diligent effort on the part of the police department. Such effort is much to be desired.

1934 Cowboy Grid Schedule Complete

Announcement was made Wednesday of this week by Head Coach Harold E. Wise, that the 1934 Cowboy football schedule had been completed, nine games being carded, five of which will be played on the local gridiron.

The season will be opened on Sept. 15 with the Scarlet invading Coshocton. The campaign will close Nov. 16, when North, West's most bitter foe, visits the Cowboy stronghold. Two night games have been carded, against South and Central. The local squad's first home appearance will be against Dayton Steele on Oct. 5.

The complete schedule follows:

Sept. 22—At Newark.
Sept. 28—At South (night).
Oct. 5—Dayton Steele.
Oct. 12—At Central (night).
Oct. 19—Aquinas.
Oct. 26—Open.
Nov. 3—Middletown.
Nov. 9—East.
Nov. 16—North.

Rain Halts Play In Church League

Sullivant Friends and Hillcrest to Battle Monday; Westgate to Meet Burgess U. B.

Following the cancellation of all games in the Hilltop Church League Monday evening due to rain and wet grounds, activities will be resumed Monday, May 21, when the regularly scheduled fourth round battles will be played. Postponed games from last Monday will be played later in the season, according to officials at the recreation department.

The feature attraction Monday will be the Hillcrest Baptist-Sullivant Ave. Friends melee, both teams being tied at present with Hoge Maorial for first place. The game is scheduled for Westgate diamond No. 3.

Hardly of less interest is the Westgate-Burgess U. B. conflict, both squads, in the present standings, being within striking distance of the leaders. The two will meet on Westgate No. 2 diamond.

Warren Nazarene should have little difficulty in defeating Hilltop C. of C. on the Westgate No. 4 lot, and Hoge Memorial should experience even less trouble in disposing of the crippled St. John nine on diamond No. 1. In the final battle at McKinley No. 4, the Glenwood Tri Mus and Glenwood M. E. will meet, in what, in other years, has proved to be more or less of a civil war. The two squads split even in two meetings last year, 8 to 7 and 2 to 4. This battle for last place should be interesting.

Race Narrows In Merchant Circuit

Derby Club Falls Before Attack of Paley Drug Nine; Gearhart's, Sniff's Undefeated.

With the Derby Club falling before a terrific onslaught from the bats of Paley Drugs Wednesday evening, another of the leaders fell by the wayside in the rapidly narrowing race for top honors in the Hilltop Merchant League. Meanwhile, Sniff Motors and Gearhart Hardware nines continued with immaculate records to lead the circuit.

The Paley Drug-Derby Club game was a wild affair, the lead switching on various occasions, with the druggists finally emerging on the long end of a 19 to 14 score, thereby recording their initial victory of the campaign and giving the Derbyites their first defeat.

Gearhart Hardware had little difficulty in subduing Painter's Grocery No. 2 in chalking up its third consecutive win, 11 to 4. At the same time, Sniff Motor baseballers equalled the Gearhart string of victories, shutting out Penfield Market, 5 to 0. It was the third consecutive loss for the grocerymen.

In the final fracas, Reese's four-hit hurling led the Kent Food Market aggregation to a 6 to 2 win over Broad-Hague Pharmacy. The druggists marred the southpaw's chance at a shut-out by combining two hits, a walk and an error after two were out in the ninth to tally their runs.

Games next week include: Paley Drugs vs. Sniff Motors, No. 1; Kent Food Market vs. Penfield Market, No. 2; Gearhart Hardware vs. Broad-Hague Pharmacy, No. 3; and Painter Grocery No. 2 vs. Derby Club, No. 4.

Millikin to Seek Installation Of Sullivant Buses

Claims It Will Be Impossible To Operate Street Cars Over Local Tracks Through Next Winter

Claiming that the present tracks on Sullivant Ave. and Town St. are not capable of withstanding another winter's use by the Railway Power and Light and Cincinnati and Lake Erie Interurban Co., Wyatt L. Millikin, city councilman from the Hilltop, instigated action this week that may eventually lead to the installation of a bus service on the Sullivant avenue lines.

Unless something is done by city council immediately, several thousand Hilltoppers will be without transportation facilities by November, according to the claims of the solon, who, with council president Frank C. Karns and councilman John M. Lewis compose a committee to study the problem.

According to officials of the Ref Light Co., arrangements must be made by August if transportation is to be available to Hilltoppers in November. It will require four months, it was indicated, to have trackless trolleys constructed and the double overhead wires. The officials of the company agreed that use of the present tracks would be impossible through the coming winter.

The tracks are now owned by the C. & L. E. Interurban Co., the franchise expiring in July.

Millikin insists that the tracks be removed or covered over after the expiration of the franchise.

The committee, appointed by council Monday evening, will contact companies which will be able to offer Columbus a bus system which may supplant street cars altogether.

"Il Trovatore" to Be Presented In English

Reerved tickets are selling at an unprecedented rate for the May 29th performance of "Il Trovatore," to be presented in English by the Columbus Civic Opera company on their own enlarged stage at Memorial Hall, the three opera box offices report.

Mr. A. F. Messerschmidt, 458 S. Huron Ave., is one of the newest members of the company. He is the husband of Martha Messerschmidt, heard last fall as Lucia in the civic opera's "Cavalleria Rusticana." Both Mr. and Mrs. Messerschmidt are singing in "Il Trovatore," in which the principal role of "Azucena" will be sung by Madame Marta Wittkowska, who made her American debut in this role with the Metropolitan at Philadelphia. She has sung it in all the major European opera houses and has attracted capacity houses for some fifteen performances of "Il Trovatore" at the Cincinnati Zoo Opera company.

Other principals to be heard in this opera, which Professor Eugene J. Weigel will direct, are Blair Stewart, Ellis Hopkins Selby, Harold A. Imhoff, Helen Stevenson, Belford Cheatle and Harold E. Imhoff.

PREHISTORIC INDIANS BUILDERS OF VILLAGES

Prehistoric Indians are believed to have built a series of villages on the flat stretches of the Little Dragoon Mountains of southeastern Arizona. Among the boulders above are a great number of natural caves which also show signs of occupation, and it is believed that the Indians stored water and grain in them and retreated there for safety when an enemy attacked their segregated, defenseless villages below. To add to the safety of their mountain retreat there is a natural lookout from which they could watch the approach of their enemies—a huge hole, about four feet in diameter, which allowed a sentinel to see an enemy miles before he came within striking distance. Until about half a century ago both the caves and the lookout were used by the Apaches.

Cattle Bridge

The state of New Hampshire has solved satisfactorily the irritating problem of getting cows across a much-traveled public highway. When the state planned to build a new twenty-foot concrete road from Salem to Manchester, it secured part of the land belonging to a big cattle farm. In exchange for the use of this land, last year the state fulfilled its promise to complete a cattle bridge across the new highway so that the cows can cross the road safely.

Fried Bananas

Peel the bananas, cut in halves crosswise or in quarters, and roll in sifted, dry bread crumbs or in rolled cornflake crumbs. Fry in very hot, deep fat (395 degrees F.) until light brown. Drain on soft paper and serve with broiled chops, steaks, or ham. A simpler method is to split the bananas, roll in flour, and saute on both sides, using a small amount of butter in a hot frying pan. Bananas may also be broiled in 3 or 4 minutes. Peel and place under the broiler during the last few minutes that the meat is broiling.

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

It makes me sad to see Boy Scouts I once led, duck their faces and turn their heads when they pass me on the street. . . . That new Hilltop Dramatics club, soon to be organized, deserves a big plaudit. . . . That local ball player—a second baseman—who decided some chawin tobacco would keep him from getting nervous. So he tried it one evening, and strode up to a fellow player in a typically professional fashion. . . . "Howdy," says he . . . but as the final syllable was released, so was his dinner. . . . You'd really chuckle if I described the chap. . . . Harold Denton's wife permits him to carry matches, but may veto that privilege anytime now. . . . Bob Loesser gets his hair cut only in the dark of the moon. . . . Leona Persons, who strolled from her parents' home on No. Eureka to this office this wk., unaware of an embroidery hoop on her head—halo-like—placed there by her two-year-old son.

Bill Boyd was named a member of the A. A. P. O. Sun.! . . . He will munch the royal manna and quip from the regal goblet at special ceremonies next month. . . . "I believe in education," an aged ridge runer from the hinterland told a local gentleman this week. "Everybuddy otta be able to read and rite a littul, and maybe cipher a bit". . . . If my good friend Gentle had only pitched ball like he fit with his team-mate, what a time they'd have had looking for a place to jam the championship trophy. . . . Chirruppy Milly says she don't likta be mentioned along with Sherm Edards and the rest of those thar Hague-Broad roustabouts. . . . I'm informed that it's Colonel Durflinger. . . . not Doctah. . . . And lo, Maxine McCarty thinks he's the ace stooge mentioned a fortnight back, and of whom we wouldn't babble for the world. . . . Well, we won't print the ace's name, Max, Max, Max, McCarty, McCarty, McCarty. . . . And so, we're signing off for some spell to come.

Leaders Undefeated In Merchant League

Sniff Motors, Gearhart's Hardware Continue Fast Pace; Kent Market Close Up.

Four games in the Hilltop Merchant League ran true to form Wednesday evening on the Westgate diamonds and as a result, Sniff Motors and Gearhart's Hardware nines continue together on the top rung of the ladder.

Sniff's had little difficulty in subduing Paley Drugs, 6 to 1 behind Sunker's hurling, while Burwell for Gearhart's eased up a bit while his mates pounded out a 13 to 6 win over Broad-Hague Pharmacy.

Games Called

Next Wednesday's games in the Hilltop Merchant's League have been called off on account of the holiday conflict. The scheduled battles will be played on the following Wednesday, June 6. In the second round, games scheduled for July 4, have also been delayed one week.

Kent Food Market continued on the trail of the leaders with a victory over a more or less stubborn Penfield Market nine. The final count was 11 to 4. In the finale, Painter No. 2 hit its stride and put the skids under the high flying Derby Club to the tune of 11 to 1.

Games for Wednesday evening, June 6, are: Painter No. 2 vs. Broad-Hague Drugs, No. 1; Kent Food Market vs. Sniff Motors, No. 2; Paley Drugs vs. Penfield Market, No. 3; Derby Club vs. Gearhart Hardware, No. 4.

Nephew Drowned At Zanesville Tuesday

Mrs. Hailey Burnside, 548 N. Hague Ave., was called to Zanesville Wednesday because of the death of her nephew, John Hutsel, aged 17, who was accidently drowned Tuesday. The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hutsel, formerly of Belvidere avenue, who only recently moved to Zanesville. A sister of the dead boy, Ruth Hutsel, aged 10, makes her home with Mrs. Burnside.

Hoge Memorial and Hillcrest Baptist Tie for Loop Lead

Burgess Threatens Champ's Position In Feature Battle Monday Evening.

With Sullivant Ave. Friends collapsing before the thunder of Hillcrest Baptist bats and Hoge Memorial hammering out a victory over St. John Lutheran, the Hilltop Church League race went into a two-way tie Monday evening which bids fair to remain unbroken until June 11, when the two bitter rivals clash on Westgate diamond No. 1 in a renewal of the classic series which terminated the campaign last fall.

Monday evening, R. Wolfe of St. John Lutheran deprived Wilcox of Hoge Memorial of a no-hit game when he poked out a single, the only hit off the delivery of the Presbyterian ace. Heavy slugging on the part of his mates produced a 16 to 1 win.

Managers Notice

Postponed games from Monday, May 14, in the Hilltop Church League, may be played at a time convenient to both teams, it was announced by the recreation department this week. Arrangements should be made with the department officials in order that an umpire may be provided.

Unless games are played off in this fashion, they will be played as parts of double-headers in the second round.

Dave Ballard, with a homer and triple numbered among his four hits, led the Hillcrest attack against Sullivant Friends, the Quakers suffering their initial loss to the tune of 18 to 3. Gross was the loser's best player.

In a decided up-set, Burgess U. B. decisioned the favorite Westgate Evangelical nine by a 7 to 6 score. It marked the second win of the season for the Brethren, who now appear as dark horses in the race, capable of tripping up the dopsters at any time.

In other games, Glenwood M. E. broke into the win column and sent the Tri Mus down to their third straight loss by winning 13 to 6 in a game played on the State Hospital lot. Warren Nazarene took a 9 to 0 forfeit from Hilltop C. of C.

Games scheduled for Monday in the circuit are: Glenwood M. E. vs. Hilltop C. of C., No. 1; Warren Ave. Nazarene vs. St. John Lutheran, No. 2; Westgate Evangelical vs. Sullivant Ave. Friends, No. 3; Burgess U. B. vs. Hillcrest Baptist, No. 4; and Hoge Memorial and Glenwood Tri Mus at State Hospital No. 2.

Cowboys to Close Ball Season Today

Final Fracas of Campaign Scheduled for Local Diamond This Afternoon At 3 o'Clock.

With the North-West baseball game this afternoon, the scholastic diamond campaign will come to a close. Win or lose, the local aggregation will end up an on and off campaign in first division. Coach Wise has not indicated who will hurl the finale, although several tossers may see action of Polar Bear bats thunder as they can.

Link Hurls Shut-Out

Tuesday afternoon, on the home lot, Frank Link, steller third sacker for the Cowboys, took the mound against the Bulldogs of South High and turned in a neat job of hurling.

Through the seven inning fracas he permitted but two safe wallops, and it was the seventh frame before a Bulldog got so far as first base. Meanwhile, after an inauspicious start, West, led by the clouting of Francis, chalked up five runs, four of which came in the fifth inning. Dick Francis was the only player on either squad to get two blows, both of his being two ply wallops.

For the first time this season, the locals played errorless ball afield.

In Musical Program

The four choirs of the Oakley Avenue Baptist church will present a musical program at the church on Sunday afternoon, May 27, at 3 o'clock. The public is invited.

Junior Cowboys Trim Starling 2-1—First Victory Over Team in Many Moons

It has been many moons since West Jr. High school could boast of a victory over Starling Jr. High champion in baseball for the past four years in its circuit. In fact, memory of such a victory would be a news item in itself.

But at the present writing Coach George Williams and his battling baseballers have done just that—in convincing fashion, and by the time this story is off the press, a championship trophy may be on its way to the local school. For last night, the final obstacle of the year—Champion—was to have been met on the West dimond!

Last Thursday, on the local lot, behind the five hit hurling of Graves, West Jr. beat Starling Jr., 2 to 1, in a brilliantly played game. It was a nip and tuck affair all the way through, but Graves had the upper hand, fanning nine of the Central Ave. boys.

Monday, Pilgrim bowed to the hammering of local bats by a 7 to 2 score. And maybe now, Champion has also been tripped up.

Local Boy Drowns In Scioto River Decoration Day

Jimmy Walsh, On Family Picnic, Wades Into Deep Water N. of Fishinger's Bridge.

A family picnic ended in tragedy Memorial Day when Jimmy Walsh, aged six, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Walsh, 128 Clarendon Ave., waded beyond his depth in the Scioto River, north of Fishinger's Bridge, and was drowned.

The mishap occurred about 4:30 Wednesday afternoon, the lad suddenly stepping off into 15 feet of water while his parents watched a ball game nearby. An unidentified woman attempted to rescue him, but nearly succumbed herself before being rescued by Lester Vaughn, 1307 Broadview Ave.

The Walsh family, with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Downey, 636 S. Ogden Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. John McGovern of the Clarendon avenue address, went to Riverside Park Wednesday afternoon. The body was brought up by Robert Vincent, 500 Gates St., and William W. Campbell, 1964 N. High St., after efforts of a dozen others had failed to locate the boy.

Artificial respiration efforts and use of the fire department's new inhalator, failed to revive the lad. He was pronounced dead at 8 o'clock.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Junior and Francis, who were playing ball at the time of the drowning. Three McGovern children, Barbara Ann, Billy and Dick, with three Downey children, Joe, Raymond and Bobby, were also in the game.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed Thursday.

Zeier Named

Anthony F. Zeier, 158 Highland Ave., has been named president of the West Side Davey for Governor Club. Other officers include: Mary E. Frank, 1935 Floral Ave., vice president; and James V. Devereaux, 71 Avondale Ave., secretary.

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

Whoops! H. Hastings changed beds after the regulation one had fallen apart twice tother wk. And lo, the slats fell out of the darned thing, which leads this dept to suggest that either Nafzger try to make a sale, or Dr. Turner make an examination. With present evidence, we don't know whether it's the beds or Helen which causes the trouble. . . . Mrs. Kohn (Cliff's spouse trudging up the street with a large waste basket and a tin cup. She was approaching the Economy Variety store when our stooge learned her, and rumor hath it that as soon as she can find a suitable variety of dark glasses and a good cane, she will occupy the corner at Broad and Hague (Prosperity Center of the mid atlantic states . . Although definite reports are vague, it has been indicated that she will use the waste basket for collecting coins. . . But we suggest that she take another corner, with Sherm Edwards, Doc Dorflinger and Campbell, Milly, Tom Zelkof and Ray Haunts out thar. And to top it all off, Doc. Lose ambles up every once in a while. Even the cops can't help her, cause Leo Phillips got the way he is living close to Sherm (Fire Chief) Edwards.

People still call this column the spectator—which will please Hartley, the old scalawag. . . . Forest Martens answered a preacher's query with "I do" on Apr. 29. . . . That dawg at 90 N. Warren looks like the animal in those "Our Gang" comedies. . . . I tried to tell him that evolution never went backwards, but Paw says he knows a lotta ginks that give evidence sufficient to prove the theory. . . . Jean Scott's first name is Thomas. . . And Rudy Schmidt's correct initial handle is Frank. . . . And Joe Murphy's first name is John. . . . Whatever became of Elodie McMaken—whose correct first name was and still is, Bertha. . . Wonder where Bobby Dent got to. There was a rascal for you, but a great little guy at that. . . . Someday we'll write a column composed entirely of what someone else wants told about someone else—So babblers, forewarned is forearmed. We are listnin.

Tri Mus Beat Hoge Monday; Hillcrest Takes First Place

Loren Corder Is Master of High Flying Presbys In Season's First Major Up-set.

Serving notice on the powers that be in the Hilltop Church League, Glenwood Tri Mus, strengthened in every department of the game, struck out for far places Monday evening on the State Hospital diamond, and when the shadows had lengthened, Hoge Memorial's invincible baseballers had bowed down to a 2 to 1 defeat. It was the first major up-set of the season, perpetrated by an outfit thrice wallopped in as many starts, and permitted Hillcrest Baptists to take the lone lead in the circuit.

Loren Corder, once again the old master, turned back the heavy bats of the Presbyterians in a fashion rarely seen. Granting but four clean safeties, he fanned a dozen. In addition, he was accorded sensational support afield, Wilcox once robbing Fulton of a home run with a brilliant catch in center field.

Ed Halley, State Hospital hurler; Claude Chrisman, West High coach, and George Williams, West Jr. High coach, have been added to the Tri Mu roster, and all are eligible for play, it was announced this week.

Hillcrest Baptist's heavy hitting which featured the champion's victory over Burgess U. B., coupled with Hoge's defeat, sent the former squad into first place. The final score was 11 to 4. Green was the best performer for the losers, while Whetstone and Ballard stood out for the winners.

In a heavy hitting fracas, Hilltop Church of Christ finally broke into the win column at the expense of Glenwood M. E. The final count was 15 to 12, with Morgan and Minemyer leading the attack of the winners and Walker playing well for Glenwood.

Warren Nazarene remained in the race at the second notch by turning back St. John Lutheran by a 13 to 2 score. But three hits were garnered off the delivery of Reese, while his mates all hit hard. Dick Bateman played well for the losers and scored both of their runs.

Sullivant Friends were eliminated from the first round running by Westgate Evangelical, 12 to 8. Mason, in the field and at bat, was the game's best performer while Myers wielded his usual potent club for the losers.

Burgess U. B. and St. John Lutheran will play a postponed game tonight on Westgate No. 1 diamond.

Games Monday in the league are: At Westgate: St. John Lutheran vs. Westgate Evangelical, No. 1; Burgess U. B. vs. Hilltop C. of C., No. 2; Warren Nazarene vs. Glenwood Tri Mu, State Hospital No. 2; Hillcrest Baptist vs. Glenwood M. E., Westgate No. 3; Hoge Memorial vs. Sullivant Friends, No. 4.

West Junior Nine To Play For Title This Afternoon

For the first time since 1931, when West Jr. High baseballers under Gosnell Layman, played for the city championship, the local squad will have an opportunity to cop the coveted honor this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock on the Ohio State freshman diamond.

Indianola will be the opposition, a squad once defeated by the Hilltoppers this season in a practice game, 10 to 9.

Starting on the hillock for the Williams' coached crew will be either Graves or Johnson, with the other taking care of left field. Behind the bat, Frasure will be stationed.

At first base, Kuhn or Bradley will get the call, with Hughes patrolling the keystone sector. Jones will be in the short field with Larkin at third base. The remaining outfield positions will be played by Nelson, Miller or Weisert.

In ten games thus far in the race, West Jr. has won nine, including five league battles. A practice tilt with Barrett was the only loss sustained, and that by a four to three score. The season's scores follow: West 6, Crestview 4; West 3, Barrett 4; West 10, Indianola 9; West 15, Everett 7; West 17, American Legion 15; and league games—West 14, Franklin 0; West 19, McKinley 1; West 2, Starling 1; West 7, Pilgrim 2; West 23, Champion 1.

Twelve athletes will receive letters at special assembly exercises next week. They include: Infielders Palmer, Larkins, Jones, Kuhn; outfielders Weisert, Nelson, Hughes and Bradley; pitchers Graves and Johnson; catcher Frasure; and manager Minnemyer.

The team is coached by George Williams, the aggregation being his first since coming to the school last February. Gosnell Layman, who formerly coached at West Jr., led the team to the play-off in 1931, Barrett winning the city title, 6 to 5.

Wet Hands Save 99 Out of 100 Fish, Says U. S. Expert

Wet hands, gentle hands, and the heart of the Barefoot Boy will mean much to the nation through President Roosevelt's huge wildlife restoration program from now until ice again locks the streams and lakes in winter's grip, according to a bulletin of the American Game association, for some 15,000,000 Barefoot Boys and men with the heart of the Barefoot Boy will sally forth many times to try their luck at fishing.

Wet hands can be made to save millions of undersized fish so that they may grow up to be big fish. Comes now Talbott Desmond, of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries showing just how great a savings may be made in wetting the hands and putting back undersized fish. An experiment carried on recently by the Bureau shows that practically 99 out of 100 fish so handled survive.

"Out of 288 smallmouth black bass, caught on treble hooks, and then transported in buckets and automobiles, only four died!" Mr. Desmond said. These fish were put in brood ponds at the Bureau's fish hatchery in West Virginia and were observed for months so there can be no dispute about that.

Many sportsmen have questioned the wisdom of putting back undersized fish that had been hooked, fearing that they would die. They maintained that they should be kept and counted in the bag limit.

It seems that the only appreciable danger is not in the hooking but the handling of the fish in taking it off the hook or hooks, the association bulletin points out. If the hands are dry they disturb the mucous protective sheet or "slime" on the outside of the fish, and fungi attack the disturbed places and kill the fish eventually. By wetting the hands thoroughly and handling the fish gently, preferably by grasping the fish by the under jaw rather than by the body, this danger is eliminated. Some scientists, however, are advancing a new theory with the same result, that if the slime is disturbed "salt water fish died of thirst" and that "fresh water fish drown." Whatever the real cause, the result is the same—wet hands save the fish; dry hands cause its death, the bulletin concludes.

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

A SEC'S REPORT

How come you never acknowledged Bobb Harper's note from Manassas, Va. He's back now, and all set for the Naval Acad. exams, where he'd like to learn to be a sailor. . . . You must get Harry Butler to explain how he keeps from gashing his cigars while sleeping at night. . . . Word concerning Mr. Magly's middle name has not arrived yet. . . . Dr. C. Fry has something he wants printed about you, but I told him you bragged too much already. . . . Gozie Layman called, and wrote a note. His teams beat Starling plenty since 1925, and you were all wet about the thing I told him I thought you would be sorry. . . . Henry McIragon will leave for Oregon soon. He says he's planning on getting married in three years. His girl is moving back to Jerseyville soon. . . . Ann Ruether thinks your stuff is awful weak when you scribble other than the usual hash. . . . That dope you've been waiting to print about the Alumni Assn. helping select Mr. Magly's successor, need never be used. It wouldn't be right. . . . You were right and I was wrong about the football suits at W. Hi next year. . . . They'll be scarlet and buff, but don't call 'em crimson. . . . Walter Winchell says imitation is the worst kind of an insult. . . . I should like to tell him for you that excellent things are never approached by imitation. Only hashy-trash, which often is bettered by imitation. . . . You've been threatening to stop operating the L. O. for six months. . . . several have wondered why not. . . . Fred Decker, an old pal of yours, is in Honolulu. . . . been there for a long time. Why didn't you mention it?

You were right about Helen H. It wasn't the bed, but her. She's decided to check up and see if Fray Luys de Granada's work was right. He counted the welds in the Bible, you know. . . . Mrs. Curtis, of 300 Hague Ave., dropped a line. She says the thief who stole her garden hose is all wet—that is, if he used them. For they were very leaky. . . . Ty Thompson's complaining again. Says you don't give him timely publicity, and the ladies are losing track of him. . . . You probably know about the absent minded trick your daddy pulled. Having had his teeth extracted, he went to the ball game. And the first thing he did was buy two sacks of peanuts—couldn't eetem. . . . Mrs. Denton called (Harold's wife). Says thanx for information about Harold carrying matches. She didn't know it, but will attend to it at once. . . . A local lady wants to know if Max McCarty is as bad as you make him out to be. We told her that the answer was "yes, much worse." But you were defending him. He needs it, too, after crashing the social page of the morning rag last week. . . . You got that Forrest Martens marriage all mixed up. . . . It is slated for Aug. 31, not Apr. 29, and Dave Ballard will be the next best man. . . . I was told to tell you that Guy Kellar will depart for California soon.

You should thank Doc Lose for that letter he sent. It is the best you ever received. . . . O. H. Craft has some figures on how the church has fared during the depression. He wants you to use the stuff editorially. I shall tell him you don't do editorials. . . . Jayne Hartley was up. Says your last week's column was beeyootiful. But I'm not sure she meant it. . . . Jerry DeRolph is improving at Mt. Carmel Hosp., where he was operated on Friday for appendicitis. . . .

Ray Haunts was in. Said for you not to believe anything that Sherm Edwards tells you about him. . . . They think, out at Hague and Broad, that Dr. Mathews told you about Col. Durflinger, but I never said yes or no to it. . . . This is a terribly long report, I know, but you've been so erratic lately. . . . No, no mail from Frank, but he's getting along. . . . And when in the mood sometime, why don't you do a piece about Helen O'Neil—she was a grand lady

Hoge Memorial And Hillcrest Teams To Clash In Crucial Game Monday Evening On Westgate Diamond No. 1

League Leadership Hangs In Balance As Bitter Rivals Meet; Wilcox for Hoge and Shafer for Hillcrest, to Be Opposing Hurlers.

Monday evening, barring inclement weather or sudden postponement, Hoge Memorial and Hillcrest baseball teams, virtually tied for the leadership in the Hilltop recreation ball circuit, will cross bats for the first time since last September, the league leadership and perhaps the first round championship, hanging in the balance.

A bitter struggle is in the offing, with both teams evenly matched and nursing immaculate records to date. Despite the fact that Glenwood Tri Mu decisioned the Presbyterians two weeks ago, the game is scheduled to go to Hoge via the forfeit route at a meeting of the protest board next week.

The game is scheduled to get under way at 6 o'clock on Westgate diamond No. 1, with Wilcox and Holycross forming the Hoge battery and Shafer and Whetstone performing at the points for the Baptists.

Monday evening, Sullivant Avenue Friends almost spilled the dope bucket in extending Hoge to 10 innings before an error permitted the Presbyterians to win 5 to 4. St. John Lutheran, fast improving, erred too frequently, however, and Westgate Evangelical won 7 to 5. Hillcrest had little difficulty in defeating Glenwood M. E., 13 to 3, and Burgess U. B. hit its stride again to defeat Hilltop C. of C., 13 to 2.

In other games scheduled for Monday evening, June 11, Warren Avenue Nazarene will meet Burgess U. B. on Westgate No. 2. On No. 3, Glenwood M. E. and Sullivant Avenue Friends will clash with Westgate Evangelical and Hilltop C. of C. slated for No. 4 diamond. At the State Hospital, Glenwood Tri Mu is carded to hook up with St. John Lutheran.

Kent Market In Win Over Sniff's

Reese Hurls Brilliantly to Decision Sunker in Mound Dual, 2 to 1; Gearhart's At Top.

Hopping on George Sunker in the opening inning for three hits, one a mighty double to left by Bob Donner, which scored two runs, Kent's Market dashed back into the running in the Hilltop Merchant League Wednesday by defeating Sniff Motors, 2 to 1. Donner's double, on any lot other than the wretched Westgate field, would have gone for a homer, but the ploughed condition of the field, water covered in spots, made ground rules necessary.

The game was a hurling duel throughout, with Emerson Reese in the role of star performer. But two hits were made off the ace southpaw, one of these coupled with an error giving the erstwhile league leaders their lone tally. The grocers hit Sunker safely eight times, but after the disastrous initial frame, the blows were sparsely scattered.

Gearhart's Hardware failed to increase its lead in the circuit, being held to a 14 to 14 tie by the Derby club. The game was called on account of darkness at the end of the tenth inning. Penfield's Market, in the third fracas of the evening, defeated Paley's Drugs, 7 to 6, in an up-set. In the finale, Painter's Market pounded out a 16 to 3 win over Broad-Hague Pharmacy.

Games scheduled for next week at Westgate Park are: Painter No. 2 vs. Penfield Market on diamond No. 1; Paley's Drugs vs. Broad-Hague Drugs, No. 2; Derby Club vs. Kent's Food Market, No. 3, and Gearhart's Hardware vs. Sniff Motors, No. 4.

Cliff Boye's Name Goes On Agonis Plaque at West

The annual honor, bestowed upon the athlete attaining the highest scholastic standing at each of the six Columbus schools—was won this year by Cliff Boye at West High, according to an announcement released this week. The award is made annually to the boy who wins at least five letters and is also high standing scholastically.

His name, along with the names of five others since the plaque was originally donated by the Agonis Club, will be engraved on the trophy which hangs in the trophy case at the school. Others winning the award include Dave Ballard, 1928; Roger Mason, 1931; Woodrow Wilts, 1932; and Charles Casey, 1933. No awards were made during 1929 and 1930.

Cliff's athletic ability during his three years at the local school, where he came from Starling Jr. High, has been one of the reasons for the high standing of the Cowboys in three fields of endeavor.

Boye was a guard in basketball for three years, played three years of baseball as an infielder and participated in three years of football, last year being named honorary captain and All-High quarterback.

Hoge to Protest

Glenwood Tri Mu's 2 to 1 victory over Hoge Memorial, May 28, will be protested at the next meeting of the protest board at the city recreation department, according to George Hardy, manager of the Presbyterians. Milk Bath

England's famous Westminster Abbey recently received a bath of gallon after gallon of skimmed milk. Experts advised the use of milk, not only to clean the stone thoroughly, but also to help to preserve it. The full value of the milk bath will not be apparent until about five years have passed.

Test Dental Fillings

Various materials for dental fillings are tested in a unique way by the United States Bureau of Standards. The samples are placed in a mechanical mouth, which then bites down upon them. The pressure registered when such test filling breaks determines its relative strength.

New Columbia River Dam

Preliminary work is being done on the building of a $170,000,000 dam over the Columbia River about ninety miles northwest of Spokane, Washington. When the plans are completed, the Grand Coulee dam will be 4200 feet long and the highest overflow dam in the world. It will increase the power of the Columbia River from fifty to one hundred per cent and no doubt lead to a marvelous development of the entire Northwest.

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

The disease is becoming contagious. . . . Bill Hicks fell outa bed tother nite. . . . Mary and Dave Randall are the community's most pestiferous punsters, Mr. Stooge reports. . . . Ty Thompson is doing night-watchman duty now, and with the coin he makes, is helping the lady buy furniture. . . . That local lady, doing up a special mixture of whipped cream and crushed strawberries to cover angelfood cake for last Sunday's dinner, decided it needed sweetnin. . . . So she dumped some of what she that was powdered sugah in the stuff, and lo, it was starch—the kind you wash with. . . . And by golly, the guests ate it. . . . Which reminds me of the fact that V. Wolfe (my paw), is headed for the presidency of the league for the absent-minded. . . . He went down town last week with two varieties of shoes on—the left of one pair and the right of another. . . . Dovey Rea sure is dodging Shirley Umbenhaur (Kohn, Spears, Allen, and Shroyer keep on the lookout) . . . Roody Baesman has settled down.

O. H. Craft Files For Primaries

To Enter Race for Republican Nomination As State Representative.

O. H. Craft, 59 Maple Dr., Rowe, O., with business offices at 2500 W. Broad St., announced Wednesday of this week that his petition had been filed for candidacy in the primaries for the nomination as Republican state representative.

Craft goes on record for a a sane-sensible-reasonable and forward-looking educational program, declaring it to be a first lien upon taxable resources. He further declares that the state of Ohio has the necessary talent and equipment to produce its own text books, at a great saving to parents, at the same time removing a disturbing element from the legislative halls.

He says that the state civil service needs to be placed on a merit basis and also is of the opinion that the tax base should be reconstructed and simplified. He also believes that the chattel loan law needs revision. The present primary system, shunned by a disinterested public, also needs revision.

Craft is a member of the Hillcrest Baptist church and a teacher of the Men's class at the same church.

Father's Day to Be Observed At Church

Father's Day will be observed at the Hilltop Church of Christ, Burgess and Olive streets, Sunday, June 17, with a special program during the usual Bible school hour.

Musical selections will be presented by the orchestra under the direction of Mr. Cole, and piano accordion numbers will be given by George Ward and Pauline Marble. A trio, composed of Mr. Deal, Mrs. Scharenberg and Mr. Cochran, accompanied by the orchestra, will also sing. Rev. Wilkes will conclude the program with a short address to fathers.

Last Rites for Mrs. Julia M'Carty Held

Hillcrest Defeats Hoge, 6 to 3, to Take First Place In Church League; Merchant Leadership In Three-way Tie

Sensational Play Marks Games of Week As Races Reach Crucial Stage; Reese Hurls First Shutout; St. John and Tri Mus Go 13 Innings.

Warding off the bid of Hoge Memorial for top honors in the Hilltop Church League Monday evening by a six to three score, the champion Hillcrest Baptist Reds, undisputed leaders in the circuit, will defend their position against the assults of Westgate Evangelical and Warren Nazarene in games tonight and Monday at Westgate Park, victory being required in both instances to insure undivided capture of the bunting.

Monday's games in the loop were all of the sensational variety, with approximately 400 in attendance at the feature battle. The Baptists had little difficulty in solving the contortionist delivery of Wilcox, pounding out 12 hits. Meanwhile, Ballard held the Presbyterians at bay. Sam Toy was the big Baptist offensive gun, while Boyer led the attack for the losers with a quartet of safe blows.

Meanwhile, Warren Nazarene kept within striking distance of the lead when Emerson Reese hurled a one-hit game against Burgess U. B., turning in the initial shut-out of the campaign, while his mates hammered out 13 runs. Legg got the only blow off the clever southpaw.

St. John Lutheran, in a bitter struggle of 13 innings with Glenwood Tri Mu, lost a three to two decision, diminutive Bob Blesch fighting it out tooth for tooth and nail for nail with the more experienced Ed Hailey in a brilliant pitcher's duel. A safe smash in the final frame by Hailey with two mates aboard produced the winning tally. Bob Baesman starred afield for the losers, accepting nine chances in center field without a bobble.

Sullivant Avenue Friends, for the second time this season, broke loose in a scoring orgy and subdued Glenwood M. E., 22 to 3, with Erieuwine, Beaver and Hillister cracking out homers. In the finale, Westgate Evangelical tripped up Hilltop C. of C., 14 to 8.

Wednesday evening in the Hilltop Merchant League, Sniff Motors defeated Gearhart Hardware to knock the latter nine from the top rung and at the same time give it its initial setback. Meanwhile, Kent's Food Market was registering a 17 to 3 victory over the Derby club and a virtual three-way tie now exists for the leadership.

In other games Wednesday, Paley Drugs defeated a rejuvenated Broad-Hague Pharmacy team in a 13-inning battle, 9 to 7, and Painter's Market chalked up a win at the expense of Penfield's, 13 to [illegible].

City Council Orders C. & L. E. to Remove Sullivant Tracks

Company Expected to Fight Move; Similar Court Battle Won At Springfield.

The Cincinnati and Lake Erie Traction Co. was ordered by Columbus City Council Monday night, June 11, to tear up its tracks within the city limits and replace the paving. The company, however, was expected to counter with a court battle in an effort to extend the time of the franchise which is scheduled to expire July 12.

The resolution by council was adopted unanimously and it was indicated that no extension would be granted. A similar stand was taken by officials at Springfield, O., however, with the traction company winning the right to continue operations by virtue of a court decision.

J. H. McClure, receiver for the C. & L. E., interviewed Mayor Worley and a councilman Monday afternoon seeking an extension of five years on the franchise, the company repairing the tracks and the city repaving between them.

He was informed, according to reports, that the city is without sufficient funds to undertake the job.

The C. & L. E. tracks extend through the city on Broad street west of Hague, South Hague avenue, Sullivant avenue to Central and on Central and West Town streets.

The delapidated condition of the tracks has been the cause of several accidents, in many cases resulting in serious injuries and efforts to have them repaired have been in vain for a period of years.

Business Men Seek Broad St. Car Line Extension

Send Resolution to Council In Behalf of 2500 Residents West of Hague Ave.

The Hilltop Business Men's association, at its regular meeting Tuesday evening, June 13, at the Matsonia, drew up a resolution asking the extension of the West Broad street car service to the city limits. At the same time, the organization went on record as favoring a continuation of the work started at Westgate Park, asking that the baseball diamonds there be improved and lights be installed in the shelter house.

In the resolution, it was pointed out that 2500 residents of the Hilltop, west of Hague avenue, are now being deprived of adequate street car service, causing great inconvenience, exposure to the elements, loss of time and money due to the necessity of paying double fare, all of which are in opposition to the natural and desirable development of the section.

The association cited the fact that the franchise of the Cincinnati and Lake Erie traction company is due to expire July 12 and that city council would then be in a position to grant relief to residents.

According to the resolution, double tracks are favored by the group. A copy of the document will be read at Monday's city council meeting.

In addition, the association will ask that work, started last winter at Westgate Park, be continued. Improvement of the ball diamonds and installation of lights in the shelter house are included on the program favored by the group.

A petition of some 200 names was submitted to council last week asking the improvement of the Westgate ball diamonds, and at that time was referred to the service department.

Tuesday's meeting of the association was held out of doors at the Matsonia, 40 members attending. Four Boy Scout leaders were guests at the dinner and the Southwest division court of honor was also held.

Organization Also Asks That Work Be Continued At Westgate Park, If Possible.

Recognition Service Held For Hilltop Elementary Graduates

Recognition services for graduates of the three local elementary schools were held this week at the various school buildings.

At John Burroughs, 100 pupils were promoted to West Jr. High. The program included a violin solo by David Coffey and two songs by the 6A glee club. The invocation was by Rev. E. L. Motter of the Glenwood M. E. church and the principal address was delivered by W. W. Wager of the Roosevelt Jr. High school. Diplomas were presented by H. L. McMillan, principal of the school. The program was concluded with a farewell song by the 6A class.

The entire class of 80 pupils at West Broad Street school was graduated. The exercises of the final week featured two plays, directed by Miss Catherine Hutt and Mrs. Charlotte Walton, on Tuesday.

After the performance, the class attended a party given by the Parent-Teacher Association at the St. John Lutheran church. Thursday morning, a commencement program was held. Songs by the 6A class and the Senior Girls' Glee club preceded the address of the occasion by Rev. C. D. Osborn, pastor of the Westgate Evangelical church.

Ray G. Hauntz, local member of the school board, presented diplomas to the graduates and the program was concluded with a song, "My Own United States" by the class.

Seventy-four pupils received diplomas at Highland Avenue school Thursday morning at a program which included songs by the class, a piano solo by Virginia Wirth, talks by Carl Henry and Juanita Brown, a violin solo by Jack Berner, readings by Ellen Wilgus and the boys of the class, and a piano solo by Betty Warman. The class history by Marvene Street and Mary Ellinger and the class prophecy were also presented.

During the school year, 125 students maintained A and B marks at Highland.

Stuffed Green Peppers
Tomatoes on the Half Shell
Baked Potatoes
Head Lettuce with Russian Dressing
Potato Custard
Coffee

Stuffed Green Peppers

2 green peppers.
2 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons flour.
1 cup of milk.
1 cup boiled rice.
1-3 cup cheese.
¼ teaspoon salt.
⅛ teaspoon paprika.
1 tablespoon chopped onion.

Wash peppers, cut off and discard seeds and pulp. Rinse well in cold water. Melt butter and add flour. When blended, add milk and cook until very thick sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add rice, cheese and seasonings. Stuff peppers. Arrange in small pan. Add 1-2 inch water and bake 30 minutes in slow oven. Baste frequently. This recipe may be increased according to the number of people to be served.

Tomatoes on the Half Shell

Have large, firm, meaty tomatoes, cut them crosswise without peeling, then brush the cut surface with melted butter, sprinkle with chopped green pepper and parsly and a little onion. Bake in a hot oven till tender and the tops nicely browned.

Potato Custard

Pare and grate four white potatoes into a quart of milk. Beat four eggs and add three-quarters of a cup of granulated sugar beating it all the while. Stir in half a teaspoon of salt, cinnamon and a quarter of a teaspoon of grated nutmeg and the grated rind of half a lemon. When well mixed turn into the milk, mix thoroughly then pour into a buttered baking dish or custard cups set in a shallow pan partly filled with luke warm water. Place in a moderate oven and bake till the custards are set and a knife inserted in the center comes out clean and dry. Cool and top with whipped cream just before serving.

New Vegetable Dishes

Here are some delicious new ways of serving familiar vegetables — try them out and increase your reputation as a cook.

Vegetable Salad

Cook separately and dice 2 beets, 2 carrots, 2 turnips. Mix lightly and add 1 cup cooked lima beans or peas. Toss in a dressing made of 2 tablespoons melted butter blended with 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 teaspoon chopped parsley and salt and pepper to taste. Line a salad bowl with lettuce and heap the salad mixture in a mound.

Cauliflower Souffle

To 1 cup of white sauce made with milk or cauliflower water add 4 egg yolks beaten until thick and 1 cup cooked cauliflower cut in tiny pieces. Cool and fold in 4 egg whites beaten stiff. Bake 20 minutes in a hot oven. Serve at once.

Onions French Style

Use small white onions, cooking them whole or the large Spanish or Bermuda variety cut in rings. Cover with boiling water let stand for half an hour, then drain, place in a double boiler and dot with butter. Cook gently till tender. Season and serve.

Southern Peas and Onions

Clean and cut the tops off a bunch of young onions. Split the onions lengthwise and add 1 slice of bacon and 1 cup fresh green peas. Add ½ cup boiling water and boil till the onions and peas are tender. Add more water if necessary. Remove the bacon, season to taste with salt and pepper. The liquid should be cooked almost away. A white sauce may be added to this recipe if you desire a creamed dish.

"Air Show" Plans Receive Support

Elaborate Event Scheduled For Fifth Anniversary of Opening of Port Columbus.

As plans for the air show to be held at Port Columbus on July 7 and 8 near completion, offers of assistance and cooperation are coming to the committee from all sides.

Arthur L. Evans, president of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, has pledged the support of that body and has accepted personally a place on the civic committee being organized to further plans of the show. At their luncheon club meetings Monday and Tuesday, the Advertising club, Optimists and Lions all gave their endorsement to the project and are selecting a member from each group to serve on the committee.

Major George M. Ward has announced that air show headquarters will be opened in the Deshler hotel within the next ten days. Yesterday contracts were signed for an elaborate automobile show to be given in conjunction with the air entertainment. This will be sponsored by the Chrysler Motors Corporation and the affiliated dealers of Columbus and central Ohio, according to Arthur J. Beiler, chairman of the automobile committee and Maj George Ward, Roger Myers and Edgar Planck, members of the committee.

Plane in Museum

The plane in which Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh made their famous 29,000-mile Atlantic tour in 1933 and in which they visited Alaska, Japan, and China in 1931 is now safely housed in the Hall of Ocean Life of the American Museum of Natural History in New York City. The Spirit of St. Louis is in the Smithsonian Institution at Washington.

Life Expectancy

It has been inferred from the detailed study and research of a German scientist that a certain type of far-sightedness, known as presbyopia, is an indicator to life expectancy. Comparison of many cases has shown that for persons in whom presbyopia is less than average at ages forty to fifty, life expectancy is much greater, sometimes as much as ten years greater, than in persons in whom presbyopia is above the average.

"Advice to Men Losing Their Hair"

While a perfectly natural thing, it is bad enough to lose your hair, some men spend and therefore lose a lot of money in an effort to save it. Well, as we look at it, since the days of Samson it seems that only great artists, musicians and football players really need a lot of hair anyway.

But Everybody Needs Good Vision

In 95 cases out of every 100 can be had only by the aid of Good Glasses. This may be a broad statement but Linville, the Eye Man, at 2434 W. Broad St., can prove it and at the same time furnish you those same Good Glasses. The small amount of money you invest compared to the vast amount of good derived will pay big interest.

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

Nothing, except adversity perhaps, cleanses the soul and lets the goodness out as does an hour—or a day or week — in the quietude of loneliness. At such times the conscience is clean and free, like the wave-washed winds that sweep over the surface of the lake.

Petty worries and fretful trifles melt away in the light of eternity, reflected from the spacious heavens, the curving shore-lines, the rocks, the hills, the valleys. In the span that bridges dawn and dusk we see but a grain of sand on the shores of time.

In such an attitude, selfishness makes no greater impression on the mind than does a raindrop on the rippling waters of the lake. And personal measurements are made with the minutest accuracy—not for the sake of being accurate, but merely because there's no other way to be.

In such moments we may perceive human fellowship as the pinnacle of beautiful expression in living. A "halloo" from a perfect stranger strikes a responsive chord that vibrates heart-strings unknown to us in the hurry-scurry of everyday life. In such rare clairvoyance we realize that the battle is not to the strong alone—but to the good, the true, the beautiful.

I like the lake best at sun down. Then the restless waters have stopped their ceaseless chatter and murmur softly at the shore-line or marsh edge. And as the crimson ball of fire sinks beneath the western rim, across the water is blazed a path of exquisite grandeur. Liquescent, fire-tipped waves flash the reflected beauty of the dying day—then, suddenly, become adopted children of the night.

The "sounding brass and tinkling cymbal" of the amusement park has lost its glamour for pre-depression revelers. The crowd is warier and more suspicious of the chance games and even the barker's loquacious babble lacks color. In a last hope, many of the proprietors have made their games honest, though the prizes are "cheap," as ever.

In the place of quarter and nickle slot machines, the penny variety is abundant and does good business. Thrice, however, I watched winners of a few pennies walk away untempted by the jack-pot.

The crowd moves about in reminiscent mood, it seems, as though wondering how such trivia ever appeared attractive. The raucous, blatant, nauseating blare that is typical of the park—and which once served to satiate a lust for pleasure—now sends people onward—while the evening is yet young.

Though the most conspicuous island at Buckeye Lake, Cranberry Marsh is probably the least frequented. Surrounded by a shrub zone of poison sumac and alder, none but the natives are aware of the marsh meadowlands within.

In their respective seasons, a half dozen orchids flower profusely as well as the interesting Pitcher-plant and curious sun-dew and buckbean's white, frizzly blossoms show forth in early spring. Cinnamon fern I have seen attain a height of more than six feet—giving an effect of tropical luxuriance.

This bog is known as a floating island, composed of deep mats of sphagnum moss. Years ago, when the site now covered by the lake was marshland, this bog formed a part of the vast area. With the forming of the artificial lake, the remnant floated to the top, where it remains today. To walk on its surface is comparable to strolling over a field of wet sponges.

In the meadow, cranberries are abundant, and with the coming of autumn, a large harvest of the fruit is gathered by the natives, for home use. These and the huntsmen who seek the wild fowl in November are the most habitual frequenters of the place.

Franklin Post Jrs. Win

The Franklin Post Jrs. of the American Legion played the Grove City team last Wednesday, winning by an 11 to 6 score in seven innings. The Franklin team will play the Hilltop Jrs. a double header this afternoon. All games are played on the State Hospital [illegible].

Westgate, Tri Mus And Hoge Memorial Feature Week's Play In Church Loop; Leaders Toppled as 1st Round Closes

Race Tightens With Five Teams Within Striking Distance of Lead; Bitter Struggle Forecast For Second Round Starting Tonight.

"Gib" Davis, an outfielder converted into a pitcher; a hefty Irishman by the name of Paul Casey, and a team that didn't know it was favored to lose was responsible for Westgate Evangelical's surprise victory over the Champion Hillcrest Reds last Friday evening at Westgate. The final score was 4 to 3 in ten innings.

The result, muddled and tightened the race and gave evidence that the second round scrap for the title will be one of the closest variety, with five, and perhaps six teams capable of copping the hunting.

The Westgate-Hillcrest fracas was a nip and tuck affair, with Davis hurling acceptable ball throughout. In the tenth frame, with Thornton perched on second base, Kent, Hillcrest hurler, purposely passed John Todd, and mighty Casey strode to the platter. The big Irishman's blast to left was held to a double only by score keeping rules. It might have been a homer. For the champs, Don Shafer was the satellite, handling a dozen chances at the keystone sack—six difficult ones—without a bobble.

Hoge Memorial came back from its defeat a week ago at the hands of Hillcrest, with a vengeance, setting a new league scoring record at the expense of Burgess U. B. The final count was 32 to 9. Warren Nazarene remained in the running with a 6 to 3 win over Sullivant Friends and St. John Lutheran kept out of the cellar by walloping Glenwood M. E., 15 to 6. In the final game, the Tri Mus defeated Hilltop C. of C., 13 to 5.

Hostilities in what may be one hilarious second round will get under way tonight with Westgate meeting Warren Nazarene on Westgate No. 1; Glenwood hooking up with Hoge on No. 2; Burgess tangling with Sullivant Friends on No. 3; and St. John crossing bats with C. of C. on No. 4. At the State Hospital, Hillcrest will meet Tri Mu at 6:30 o'clock.

On Monday evening, July 2, the schedule is as follows: St. John vs. Hillcrest, Westgate No. 1; Sullivant vs. C. of C., No. 2; Warren Nazarene vs. Hoge on No. 3; Westgate vs. Glenwood, No. 4; and at State Hospital, Tri Mu vs. Burgess U. B.

Three first round games are carded for Monday evening, June 25. They are: Warren Nazarene vs. Hillcrest, Westgate No. 1; Hoge Memorial vs. C. of C. No. 2; and St. John vs. Sullivant Friends, No. 3. With the exception of the Warren Nazarene-Tri Mu battle, the remaining first round games will be completed next Friday, June 29.

Monday evening, the Tri Mus stretched their winning streak to four straight, beating Westgate, conquerors of Hillcrest, 5 to 3. Halley, White and Taylor were the winners' stars, while Thornton and Todd led the cause for the losers.

In the only other game played, Burgess U. B. trimmed Glenwood 20 to 8. The championship of the first round, as yet, undecided, will remain in its present suspended position for some time to come, despite the fact that second round games get under way tonight. Several postponements are yet to be played, and are scheduled below.

Violinist at Hilltonia

Merchant Loop Closes Round

Second Round to Get Under Way Next Wednesday at Westgate Park; Sniff-Gearhart's Tie

Gearhart's Hardware and Sniff Motor nines closed first round activities in the Hilltop Merchant league, virtually deadlocked for first place. The Derby Club was downed by Sniff's Wednesday while Gearhart came from behind to defeat Paley's Drugs, 10 to 9.

Kent's Food Market, meanwhile, lost an 8 to 4 decision to Painter's Market, although officially the Painter squad won via the forfeit route. The game was miserably played and more miserably umpired. With two out in the ninth, arbiter Cramer forfeited the battle.

Games next week in the circuit are: Paley Drug vs. Kent Market, No. 1; Painter vs. Gearhart, No. 2; Penfield vs. Derby Club, No. 3; and Broad-Hague Drugs vs. Sniff Motors, No. 4.

HOSPITAL NINE STILL DEADLOCKED

Defeat Safety Cabs 7-4 Saturday On Local Diamond

State Hospital baseballers, in the thick of the pennant fight in the Saturday Afternoon League, continued in a tie for the top position Saturday on the local diamond be defeating Safety Cabs, 7 to 4. Meanwhile Federal Glass kept pace by winning from Golco Oils, 15 to 4.

Walker, Herold, Kline and Root, with two hits each, led the Hospital attack, the latter crocking out a two base blow as a portion of his contribution. Mettles, on the mound for the Hilltoppers, permitted all of the Cab runs to tally in the first three innings, but from that point on was invincible. The men of McVeigh scored thrice in the first and four times in the fifth.

Congress Passes Bill To Guarantee Building And Loan Deposits

Included in the "Housing Bill" which was passed by Congress on the day of adjournment, is a provision for the insurance of funds in Building & Loans. Each Building & Loan will be assessed on a percentage basis. This legislation is similar to that passed last year guaranteeing the deposits in banks. All Building & Loans will be required to make application to the government to secure this insurance.

It is felt that this is the most progressive piece of legislation enacted for the benefit of the home financing institutions of our country, in that it will enable associations having their funds guaranteed to resume normal operations.

Fight for Eleventh Ward Committeeman Posts to Furnish Political Fireworks Here As Candidates Begin Campaigns

Bellar and Williams Seek Republican Post; Thornton, Lucas and Elzy In Democratic Race; Craft Starts Campaign for Legislature

The primary election, slated for Aug. 14, generally a more or less lifeless affair, will be productive of a bit of fire-works locally, if present indications hold out. The eleventh ward committeeman post, especially in the Republican ranks, is expected to be a hotly contested affair, with the two candidates—Arthur J. Bellar and Moses Williams having met once before in the battle of ballots—for the position Williams now holds.

On the Democratic ticket, the names of Harry Thornton, Ray Elsey and Carl Lucas will appear, all seeking the post to be vacated by Sam Willis, who is candidate for the Democratic nomination to clerk of courts.

O. H. Craft, the sixth Hilltopper whose name will appear on the ballots in August, is seeking the Republican nomination for state representative. He is basing his campaign on the grounds that the present legislature is composed too much of members of the legal profession. He claims that a better balanced law-making body could be had by the admission of men from various fields.

He also seeks revision of the civil service and the chattel loan law and declares that the state should produce its own school texts.

But the grand battle is centered around the job of Republican committeeman for the eleventh ward. Bellar, whose name was struck from the ballot two years ago, gave Williams a good race even then, counting more than 500 votes. He leaves today on a business trip to Peoria, Ill., and will begin his campaign upon his return home July 1.

"I am not looking for any political job or appointment," Mr. Bellar says, "and if I am elected, I shall serve for the best interests of the eleventh ward." He has been a resident of the Hilltop for the past six years, living at 329 Binns Blvd.

Williams, who operates a barber shop at 2488 W. Broad St., has been the Republican committeeman since his election two years ago. He points to his record and to the fact that he has been endorsed by the Republican Club of the ward. Like Bellar, he has been active in various community affairs and organizations and if elected, promises continued business-like management of the office.

Playground supervisors, who have not yet been named by the department, will be in charge at all times. Despite the depleted condition of city finances, equipment and recreation facilities will be on a par with that of other years, it was reported.

Since the closing of the local parks last summer, improvements have been made, especially at Holton, where work has been completed on a miniature lake and the stream banks have been walled in with limestone.

Announcement concerning the placement of supervisors will be forthcoming next week, according to Charles Seddon, director of recreation.

DELECTABLE DISHES

You Can Prepare in Advance

If you manage your household without help or with the assistance of one maid, you'll want to utilize dishes that can be made ahead of time—particularly when all outdoors conspires to lure you away from household tasks. You'll be amazed at the added hours of leisure a little systematic planning can give. Perhaps you'd like to give a buffet supper one of these nights but shrink at the prospect of long hours spent in preparing a suitable menu. Here is one that can be ready long before the first guest rings your door bell—and it looks and tastes like something extremely "special."

Jellied Chicken Loaf
2 tablespoons granulated gelatine.
3 tablespoons cold water.
2 cups boiling chicken stock.
1 cup diced cooked chicken.
2 hard cooked eggs, diced.
1 cup shredded celery.
4 tablespoons chopped pimento.
4 tablespoons chopped green pepper.
½ teaspoon salt.
½ teaspoon paprika.

Soak the gelatine in cold water 5 minutes. Add the chicken stock and stir until gelatin dissolves. Cool and allow to thicken a little. Add rest of ingredients and pour into a ring mold. Cool until stiff. Unmold on lettuce and place a dish of mayonnaise in the center of the ring.

Broiled Shrimps

You can prepare these in advance and pop them into the oven the last minute for broiling. Take a quantity of fresh or canned shrimps and roll each in bacon and fasten with a tooth pick—just a few minutes before serving put them under the broiler until the bacon is crisp.

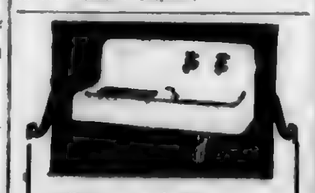
Tomatoes Stuffed with Caviar

Choose small ripe tomatoes and hollow out the centers. Mix caviar with chopped egg whites and fill centers. Serve on a platter garnished with water cress. With the above dishes serve potato chips, radishes, giant ripe olives and spring onions and small Parker House rolls. These can be heated at the last minute. The following delicious dessert is very attractive and decorative and also has the merit of being ready in advance.

Make a soft custard in a double boiler, using 1 pint milk, 3 eggs and ½ cup sugar. Beat eggs and sugar together, add to hot milk and stir till custard coats spoon. Cool and flavor with almond. Have ready a rather stale sponge cake. Slice it and line the bottom of a glass dish with the slices. Moisten well with sherry and cover with jam or jelly. Cover this with macaroons dipped in wine. Then another layer of cake and jam and so on till the dish is three-quarters full. Pour over this the chilled custard. Top with the stiffly beaten whites of 2 eggs, beaten with 4 tablespoons of sugar. Add to this 3 tablespoons of jelly and serve cold.

Molded Salads

For the ordinary "mine run" of meals there are many short-cuts such as preparing a molded salad in advance. Here are some that are especially appropriate for this time of year.



Fruit Salad

Put 1 beaten egg in double boiler, add 2 tablespoons pure vinegar and 2 tablespoons sugar and stir constantly till thick and smooth. Cool and fold in ½ cup whipped cream and 1 cup white cherries, 1 cup pineapple, 1 cup marshmallows and 1 orange. Place in a mold and set in refrigerator (not in freezing compartment). Let stand several hours. Serve in nests of crisp lettuce and garnish with mayonnaise or whipped cream.

HILL RAMBLE

It is good to trod the clean earth under foot—to ramble with joyous stride over southern Ohio hills in May—to feel the warm sunshine and breathe deeply of fresh air—to be spiritually attune with the vibrant pulse of nature, so mutely throbbing in every bush and tree and flower and bird and rock and hill.

There is something there, in all its vastness, from the starry firmament above to the tremendous time tables in the rocks below, that is native to our blood. To view it in all its grandeur is to be appalled; to perceive it in the least, is to be silent.

We struck out Sunday, in the freshness of the new day, with Dr. W. H. Camp, of the Botany department, Ohio State university, for the Sharon sandstone hills of Jackson county.

Now the wooded slopes are robed in in springtime splendor, comparable in its way, with the spectacular panorama autumn presents. Yonder rise the hills, clothed in a kaleidoscopic array of greens of hickory and chestnut and maple; with here and there a tinge of soft pink where the oak buds are bursting forth. And throughout, splashes of white of dogwood blossoms—and less often, the lavendar-pink of red-bud and the fresher pink of hawthorne. The gentle breezes bring the faint fragrance of the latter up the valley and the all-pervading beauty quickens the pulse and stills the babbling tongue.

Over the green valleys and unforested slopes, great patches of bluets bloom in profusion, as though the sky had let fall a portion of "its coerulean wall." Across the fields, in undulating flight, the black and golden yellow the Goldfinch flashed in the sunlight. Along the roadside woodlands, phlox and anemone and violet flowered in abundance.

Back in the cool recesses of the gorge at Rock Run, in the moist bottom land, the yellow Marsh Marigold had reached its peak; the tiny Woodland Sweet Violet, in shaded nooks, and the delicate long-spurred violet, pale lavendar in color, with the more common yellow and white and purple species, attracted our attention.

Now and then, in large colonies, could be found Trilliums, both the fragrant and large-flowered, the latter now turning pink with age. And while the writer slipped away once to gather lichens on a cliff-top, Dr. Camp collected the wild iris and the brilliant red fire-pink.

Further back in the gorge, on rocky sandstone soil, Columbine was just opening its gorgeously hued flowers. What a sight the colony will present within the week. But what a grander picture is in store for those whose trail carries them into the area during the first week in June—for then the Magnolias—the large-leafed and three-leafed Southern trees—will be in blossom.

Magnificent flowers, these, almost a foot in diameter, growing in Jackson county at Rock Run, their northermost habitat. You can be sure, that ere the day has passed, this rambler will have been among those present in the gorge.

Time had flown quickly, and it was now late afternoon. Without sustenance since early morning, we accordingly made for Jackson, and after appeasing more or less ravenous appetites, we headed for Columbus via Mc-Arthur, Logan and Lancaster, collecting en route.

Once we stopped to gather a clump of bluets, which were pure white. And at the same station, phlox was taken—some with petals notched, others with rounded petals, a peculiarity not noted by botanists anywhere until just a month or so ago. The plant, common in the open woodlands, is extremely interesting in this respect, the round-petaled flower being found only in more southern areas.

And so through Vinton county into the Hocking hills, the day nearing its close. Slowly the sun sets, crowning the upper slopes in a golden, then crimson glow—in contrast to the softening shadows of the valleys between. Slowly the woodlands melt into blackness, and the hills stand in majestic silhouette against a purple sky. Slowly, "one by one, in the infinite meadows of heaven, blossom the lovely stars, the forget-me-nots of the angels." The span twixt dawn and dark has been bridged.

Surely, the Creator, on that fabled day of rest, must have watched over the hills in the evening, in the afterglow of the sunset, and in that peaceful hour, declared that it was very good.

Prevent Grass and Forest Fires

Ninety-nine out of a hundred grass, brush and forest fires can be prevented, according to officials of the American Game association. Careful survey shows that nature causes only one per cent of such fires—through lightning; all others are caused by the agencies of man—cigarettes, pipes, carelessly tossed matches, campfires sparks from engines and other instruments. Incredible numbers of birds, animals and other wildlife are destroyed yearly by such fires, the association points out in urging everyone to be careful of fire in the great outdoors this summer.

DEMONSTRATE ANCIENT TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

Traffic problems of twenty-three centuries ago are demonstrated in a model of the famous Appian Way that has been made by experts of the United States Bureau of Public Roads. This old Roman highway, 403 miles long, has been reproduced in exact detail, with tiny chariots, figures of soldiers and civilians, and even surveyors with their crude, out-of-date instruments plotting the route. In an unfinished section of the road, tiny layers of cemented stones, mortar and sand, gravel and lime, and lava slabs show the actual construction of the Appian Way. The model is historically accurate, even down to the smallest details.

Don't Abandon Cats, Is Game Head's Plea

Summer vacationists are urged not to abandon cats either along roadways or in summer camps as these cats quickly revert to the wild and take an enormous toll of desirable wildlife, says a bulletin of the American Game association.

Don't ruin a big idea by expressing it in big words.

Rescue Fish From Drying Lakes

With drought again descending upon the country, officials of the American Game association emphasize the necessity of rescuing fish from fast drying lakes and streams and replanting them in permanent waters. Millions of game fish were rescued last year and other millions of undesirable fish and turtles destroyed at the same time.

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

Dear Lookerouter:

Just a few lines to tell you a few things my snooping has revealed. . . . Shirley Umbenhaur says you haven't a brain. Also declares you can't carry on intelligent conversation. . . . Society note: Audrey (red-head for a day) Shields and Virginia (Beanie) Bean attended a dance at Delaware one nite last wk. . . . And while on the subject of names, add Davey Deshler and Little Junior (Jay Gee) Spears. . . . Remember last summer when you became impatient with people who called recreation ball, soft ball. Why have you not mentioned the fact that "soft ball" is now the official name? Looks as though you wouldn't eat crow. . . . Have you noticed that no three-year-old is quite as childish as a few of the community's -20-yr.-olds. (Light bulb stealers, etc.) We'll get the list of these "babes in long pants" next week, for you. . . . Can't say that I admire the taste of the person who selects the radio programs at the swimming pool. . . . Do you know that gorgeous blonde, in bright yellow shorts—we saw her cycling Sunday. She was accompanied by another short garbed lass, and a heavy set young feller. . . . Remember Jennie Rice was always talking and laughing? Well, he visited here for his class reunion, and is rather quiet now. He's attending school at Cinn. . . . Did you know that WHS is the only Hi Sch. in the city that does not number on its faculty at least one alumnus or alumnae? South has about a doz. former students teaching there and the other schools have a few. Wonder why West has none? . . . A bouquet to Miss Smith, the West librarian, who spends these hot days at the school getting books ready for next year. . . . If I weren't so kind-hearted I'd tell you who Milly, the Campbell clerk, calls "doll baby." . . . Remind me to take you along the next time I visit Clyde D. Moore. He has a collection of works by American humorists that tops any I ever saw. Also a goodly number of fiction works. . . . If you run short of material this summer you might get some of the older inhabitants to recall, oh, most anything. Or better yet, as a pleasant contrast, get someone to talk of the '13 flood. Herb Ackerberg would be a good one, but when last heard of he was a technical expert with one of the big radio chains. Herb was a short wave hum (amateur to you) during the flood and was about the only means of communication with the east bank. . . .

yours,

Stooge.

Dear Sec:

The last paragraph was good, but I need the chatter. Will store it, though. . . . Find out how Bunny Hoffman got that name, if you can. . . . And have found that I'll need help in getting Otto's middle monicker. . . . Is that ring M. Weaver wears one that requires one of those certificates? . . . Find out if Ty Thompson is really contemplating matrimony. Another stooge questions Ty's ability to contemplate. . . . Also, discover how Shirley ever figured out I, or anybody, was brainless. Check up on the legend that someone told her and she memorized the words. . . . That's all right now. Yours, J.

That N. Harris Ave. lass, whose daily epistles to Wash. C. H. have suddenly ceased. . . . Would "A Friend" manage to sign letters addressed to this scribbler. It's merely honest, doncha think? . . . Nothing so cozy as walking in a driving rain behind the shelter of an umbrerell. . . . But nothing is grander than walking in the rain. . . . Dolored (Wimpy, Dee, Red) Siegwald, at the ball park, wondered, when Cullop blasted one over the barrier, if he was out. . . . To the Red Bird apple orchard Tuesday night, and there, in reserved stalls, was the inimitable Si (Broken Thumb) Whetstone, and Ruth Humphries. . . . And Carl (Julius Caesar) Stahll, smoking black segars, there last Sabbath. . . . Whatever became of Janice Booth? . . . After sparring with the chappie for such a spell, Carrie Cromwell finally slipped over a wallop to the heart, and P. Rausch is out for the count. Physicians declare, however, that Paul's heart was weak from the very first.

Hillcrest-Tri Mu Battle Is Feature As 2nd Set Opens

Game Slated Monday At State Hsp.; 1st Round Champs Undecided; Four Games Tonight.

With first round activities in the Hilltop Church League scheduled to come to a close with the playing of a quartet of games tonight, and with the championship yet undecided, the second flight of games will get under way Monday evening, Hillcrest Baptist and Glenwood Tri Mu engaging in the feature battle at the State Hospital No. 2 diamond. Hardly of less interest is the Warren Avenue Nazarene-Westgate Evangelical game, carded for diamond No. 1 at Westgate Park.

Other games on Monday's schedule include: Glenwood M. E. vs. Hoge Memorial, No. 2; Burgess Avenue U. B. vs. Sullivant Friends, No. 3; and St. John vs. Hilltop C. of C., No. 4.

Friday evening, the main go will have Warren Nazarene and Hoge Memorial in the leading roles. The game will be played on Westgate No. 3 diamond. Other Friday games are: St. John vs. Hillcrest, No. 1; Burgess U. B. vs. Tri Mu, State Hospital; Hilltop C. of C. vs. Sullivant Friends, No. 2; and Westgate vs. Glenwood M. E., No. 4.

Protest Up

Hoge Memorial's protest over Tri Mu will be up for consideration at the next meeting of the protest board at the city recreation department next week. The complaint is important, inasmuch as a decision, one way or another, will have a bearing on the first round championship.

Monday evening, the leadership in the league changed hands when Emerson Reese tossed Warren Nazarene to a 11 to 0 victory over Hillcrest. The store of the game is all Reese and Glass, Nazarene battery, though their mates hit lustily and timely to pound out a decisive victory. The southpaw was in trouble but once, in the second inning, when with the bases jammed, and none out, he kept the platter undented.

Merchants Open Second Round

Two Shut-outs Recorded as Race Gets Under Way; First Title Undecided.

With the championship in the first round of the Hilltop Merchant League hanging fire pending the outcome of Sniff Motor's protest over Kent's Market, second round activities got under way in the loop Wednesday evening at Westgate Park, one new team and a new backer, showing for the first time.

Mid West Grocers, replacing Penfield Market in the circuit, lost a wild 18 to 13 battle to the Derby Club, the latter rallying in the closing innings to cop the verdict.

Hamilton's Service Station, formerly the Sniff Motor team, easily defeated Broad-Hague Drugs, 8 to 0, despite a rejuvenated line-up placed on the field by the druggists.

Paley Drugs turned in the second shut-out victory of the evening, trimming Kent's Food Market by an identical score. In the finale, Gearhart's defeated Painter's, 8 to 1.

No games have been scheduled for next Wednesday, due to the holiday. The league will resume activities on Wednesday evening, July 11.

Republican Meeting Thursday Evening

The officials of the Eleventh Ward Republican club announce their next meeting to be held Thursday evening, July 5, at 8 o'clock at 2393½ W. Broad St.

The entire program will be given over to Republican candidates with no main speaker engaged.

All members, friends and Republican candidates are welcome to attend the meeting.

Enroll 121

The Glenwood Vacation church school, which opened Monday of this week, has an enrollment of 121, it was announced.

To Ohio U.

Lawrence (Larry) Michaelis

Pictured above is approximately 200 pounds of bone and muscle that was a tackle on last year's Cowboy grid machine. Larry was the honorary captain and an all-high selection. According to information, he will enroll at Ohio university when school is resumed again in September. He graduated from West High this past June.

Quiet Celebration To Mark Holiday Events On Hilltop

Ball Game and Fireworks At Stadium to Furnish Feature Holiday Attractions.

Fourth of July celebration on the Hilltop will be of a quiet nature, according to indications this week, with perhaps the Columbus-Toledo ball game, along with a band concert and fireworks, display at the Mound street stadium furnishing the feature attraction.

Local merchants will close places of business, for the most part, throughout the day, and local residents may seek diversions at any of the Hilltop recreation centers. Outings have been scheduled for Westgate Park, while the golf courses at Broadacres and Beacon Light will probably accomodate a capacity crowd. The Hilltop Swimming pool will be open throughout the holiday.

At the Red Bird stadium, baseball fans will be provided with a bargain offering. At 5 o'clock, Toledo and Columbus will meet in the first game of a twin attraction, with the second battle being slated for 8:30, under the floodlights. During the interim, a band concert will be held. Following the night game, a display of fire-works will be featured. The entire program will be available to the public at the admission price of the first game Ducats are available at Todd's Pharmacy.

Meanwhile, Camp Chase Post of the American Legion will be making final preparations for the second annual air show, celebrating the fifth anniversary of the opening of Port Columbus. The "commander of the port" was to have been selected at the Red Bird-St. Louis Cardinal exhibition game at the stadium yesterday evening. Miss Emma Jean Hastings, candidate of the Hilltop Business Men's association, along with seven others, attended the game. The affair is scheduled for July 7 and 8.

Hilltop Golf League To Be Idle July 4

Because of the conflict with the holiday, games scheduled for July 4 in the Hilltop Golf League have been cancelled. Results of Wednesday's games were: Lexington 7½, Argonne 4½; Bull Run 8½, Shenendoah Valley 3½; Tipperary 11, Waterloo 1; Valley Forge 5, Cemetery Ridge 7.

A one dollar merchandise order at Mattox Men's Shop was awarded to prize winners this week. The winners: Hegenberger, 69; Brady, 70; Ingalls, 71; Fox, 73; Ogden, 74; and Young, 74.

Band to Play Sunday At Hilltonia Church

The Hilltop Citizen's Band, directed by Mr. Van Houck, will present an hour's concert at the Hilltonia U. B. church Sunday, July 1, according to an announcement this week. The program will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Howard Pennell has charge of the program for the "Go to Church" campaign this week.

It Takes a Long, Long Time To Get Sewer Relief, Legally

It may be a long way to Tipperary, but it's a long, long road to the construction of relief, sanitary and storm sewers for Hilltop folk. Red tape, or whatever the uninitiated may want to call it, may seem to bind the wheels of legal procedure in such matters, but a short history of the project which interests so many Hilltoppers, prepared by Samuel J. Willis and explained to a Record reporter by Wyatt Millikin, city councilman, is a lengthy work. And this, despite the fact that everything has been done as quickly as possible.

On Oct. 3, 1933 a resolution was adopted by city council declaring the necessity of issuing bonds in amount of $3,377,000 to pay the expense of constructing, building appurtenant structures, acquiring rights of way, etc., and declaring necessity of submitting the question of issuing bonds to the electors.

Two days later, at a special meeting, a resolution was adopted authorizing the city clerk to certify resolution of Oct. 3, to the board of elections. Legal notice of the election was then published and on Nov. 20 a certificate was received from the board of elections indicating the result of the election to be favorable, 45,742 to 22,177.

On Nov. 13, an ordinance providing for a bond issue of $3,377,000 was passed by council, that sum being 70 per cent of the total cost, the remainder being the portion to be paid by the federal government. On the same day, council adopted a resolution authorizing Mayor Worley to make application to the state tax commission for such findings and certificates as may be required by the amended substitute senate bill No. 38. On Nov. 16, ordinance No. 319, providing for the bond issue, was amended, changing maturities from Feb. 28 and Aug. 31, to Feb. 1 and Aug. 1, of each year.

A test suit was then made by the city legal department of the Annat law, affecting all of city's bond issues voted on at Nov. 7 election. The law was declared constitution by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Following this, the federal government split the $3,377,000 into three issues: Relief sewers, $1,418,000; sanitary sewers, $663,000 and storm drains, $1,316,000. On Mar. 26, 1934, the loan agreement with the federal government concerning the relief and sanitary sewers, was adopted by city council. On Apr. 6, the loan agreement was executed by the federal authorities.

Three days later a transcript for the issue of bonds was approved by bond attorneys in Cleveland and the following day a contract for the printing of the bonds was let.

Requisition was then made, on Apr. 14, on the federal government for funds totaling $200,000, and the final approving opinion was then submitted by the bond attorneys.

The government's bid for bonds was accepted by a resolution adopted by council on May 14 and on June 9, bonds were authorized to be printed. Last Saturday, June 23, specimen bonds were forwarded to Washington for final approval.

And so, it's a long, long way to go—and storm bonds, to date, have not been approved by the federal officials.

Contracts for construction of various portions were let June 8, according to the report.

Boy Scouts Plan Tour of Ohio; to Depart July 9th

Two beautiful camp spots will be used by the scouts on the All-Ohio tour, July 9 to 15. Plans made to camp on Bay Point on Lake Erie, July 13 have been approved by J. J. Sauvey, superintendent of the Kelley Island Lime and Transport Co. Word has also been received from George M. Deaver, scout executive at Canton, O., that the beautiful 200-acre campsite of the McKinley Area Council will accomodate the group on the night of July 11.

These two letters typify the fine spirit of co-operation which is experienced in making arrangements for the comfort and enjoyment of the scouts on this tour, which includes 50 points of interest in all sections of the state of Ohio.

The tour is open to any registered scout of the Central Ohio Area Council and represents seven days of fun and fellowship at a low cost of $13.50.

Early applications indicate that a group of 30 to 50 will board the bus and roar away early on the morning of July 9 for Cincinnati with the first stop being made at Clifton Gorge where lunch will be prepared.

Information on the tour can be secured at Boy Scout headquarters, 44 E. Broad St., or from any scoutmaster.

Tennis Team Drops Set To Loop Leaders

The Hilltop tennis team journeyed to Worthington last Sunday, June 24, and met its third defeat of the season by a 4 to 2 margin. By virtue of the victory, the winners remained in a tie for first place.

Paul Gildersleeve won the only singles match for the Hilltop, while Ed Fox and John Hipple won a doubles match. The locals will probably play the Gasco outfit at Ohio State university on Sunday, July 1.

Hilltoppers Defeat Colored Champs, 24-10

The Co-Op Cabs, composed of former West High baseball stars and present members of the State Hospital team in the Saturday P. M. loop, defeated the Cleveland Giants, claimants of the state colored baseball title, at Nell Park Sunday, June 24, 24 to 10.

Every member of the winning squad managed to boom out a safety, with McClain and Schwartz, the battery, getting five between them, the former getting a homer.

Record Office to Close Wednesday

The Hilltop Record office will be closed at noon, Wednesday, July 4. Want ads must be taken to the stations before 8 o'clock Thursday morning, July 5. The office will not be open on Wednesday evening, as usual.

All news copy must be in not later than Tuesday evening, July 3, to insure publication in next Friday's issue of the paper.

Girl Scout "Day Camps" Scheduled For Hilltop Girls

Tuesdays of Each Week Through August to Be Devoted to Annual Event at Crystal Rock.

Announcement was made this week by Girl Scout officials that the annual "Day Camps" of the group had been scheduled for Tuesdays for a period of eight weeks beginning July 8. The Hilltop section will operate its camp at Crystal Rock Springs and the Hilltop Swimming pool.

Girl Scouts and friends, living on the Hilltop and in Briggsdale, are eligible at the local camp. The program each Tuesday will get under way at 9 o'clock, closing at 4 in the afternoon. The event will be held rain or shine.

Written permission from parents or guardians must be presented at the first date of attendance by each girl. Campers unable to attend the initial session, when physical examinations will be made for swimming, will be required to bring a physician's certificate. Each camper will bring a "nose-bag" lunch at the first camp she attends.

Fees for each session will be 10 cents. An additional 10 cents will be charged for the physical examination. Girls attending are asked to wear simple wash dresses. No camp suits will be permitted. Those wishing to swim should take suit and towel.

Red Cross life saving instruction will be given by life guards at the pool, and certificates awarded to successful candidates.

Activities at each site will include swimming, nature study, handcraft, dramatics, sketching, cooking, country dancing, group games, map making, judging, first aid. Suggested equipment for each girl includes: Girl Scout handbook, knife, notebook, colored pencils, drinking cup, and a "sit-upon."

Mrs. Wyatt L. Millikin is a member of the Girl Scout Council, sponsoring the event.

Supervisors Named At Playgrounds By Recreation Dept.

Westgate, Holton and Glenwood Centers Begin Operations With Good Attendance Monday.

Announcement was made early this week by officials of the Columbus Recreation Department that supervisors for the three Hilltop playgrounds had been selected. Activities at the local centers got under way Monday, June 25. The season will continue through the summer until late August.

Two of the local parks, Westgate and Holton, will be open under supervision each afternoon and evening, from 12:30 to nine o'clock. Glenwood will be open also, but will start activities at 9:30 each morning. All grounds will be closed on Saturday afternoons.

At Holton Park, John Paul and Marie Colburn will be in charge of activities. At Westgate, Glen Hitchcock and Ruth Chapman have been named. At Glenwood, Don Long, Ann Johnson, Nelson Tippet and Mary Taylor will be in charge.

The summer season at the local playgrounds was opened officially, and programs of recreation will be organized by the various supervisors this week. On Monday, July 2, the Indian Village north of Griggs Dam on the Scioto River will be opened, the first week for boys. The following week will be for girls.

According to information, the rate for the camp this year will be 50 cents per day, including transportation to and from the site. Capable supervisors are in charge at all times.

THOMAS F. KENT SUCCUMBS MONDAY

Funeral Rites Held Thursday; Father of N. W. and Frank G. Kent.

Funeral services for Thomas F. Kent, aged 74, Lucasville, O., father of N. W. Kent, 67 Eldon Ave., and Frank Kent, 257 S. Roys Ave., were held Thursday afternoon, June 28, from the Fairview church, near which he lived, in Scioto county. He succumbed to glandular ailments Monday evening, June 25, following serious illness of almost a month.

Mr. Kent was a farmer by occupation and had, with his wife, Mary E. Kent, observed a 51st wedding anniversary last Feb. 28.

Besides his wife and two sons, he is also survived by three daughters, Mrs. Frank Carroll, Dayton, O.; Mrs. T. F. Craig, Portsmouth; and Mrs. Lucy Fullerton, at home. His was the first death in the immediate family.

96 Enrolled

The Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Bible school opened its daily vacation Bible school last Monday with an enrollment of 96. Mrs. Earl Tingley is superintendent of the school, which will continue for two weeks.

HOSPITAL NINE IN 12-INNING BATTLE

Continues In Tie for Lead By Beating Foresters, 6 to 5.

Ray McVay's State Hospital baseballers continued in a tie with Federal Glass last Saturday, for first place in the Saturday Afternoon League, by taking a close 12-inning decision from Foresters, 6 to 5.

The game was a pitching duel between Mettles for the locals and Ryan for the visitors, the latter having the edge through the seventh inning when he enjoyed a 4 to 1 lead. Belated rallies in the eighth and ninth, however, salvaged the game for the winners, who scored the final marker in the 12th.

Two Local Men Pass Highway Patrol Exam

Harry Entwisle, 33 N. Hague Ave., and James Schofield, 741 Binns Blvd., were listed among the 127 candidates for state highway patrol positions who passed the examination held May 1, according to an announcement made on Wednesday of this week.

The patrol is composed of 90 men and those not being assigned to positions will be placed on the reserve list. The examination was taken by 180 applicants.

St. John Continues Double Sun. Services

In view of the good attendance at both morning services at the St. John Lutheran church, worship hours through the month of July will continue to be 8 o'clock and 10:30 o'clock.

"Spiritual Diseases and Their Cure" is the general theme of the new sermon series for the 8 o'clock matins, Rev. H. E. Koch announced this week. Topics include: "The Unsound Eye," "Rottenness of the Bone," "A Coated Tongue," "Itching Ears," and "Spiritual Gangrene."

Damage Heavy As Hurricane Strikes Hilltop Vicinity

Loss Estimated In Thousands of Dollars; Airport and Lumber Company Hit Hardest.

A 60-mile-gale, accompanied by vivid lightning and torrential rain, wrought thousands of dollars worth of damage to Hilltop property last Friday afternoon, in a storm that lasted but a few minutes. Traffic was hampered, business houses were without lighting facilities, basements were flooded, trees uprooted, roofs lifted and much other damage done as the wind swept furiously through the Hilltop.

Airplane Destroyed

At the Sullivant Avenue Airport, a Ford tri-motored plane was demolished and much damage done to the hangars. Lt. L. J. Mulzer, owner and operator of the harbor, said that the loss amounted to approximately $25,000. The machine, blown by the wind for 150 feet, was not insured. Lt. Charles H. Bates, in the plane when the hurricane struck, was uninjured.

At the West Side Lumber Co., a lumber shed was blown down and roofing removed from another, damage being estimated at $300 by officials.

Homes Damaged

The shut-out was the first ever sustained by Hillcrest and the defeat was the worst ever administered the Baptists in the local league. It also marked the fifth consecutive win for the new league leaders and the second shutout performance of the campaign, Reese getting credit for both. For the losers, Al Wharstone performed best, in center field.

In a brilliantly played game, St. John Lutheran edged Sullivant Avenue Friends, 3 to 2, in 12 innings. Apel's three-base knock to left field in the final frame was the turning point, the St. John slipper counting on Smith's infield single a moment later. The latter was the fielding star of the game; while Myers stood out for the losers.

In the finale, Hope Memorial kept a pace back of the league leaders by defeating Hilltop Church of Christ, 16 to 2. Boyd led the attack with a triple, two doubles and a single in five excursions to the platter.

DUMPING BAIT HARMS FISHING

Many fishermen, unknowingly, ruin the fishing in good lakes when they try to help the fish, according to a bulletin of the American Game association. Here's what happens. At the end of the fishing trip such a fisherman dumps all of the live bait he has left into the water to feed the fishes. He never thinks of some of these minnows escaping and growing up to devour or destroy the environment of the game fishes. The carp minnow is a fair example. Game fishing in hundreds of good lakes and streams has been injured or destroyed by dumping carp minnows. Carp are hardy and prolific. They are sucker feeders and not only eat all of the vegetation in the lake but uproot it as well—and then goodbye game fish. Likewise, goodbye wildfowl; for their vegetable food has been destroyed. This vegetation either serves as "salad" for the game fishes or else attracts minute aquatic life upon which they feed. The same is true of wildfowl. Do not dump minnows, the association urges.

Banana-Cheese Split

Dissolve 2 teaspoonfuls of red cinnamon candies in 2 teaspoonfuls of hot water or use red vegetable color in sugar syrup flavored with cinnamon. When cold beat the colored syrup into 4 ounces of cream cheese. Split 6 bananas lengthwise but only half through their thickness. Fill the center with the pink cheese. Serve on a lettuce nest with pineapple or French dressing. Yields 6 portions.

CAKE WISDOM

FROM the lowly gingerbread to the luscious melting sweetness of the Lady Baltimore, there are cakes and still more cakes. There are cakes for every occasion, birthday, Christmas, wedding and christening cakes.

With cake for dessert there is an infinite variety from which to choose. A square of gingerbread with whipped cream flavored with a bit of chopped preserved ginger and sweetened with its sirup—there is nothing equal to it, if you like ginger.

Chocolate cakes seem to hold the preference, they may be rich and luscious, full of soft rich fillings of fruit and nuts, or plain, covered with a fudge frosting, any kind, if chocolate, is welcome.

Ribbon cake, an old-fashioned favorite, is another pretty cake with its light and dark layers and fruity filling.

Cup cakes filled with various fillings are always popular. Scoop out the center, leaving a shell thick enough to hold a chocolate nut filling or sweetened and flavored whipped cream and topped with a maraschino cherry. Chocolate cup cakes filled with a mocha or a caramel filling are especially tasty.

After all the care in ingredients, exact measurements and careful mixing, comes the baking. The oven should be slow for fruit cakes and those with molasses and brown sugar. Divide the time the cake should bake into quarters. The first quarter it should begin to rise; the second, finish rising and begin to brown; the third, finish browning and began to shrink from the pan; the last quarter, test with a toothpick to be sure the cake is baked to the center.

Cool on a rack to avoid a moist and pasty bottom when the cake is cut. If no rack is at hand use anything to keep the bottom of the pan free from the table.

Too much flavoring is like too much perfume—in poor taste. It is better to blend a few drops of vanilla, lemon and almond or two of any desired flavoring extracts.

Cars Kill a Rabbit To Every Mile of Highway

With the beginning of the vacation season, officials of the American Game association request motorists to be careful of wild life on the highways. Records show that a rabbit is killed to every mile of highway in the United States every summer. Countless number of birds, game, song and insect-ivorous, also are killed. Motorists are asked to swerve cars to avoid killing wildlife whenever this is possible without danger to the occupants.

GRAPHIC GOLF

ONE of the most prevalent faults is failure to let the left side turn around to the right on the backswing. Even those golfers who do, are often far short of a complete turn. One reason for this is that they want to guide the stroke and not being confident of their swing turn but little. They take the club back with the customary wrist and arm movement but allow the left side to remain where it was for fear of destroying their balance. The proper method is to let the left shoulder turn naturally as the left arm is taking the club back until the backswing is complete. In some cases the player's back is practically at right angles to the objective. MacDonald Smith affords a fine example of this turn and at the top of the swing is set to hit from the inside out with perfect balance and freedom. In this position full use can be made of the left arm. Smith is a firm advocate of a complete pivot and lays the blame for much of the slicing on this failure to turn enough.

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

Sherm Edwards says we gotta quit printing nice things about him—his wife won't believe them anyhow. . . . Max McCarty has all the clippings of items concerning him appearing here. . . . Elizabeth Carter weighed three pounds when she was born. . . . Lu Raether's pet turtle, which was drug away by the next door neighbor's cat three weeks ago is back again. . . . That dawg pen in Del Howard's back yard is referred to by the captain as a "dwelling." Plans to install electric lights and plant roses about the fence soon. . . . Flash: The turtle which the cat drug away is missing again. . . . Wonder where Rudy Lurz got to? . . . Referring to this scribbler, Vera Carter pipes up: "Does he work?"—Why Vera, of all things. . . . Haven't heard Curt Wilcox telling any big feesh stories this year yet. . . . The former Leota Ferrell (or is it still?) lumped on Olive St., 1st time in nine yrs. . . . And Delbert Walters on the street car. . . . That local chap, attending church for the first time at a local chapel, and unaccustomed to the ritual, didn't notice his lady friend kneel. . . . And he blundered, spinning wheel fashion, right on over her—heels flying.

"And for the love of mike put a muzzle on that hick that writes "The Lookout" column under the 'by-line' of J. N. Wolfe," writes a reader (who signed his letter). "He might be a 'wow' in the Yeller-Rod Gazette, but his column reads like h— in a city the size of Columbus." . . . Just a form of criticism. . . . This world that we're a livin in, is mighty hard to beat; you get a thorn with every rose, but haint the roses sweet? . . . One word descriptions: Loren Corder (while pitching recreation ball) — Sphinx; George Hardy — Napoleon . . . or Hitler. . . . Harold Denton—Lettergo. . . . Homer Hagan's back from California. . . . Two syllable description of Don Smith—Compsh. . . . Gibbony, up at Craft's political parlor, is a former sheriff of Adams Co.

Mrs. Ray Hill's cat, of Norfolk, Va., is named Dink and has fleas. . . . Chawlie Weidner has invented a new meat-hook, which he is trying to sell to a lge. Chicago concern.

Joanna Timmons, leaning out of the window of the car to wave to a friend, sustained a severe shower bath Tuesday when another vehickle splattered through a pool of water, near which she was driving. She will recuperate. . . . The Great Geographers: Wimpy Slogwald and Norma Hall. . . . Lu Rausch and Doc Campbell have taken up hoss back riding . . . Lu fell offadahoss tother day. . . . Hoge Memorial And Nazarenes to Meet In Battle Monday

Westgate Beats Reese and Co., and Hillcrest Downs Tri Mus in Second Round Openers.

Recording the first of a series of anticipated up-sets in the second round of the Hilltop Church League, Westgate Evangelical Monday evening, snapped Warren Nazarene's winning streak, which had reached seven in a row, and behind the stellar hurling of "Gib" Davis, rung up a four to three victory.

Meanwhile, Glenwood Tri Mus blew sky high and Hillcrest Baptist simultaneously hit its stride, and the latter romped to a 12 to 1 victory, batting Halley from the box and hitting Corder hard. Ballard's pitching and Reynolds' four hits in five trips were the features.

In another semi-upset, Burgess U. B. defeated Sullivant Friends, 9 to 2, and St. John Lutheran edged Hilltop C. of C., 7 to 4. Glenwood failed to show up with its scheduled fracas with Hoge Memorial, although the game was played with several "extra" players and the Presbyterians won, 11 to 2.

Last Friday night, Hoge Memorial disposed of a stubborn Westgate nine, 6 to 3, rain stopping the battle at the end of the seventh frame. Burwell's wildness enabled the Presbyterians to overcome an early lead, while Wilcox held the Westgate sluggers at bay after a wobbly start.

Bill Reese was again in form and the Nazarenes remained at the top of the heap by defeating Glenwood M. E., 18 to 0. It was Reese's third shut-out victory of the round and ran the Warren Avenue team's string of consecutive victories to seven.

Glenwood Tri Mu met a tartar in Sullivant Friends, although after 11 innings, no decision was reached and rain halted the battle with each team having scored once. The base runing of Leo Phillips was the game's feature.

In the finale, Hillcrest Baptist scored thrice in the last inning to defeat Hilltop C. of C., 3 to 0. Kent, on the mound for the winners, pitched well and was accorded good support, three double killings being registered.

Games Tonight

Two important battles are slated for tonight, both at Westgate Park. On diamond No. 1, Warren Avenue Nazarene will meet Sullivant Friends while on No. 2 diamond, Hillcrest will endeavor to avenge the defeat sustained at the hands of Westgate in the first round. Other games include: Glenwood vs. St. John, No. 3; Hoge vs. Burgess, No. 4; and at State Hospital, Tri Mu vs. C. of C.

Monday evening, July 9, the ace attraction will bring together Warren Nazarene and Hoge Memorial in what should be the closest of struggles. The game is scheduled for Westgate No. 3 diamond and will find Reese and Glass composing the Nazarene battery with Wilcox on the hoople for Hoge, and perhaps Simms behind the bat. The Hoge team has lost the services of Frank Holycross, regular receiver, who was called to Detroit to work.

St. John will meet Hillcrest on No. 1; C. of C. will tangle with Sullivant Friends on No. 2; Westgate will meet Glenwood on No. 4; and Glenwood Tri Mu and Burgess U. B. will round out the program at the State Hospital.

Miss Hastings Named Aide to Commander

Miss Emma Jean Hastings, 86 S. Ogden Ave., was named first aide to the "Commander of the Port" at the Red Bird Stadium last week, when the committee, assisted by Paul and Jerome Dean, pitchers for the St. Louis Cardinals, made known its selections for the two-day air show.

Miss Christine Bush will be the commander and Helen Jones, daughter of T. A. Jones, of the West Side Lumber Co., were the other selections. Miss Hastings is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hastings.

The selection was made from a group of 15 candidates and the trio named will preside at the special activities and events of the show.

Scouts In Camp On Deer Creek

Mrs. Irene McKinley Presents Interesting Program to Boys of Troops 172 and 181.

Two Hilltop Boy Scout troops were encamped the past week-end at Neff-Anderson Park, near Mt. Sterling. Troop 172 of Hoge Memorial was in camp from Friday night until Sunday afternoon, and Troop 181 of Hillcrest Baptist church was on a 10-day camping trip beginning last Saturday. Both troops maintained regular camp life, augmented with a varied program of tests for merit badges and hikes.

Probably the most enjoyable and instructive evening for both troops was spent Saturday night when Troop 172 invited members of Troop 181 to be their guests at a campfire circle. This circle was presided over by Mrs. Irene McKinley, who, dressed in Indian costume, presided as chief. Mrs. McKinley is troop mother of 181 and represents the Woodcraft League of America as Woodcraft Ranger for Ohio. She has made an intensive study of Indian lore and outdoor life and for two hours entertained the troop members with instructive illustrations and stories of Indian and outdoor life, for which she is amply qualified.

Mrs. McKinley has been prominent in outdoor work with boys and girls for a number of years and for several seasons was in charge of the Indian Village camp at Griggs dam. Her work as Woodcraft Ranger for Ohio takes her to many camps for boys, girls and adults throughout this and adjoining states.

State Hospital Drops to Second

Loses 3 to 2 Verdict to Columbus Bolt Works As Federal Glass Downs Safety Cabs.

With the half-way mark in the Saturday Afternoon League reached with games played Saturday, State Hospital, local entry, stood at second place in the loop standings.

Saturday's 3 to 2 loss at the hands of Columbus Bolt Works plunged the Hilltoppers downward from a tie with Federal Glass for first place. The Glassmen, meanwhile, were winning from Safety Cabs, 7 to 3.

Bunching four of their 10 hits in the opening frame, the locals scored both tallies and finished their day's labor, though an attempted rally in the ninth frame was nipped when Schwartz was caught at the plate after trying to score from second on George Walker's third hit.

The winners scored all of their runs in the fourth frame on four hits and two errors but were held at bay the remainder of the game, McClain giving up but two other hits.

Plans Completed For Camp Chase Post Air Show

World Famous Flyers to Attend; More Than 50 Planes Expected Affair Slated for July 7-8.

On Saturday and Sunday, July 7 and 8, the fifth anniversary of the opening of Port Columbus will be celebrated with an elaborate program of military war maneuvers and an air circus.

Being sponsored by Camp Chase Post 08, American Legion, and actively supported by city administration, the Chamber of Commerce, and the leading luncheon and service clubs of the city, the show has assumed national importance due to the fact many internationally famous aviators will participate.

Colonel Eddie V. Rickenbacker, vice president of TWA, has ordered one of the latest type Douglas airliners, the first transport plane built to travel 200 miles per hour, withdrawn from regular passenger service and will bring it here for the two days. Colonel Rickenbacker will officiate as starter and judge of the air races.

Colonel Roscoe Turner, holder of the speed records for transcontinental flights both ways across the continent, will speed into Port Columbus at a speed of over 300 miles an hour in an effort to establish a new world's record for a speed flight.

Jimmy Doolittle and Jimmy Haisdip, two national air figures will fly here for the show. Arthur J. "Art" Davis, a regular participant and a consistent winner in the national air races, will fly here in his Waco taper-wing racing plane, and will participate in both the air races and the air circus. Clemm Schonn, nationally known parachute jumper, will come with Davis and will make a "delayed" jump each day of the show at an elevation of two miles.

Two squadrons of the latest flying and bombing planes of the army will fly here from Wright field each day of the show and after short demonstrations will set down on the field for public inspection.

A squadron of planes from the 112th Obs. squadron at Cleveland, from the Naval Reserve Base at Detroit, 113th Obs. squadron at Indianapolis, and from the 312th Obs. at Louisville will fly here to participate in the show.

A two-hour circus will be presented each day, a model plane and glider exhibit in conjunction with model racing is scheduled for Sunday, and a complete automotive exhibit will be presentde during the two days.

Second Set of Games Scheduled

Merchant League Baseballers to Continue Campaign July 11; Kent-Gearhart Is Feature.

The second set of games in the second round of the Hilltop Merchant League will be played Wednesday evening, July 11, Kent's Food Market and Gearhart's Hardware clashing in the feature battle. Games of last Wednesday were postponed due to conflict with the holiday.

The Kent-Gearhart game is scheduled for Westgate diamond No. 3. Other games include: Derby Club vs. Broad-Hague Drugs, No. 1; Mid-West Grocers vs. Hamilton Gassers, No. 2; and Paley's Drugs vs. Painter's Market, No. 4.

Pending results of the Sniff Motor protest over Kent's Market, the first round title will continue to be shared by Sniff's and Gearhart's Hardware. The latter team, however, is half a game behind the auto dealers, having tied one game with Derby club. This game will be re-played in case the protest is over-ruled.

Lights Out, Ice Cream Melts, As Storm Hits Here

A severe windstorm late last Tuesday afternoon, again damaged property of local residents, and when a large tree was blown across the power and trolley lines in front of the Institution for the Feeble-Minded on West Broad street, lighting facilities were impaired for more than three hours.

Local merchants, whose business houses were being operated late prior to the Fourth of July holiday, utilized candle light until almost nine o'clock, at which time lights were again available.

Local druggists and confectioners were also inconvenienced when the refrigeration systems were stopped, ice cream melting and ice cold drinks becoming a rarity. One unlucky individual, coasting into a filling station, out of gas, also had to wait for the return of current to operate the pumps.

Street car service was held up for more than two hours while workmen repaired the trolley lines and motor traffic was also at a standstill.

Chorus To Picnic Next Wednesday

Bass-Tenor Ball Game to Feature Event Scheduled for Dispatch Country Club.

The second annual picnic of the Hilltop Business Men's Association Male Chorus, for members of the chorus and their families, will be held Wednesday evening, July 11, at the Dispatch Country club, it was announced by the committee in charge of arrangements this week.

The feature of the affair will be a baseball game between the tenors and the basses, Herb Ibsens being the manager of the latter with Bill Jones master-minding the activities of the tenors. Other entertainment has been planned with special activities for the ladies and children.

The committee in charge of the affair is composed of Frank Winkler, C. J. Kohn, John Aston, John Winkler and Bob Nichols.

Hilltoppers to Get Sewer Relief As City Starts Letting Contracts; Work On Three Sections to Begin Soon

Contracts Issued For Work As Far West As Whitethorne Avenue; Remainder to Be Let Before First of Year, According to Report.

The long hoped for and long awaited sewer relief for the Hilltop is fast becoming a reality. Contracts, numbering more than a dozen, will have been let by the first of the year, it was announced this week, and work will get under way immediately. Contracts for three areas, as far west as Whitethorne avenue, have already been let and the work will get under way soon.

Meanwhile, local residents, especially those living west of Hague avenue, and those near the Sullivant line, await with interest the expiration of the franchise of the Cincinnati and Lake Erie Traction Co.

The Hilltop Business Men's association, which group sent a resolution to council two weeks ago, is seeking an extension of the Broad street car line to the city limits, at the same time requesting the establishment of a shuttle service on Hague avenue between Broad and Sullivant. The resolution is now in the hands of the utilities committee.

The C. & L. E. franchise is scheduled to expire July 12, at which time it is thought that the case will be taken to court in an effort on the part of the company to continue operation within the city limits. A similar suit was won at Springfield.

The sewer relief, now on its way to the community, is the culmination of a long effort on the Hilltop for the construction of an adequate sytsem. Since the question of issuing bonds to the amount of $3,377,000 was approved last November, legal proceedings have moved as rapidly as possible and with assistance from the federal government, sewer relief work is actually under way.

For several years, flooded basements during severe storms have caused much damage to Hilltop property and caused unsanitary conditions, in many cases. Completion of these projects will be welcomed by local residents.

Workman Injured When Hit By Auto

Fred Krauss Recovering At Mercy Hospital; One Other Hilltopper Hurt In Crash.

When struck by an auto driven by Homer Heil, 489 S. High St., early Sunday morning, Fred Krauss, aged 63, of 116 Clarendon Ave., sustained cuts and bruises. He was taken to Mercy hospital, where staches said Wednesday, he was improving.

Mr. Krauss was working on High street, for the Columbus Railway Power and Light Co., when Heil, who attempted to pass another car, struck him, according to police. The driver of the car was not held by police, although questioned Monday.

Sunday evening, July 1, two women and a child sustained injuries in an auto collision at Central avenue and Broad street. A laceration over the eye was suffered by Mrs. J. M. Murphy, aged 60, of 62 S. Terrace St. Mrs. Raymond Gorman and her son, J. B. Gorman, aged 11, riding with Mr. Gorman in the other car, sustained cuts about the head. All were treated at Mt. Carmel hospital.

Glenwood Park Is One of City's Music Centers; Playground Bands to Be Organized By Leaders

One of the many fine activities to be presented by the city recreation department this summer is the formation of playground orchestras and music clubs.

Leo Hall, a wellknown director of children's orchestras, will be at the head of this department.

This activity promises to be one of the most popular and entertaining departments at the playgrounds.

To the child who plays a musical instrument there is nothing more enjoyable and inspiring than to play with others in a band or orchestra.

There will be four convenient park centers at which weekly rehearsals will be held, namely: Glenwood, Schiller, Beatty and Medary school, at which all children who would like to play in these orchestras are asked to report.

All children are requested to report one day a week at the shelter house of the center most convenient to them. At the end of the summer season all the centers will be grouped to form one large, city playground orchestra.

All children who play musical instruments are urged to enroll at their nearest playground (it does not have to be one of the centers) as soon as possible. Children who do not play an instrument, and who are interested in music, are also urged to enroll, as a special program in conjunction with the orchestra is planed for them. Bulletin boards should be watched at all times for important announcements.

Glenwood center will have its first rehearsal Tuesday, July 10, at 1:00 o'clock; Beatty, July 10, at 3:00 o'clock; Schiller, Wednesday, July 11, at 1:00 o'clock; and Medary school, Thursday, July 12, at 1:00 o'clock. All children are urged to come promptly at the appointed time and to bring their instruments and music stands.

The city recreation department has always advocated a constructive and educational principle in its playground activities and in the musical organization has added another step to their already fine standard.

Second, skill and a sense of fitness, so that the glasses may rest comfortably and be becoming. It is not an accident that glasses fitted by us are so comfortable as attractive!

The Nature Trail

By JOHN WOLFE

Whatever the season, Buckeye Lake is forever a fascinating spot. Whether it's winter, when the marsh is drab and desolate and the shore line bleak; whether it's coming spring, when the bog first wakes from dormancy; or whether it's summer, when a multitude of colors splash the landscape—Buckeye Lake holds high interest.

And now the summer season approaches its peak. The lake shores are marked by a waving line of slender cat-tails and bull-rushes, just coming into flower. Yellow and white water lilies are in bloom. Splattered against the wall of green that is the shrub zone about the marsh, is the fresh pink of the swamp rose. Lower growing, the purple nightshade is in flower. Cephalanthus, the button bush, is showing its many-flowered, white globular heads.

Soon, the grandest sight of all—the flowering Hibiscus on the marsh, will mark the height of summer. "Wild hollyhock" of the deepest and richest pink, blooms in profusion, and from a distance, Cranberry Bog seems to be crowned with a colorful wreath, a handiwork of the gods.

But we fail to view the marvelous part of it all if we see nought but the flowers. In what, at first sight, seems to be a vast mixture of vegetation there is unequalled orderliness.

Rowing along the edge of the lake today is rowing over what will be the swamp forest of tomorrow, should the area be left undisturbed, of course. Plants occur here in definite zones, the zones easily recognized, even by the layman.

The area extending farthest into the lake contains largely algae—beautiful, green plants, of a stringy, slimy nature, to the naked eye, but under the microscope, they are to be seen as organisms more beautiful than some of our flowering plants, and often more colorful.

Just back of this zone, toward the land, is a zone of submerged aquatics. Here several species of Potomogeton, a slender grass-like plant, is the dominant vegetation, it fading off into a zone of submerged and floating aquatics composed largely of Myriophyllum and Elodea, plants commonly utilized for decorative purposes in home aquaria.

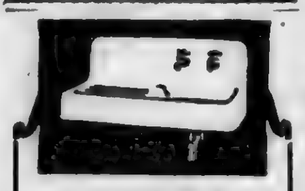
Now in shallower water, come the water lilies, back of which is a zone of cat-tails, bull-rushes and calamus, last of the water plants. In undisturbed areas, the shore-line will be dominated by shrubs—Button-bush, Hibiscus, Alder—in turn followed by a belt of willows, poplar and sycamores. These finally grade off into true swamp forest, of species of oak, ash, red maple, and elm.

Truly a remarkable succession—actually to be observed in the field—actually the succession throughout all of northeastern North America's inland lakes.

A hundred years shall pass, and during that time, erosion will have occurred, washing soil from the shore into the lake. At the same time, humus (decaying organic material) will be accumulating from the decomposition of the cat-tails, the pond lilies, the submerged and floating aquatics. Slowly, the lake will become filled in at the margins.

And as this happens, the cat-tail zone will slowly move outward, where water sufficient for growth is available and in turn, the shrubs will replace the cat-tails and shrubs. Gradually the swamp forest will move out into the lake.

It is a spectacular picture that the study of vegetation makes and one of ever increasing interest—a panorama of orderliness, marred only by the chaos produced by man.



And this marvelous orderliness of the natural world has always been, to the writer, a fascinating study, a thing of beauty, an inspiration, a mystery to be solved by observation and experiment. And last—a consolation. For when the world wearies me, to paraphrase some sage's observation I can always go back to Nature, master of the art of silent companionship.

What other field of human endeavor offers more?

Bible Manuscripts

In December, 1933, the British Museum succeeded in purchasing from the Soviet Government the famous Codex Sinaiticus, one of the two extant Bible manuscripts of the fourth century. The other, the Codex Vaticanus, is in the Vatican Library at Rome. The price, £100,000, or approximately $510,000, is said to be the largest sum ever paid for any book or manuscript. The manuscript was moved from Moscow to London with great secrecy and under guard.

Jamestown Settlement Relics

The Smithsonian Institution has received a number of relics of Captain John Smith's settlement at Jamestown, dating back to the earliest years of the seventeenth century. Among the articles in the collection, according to The United States News, are "a broken sword, tobacco pipes, keys, hinges, bars of lead, bullets and bullet molds, iron mattocks and other agricultural tools, horse trappings and bridle bits, a number of bottle necks, fragments of pottery, and pewter dishes and spoons."

Undernourished Children

Frances Perkins has estimated the number of undernourished children in the United States as one in five, which means approximately 8,000,000 children. A nation-wide drive is now on to restore these children to physical, mental, and spiritual health, drawing attention to the fact that malnutrition did not begin in 1929. The Literary Digest says, "If the program reduces the evils of malnutrition to pre-relief normal times, some good will have come out of the depression."

"Americans are the most forgetful people in the world." Heywood Broun.

Miscellaneous Recipes

Baked Ham

Cook ham slowly 4 hours with 4 quarts cold water, 2 bay leaves, 2 onion slices. Remove from stock, take off excess fat and skin. Stick in 12 whole cloves and spread with sugar mixture of 1 cup dark brown sugar, 1 cup spiced peach juice, 1 cup grape juice. Bake 20 minutes in hot oven, unmoved. Cover and bake 15 minutes more.

Asparagus Eggs

Cover the bottom of a greased oblong baking dish, 9 inches long, 6½ inches wide, and 2¾ inches deep, with a layer of cooked or canned asparagus. Break over it 6 fresh eggs—keep the yolks whole. Pour over the eggs ½ cupful of grated yellow cheese and paprika. Bake for 15 minutes in a 325 degrees F. oven. A few ribbons of pimento will add color, and spinach may be substituted as the "mattress." Yields 6 portions.

Ring Tum Diddy

Melt ½ pound of packaged American cheese in a saucepan over a slow fire. Add a few grains of cayenne and 1 can of condensed tomato soup. Stir until well mixed and serve on toasted crackers.

Roquefort Crumpets

Thoroughly blend 1 package of cream cheese and a 1½-ounce portion of Roquefort with ½ teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce; add enough cream to make a spreading consistency. Cut very thin slices from the bottom of a loaf of bread, trim the crusts, and cut each slice in half, making 4 or 5 inches long. Spread each slice with the cheese mixture, roll up like a jelly roll, and fasten with toothpicks. Toast under the broiler, turning often so that all sides are lightly browned. Serve hot.

Eggs Lucas

Halve 6 hard-cooked eggs lengthwise. Lightly sauté ½ cupful of minced mushrooms in 2 tablespoonfuls of fat. Combine with the egg yolks and season to taste (a dash of curry is intriguing). Restuff the whites with this mixture. Allow 2 each to an individual ramekin and cover the eggs with rich cheese sauce. Bake for 15 minutes in a 375 degrees F. oven or till browned. Yields 4 portions.

Baked-Ham Entree

6 slices pineapple.
3 medium-sized sweet potatoes.
3 apples, sliced.
2 slices raw ham.
½ cupful pineapple juice.
Brown sugar.
3 tablespoons butter.

Place the slices of canned pineapple in a greased pudding dish. Cut the sweet potatoes lengthwise and cover the pineapple. Cover with the sliced apples and top with the ham slices. Pour the pineapple juice over the top. Cook in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) in a covered dish for 2 hours, or until tender. Dredge the top with the brown sugar, dot with bits of the butter, and return to the hot oven or broiler for browning. Sprinkle with parsley before serving.

Filled Bread Cups

Toast 6 thick slices of bread. Remove crusts. Have prepared a thick white sauce to which has been added 1 cup cooked green peas, ½ cup diced cooked carrots, 1 cup diced cooked chicken. Fill bread cups with hot sauce. Return to oven to reheat bread.

Celery in Cream

Dice celery and cook in rapidly boiling salted water until tender. For each four cups of raw diced celery prepare one cup of sauce. To make the sauce, thoroughly heat 1 cup of thin cream, add 1 tablespoon of butter ½ teaspoon of salt and a dash of pepper. A dash of nutmeg is also a desirable seasoning. Drain the cooked celery (saving the water for soup) and pour the hot seasoned sauce over it.

Clover Leaf Rolls

1 yeast cake.
1 cup lukewarm milk.
2 tablespoons of sugar.
1 teaspoon of salt.
3 tablespoons melted lard.
Sufficient flour to knead.

Crumble a firm cold yeast cake into the milk to which has been added the sugar and salt. Mix well and add the melted lard and sifted flour. About two cups of flour will be needed. Roll out the dough, kneading as little as possible. Grease muffin tins and after rolling the dough out, cut with a small cutter about the size of a twenty-five cent piece or pinch off the same amount. Place three of these balls in each muffin ring. Cover and let rise for one hour. Then brush over each roll with melted butter and bake in a moderate oven.

Asparagus Pian

Boil peeled asparagus in salted water or use canned asparagus. Drain thoroughly. Serve on buttered toast and sprinkle generously with grated cheese. If the heat of the vegetable does not melt the cheese put under the flame for a minute.

Crisp Bacon with Pineapple

12 slices bacon.
6 slices pineapple.
Salt and pepper.
Flour.

Fry the strips of bacon, pouring off the fat as it forms, so that the bacon will be dry and crisp. Remove to a hot platter and keep hot. Sprinkle the flour with the salt and pepper. Dip the 6 slices of canned pineapple into the flour and cover both sides. Brown in hot bacon fat. This may be served with crisp, cold lettuce for a morning breakfast.

Hilltop Church League Notes

The first round in the circuit saw several records go by the boards, due largely to the new pitching rules and the livelier ball. Whereas 595 runs were scored by all entries to set a league record last year, total tallies to date (five games remain in first round) is already 661.

The race also proved closer this year, with St. John Lutheran and Burgess U. B. in eighth place, but 2½ games behind the leaders. The second round campaign may be even closer.

The high scoring record was broken twice, once when Sullivant Friends subdued C. of C., 28 to 5, and the second time, which is the present record, when Hoge defeated Burgess U. B., 32 to 9.

The record for total runs in one game, set last year when Glenwood and C. of C. played a 21 to 21 tie, remains, although Hoge and Burgess U. B. approached within one of the total 42.

Of the four shut-outs registered, three were by Emerson "Bill" Reese, who had two to his credit, one at the expense of Hillcrest Baptist. Westgate Evangelical and Warren Nazarene are the only squads never to have suffered defeat via the white-wash route. Speedy Kent registered the fourth white-wash against C. of C.

Attendance records, if such were available, would also have fallen during the first round. Several games attracted crowds of 400 or more, and with as many as eight teams capable of copping first division berths in the second round, several feature battles should be on tap.

Every Week This Salesman Knocks at 8500 Doors

. . . and ALWAYS Finds Somebody Home

IT'S putting it mild to say that the Hilltop Record is a welcome salesman. If it ever fails to show up at a front door our circulation department gets a nasty phone call. Yet the Record doesn't try, ahead of everything else, to be a salesman. Its main purpose in life is to inform and entertain, as any well-written, well-edited newspaper should do. Meeting its readers on their own terms, it lets them sell themselves — the secret of good salesmanship the world over.

That's why the Record is one "business visitor" that's accepted socially by most any family when it is in a social mood. It interviews each buying member of the household when the sales-resistance bars are down. It is accepted by them all as an old family friend. Which isn't hard to understand. For the Record bears the stamp of reliability. Readers depend on it!

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

Weekly traffic item: Car 484,210, which moved out Brd. St. Satnite and turned south on Eureka Ave., is one of the reasons why liability insurance, undertakers and traffic cops are required. . . . Passing a line of traffic on the right at a speed of 50 m. p. h. or more—no seatlions. . . . So Janice Booth wonders why she doesn't appear here more regular. . . . Rev. S. T. Magann, the Hillcrest pastor, prefers Mr. to Rev. . . . "Dink," the Hill cat of No Foke, Va., died. . . . And Ray fetched home another which he bot from a lad for 11 cents. . . . They used to call Louis H. Wolfe, Howl Wolfe—his middle monicker is Howell. . . . Bill Boyd will get spectacles soon. . . . John Krivdo, not seen in a long spell, once had the top of his head shot off. . . . And that didn't kill 'im. . . . And when he quit the butcher bizzness he became a barber.

Was wrong about E. Carter's birthweight. . . . 'Twas 2 lbs., not three. . . . Tag Draper got that nickname yrs. ago when John Henry walked in Umbenhaur's drug store where Robert Marvin was working, and before those gathered there, observed that he bore some resemblance to Tagalong in the comic strip "Freckles and His Friends." . . . And the name stuck. . . . Who is P. P.'s chauffeur? . . . Whatever became of Herb Suver? . . . Dwight Frasure has the most riotous imagination of anyone I know. . . . Don Dear's picture reminds one of George Arliss, . . . Story Book People: Fred Johnson—The Man on the Flying Trapeze. . . . Hiawatha—Curtis Westerman (the Hilltop's ace American boy) . . . Sherm, by the way, is furious at Ray Hauntz. . . . Seems as though Ray sold him some jars and the lids got rusty and rained the top layer of gold coins the Fire Chief had stored in a dozen containers. . . ? Gosh, here comes Henry Jones with a headline that won't fit. . . . Yeah, that's all right. Make it "Westgate In Lead" . . . the old scalawags. . . .

I have tried, S. T. R., to find your address, but to no avail. . . . But if you will call, or have someone do so, you may get a personal reply to your last letter. . . . Ask for answer for box X, at this office. . . . Or, if you prefer, send me your address. . . . And thanx. . . . Laddie, Markins' airedale, succumbed a yr. ago this wk. . . . The present pekinese came from the World's Fair, where Mr. Markins' attention was first called to it by his wife. . . . He said "absolutely not"—and the usual compromise resulted. . . . Its name slips me, but its mother was Pankie Pooh (sp?) . . . No one smokes a cigar with the grace and dignity of Jack Shank. . . . Whatever became of Giff Markeson? . . . Carl Johnson, the barber, suggests that he could well combine his business with that of pillaring—with good results. Sho nuff. . . . Haven't heard from Frank Howard in such a spell.

Correction

In an article last week it was stated that T. A. Jones was connected with the Doddington Co. It should have read the Jones Lumber & Coal Co., of 57 N. Sylvan Ave.

Nazarenes Defeat Hoge Memorial, 1-0; Westgate In Lead

Reese Tosses Fourth Shut-out; Warren to Meet Hillcrest Tonight at Westgate.

Behind the sensational mound work of Emerson Reese, Warren Nazarene sent Hoge Memorial down to defeat Monday evening at Westgate Park by the score of 1 to 0.

As a result, Westgate Evangelical, conquerors of Hillcrest last Friday, took undisputed possession of first place in the second flight of the Hilltop Church League.

Meanwhile, other results Monday evening placed five teams in a tie for second place in the bitterest church league race in the city. St. John bowed to Hillcrest 15 to 5 while Glenwood Tri Mu was brushing off Burgess U. B. 6 to 4. Westgate retained the only unblemished slate of the round by beating Glenwood M. E. 9 to 2. In the other game, Sullivant Friends edged Hilltop Church of Christ 8 to 7.

Classic Game Tonight

Tonight, an important battle is carded. Hillcrest Baptist, whose supremacy as champions is being challenged in no little way, will clash with Warren Nazarene on Westgate diamond No. 1. The Westgate-Tri-Mu game has been postponed.

Other games tonight bring St. John up against Sullivant Avenue on Westgate No. 2; Hoge vs. C. of C. on No. 3; and Glenwood M. E. vs. Burgess U. B., No. 4.

C. & L. E. Franchise Expires; Cars To Continue Operation

Court Battle Slated, With Traction Company Favored to Win Right to Run Cars.

The franchise of the Cincinnati and Lake Erie Traction company, permitting operation of that company's interurban cars in the city of Columbus, expired Thursday, July 12.

But with the expiration of the franchise, the beginning of a court battle is scheduled, with the company favored to come out on the long end, a similar suit having been won in Springfield, where C. & L. E. cars also operate.

Columbus City Council has ordered the company to cease operation here with the expiration of the franchise, but according to Wyatt Millikin, operation may continue by court order inasmuch as the case would be undoubtedly presented immediately upon expiration of the franchise.

Meanwhile, long sought relief from car tracks sadly in need of repair will continue to be awaited by Hilltoppers, especially those residing south and just north of Sullivant avenue.

The Hilltop Business Men's association, seeking extension of the West Broad car line, sent a resolution to council to that effect two weeks ago. It is still in the hands of the utilities committee. The business men had asked that a shuttle service be established between Broad and Sullivant, on Hague.

American Press Unfair To Adolph Hitler Is Opinion of Hilltop Minister and Editor

By JOHN WOLFE

Recent events in Germany have filled the American press with sensational news, creating a tremendous amount of public opinion and comment, mostly adverse to the present Nazi regime.

It was interesting to the reporter, therefore, to hear Rev. Julius Bodensieck, formerly of Germany, who is well informed on present affairs in that country, and at present editor of the official German paper of the American Lutheran church, comment of the situation in his native land. Rev. Bodensieck, with his wife and two children, now lives on the Hilltop, at 165 Binns Blvd.

"Recent events in Germany have been so strikingly unexpected," he said, "that I hardly know what to think.

"If revolt was brewing within the Nazi party, however, the taking of sixty lives was the lesser of two evils for the life of Germany was at stake.

"American newspapers and cartoonists picture Hitler as a bloody murderer. I don't think it is fair. It must be remembered that the lives were taken from within the party itself, and if this method preserved the greater number of German people, whose hearts are back of "old man Hindenburg," it was merely the lesser of two evils.

"The whole thing is the result of economic disturbance," Rev. Bodensieck says. "Exports have dwindled because of the Jewish boycott. German people have gone on war-time rations, and this requires rigid discipline to carry out such a program."

"Prior to June 30, which is now referred to in Germany as 'Bloody Saturday,' Hitler had affected a marvelous revolution — a bloodless revolution, which had produced amazing results."

Rev. Bodensieck enumerated some of the results of this revolution. As a result of the Nazi regime, Germany is more united than at any time before the war; the nation has regained the hope of winning honor and prestige; unemployment has decreased; antagonism between city and rural population has been abolished and class distinctions have been eliminated. In addition, peace has been established between the state and the Catholic church, something Bismarck failed to do. And finally, a peace pact has been set up between Germany and Poland. The "Polish corridor" has always been considered a breeding place for war.

Hitler has a powerful and magnetic personality, according to Rev. Bodensieck. A complete mastery of his native tongue, a manifest honesty, his earnestness, his confidence—enable him to hold the attention of thousands while he talks—often two or three hours at a time.

"A cartoon in a Columbus paper of Tuesday, July 10, is an example of unfairness to the German leader," he said. "The cartoonist pictures a 'butcher's band behind a kid glove,' making light of Hitler's peace gestures to France. This is unfair to the Nazi leader."

Dr. A. Pilger, Ripon, Wis., who is visiting with Rev. Bodensieck this week, and who is personally acquainted with high officials in the German state, further substantiated the latter's remarks.

In a letter from Gen. Otto von Below, well-known officer in the Imperial army during the late war, Dr. Pilger was told that Kurt von Schleicher, one of the executed, "did honor to his name," which, Dr. Pilger explained, means "sneak." The letter was of January, 1934, months prior to the now famous "bloody Saturday." General Below, it was explained, was opposed to Hitler three years ago. He is now one of his stanchest supporters, having been converted, as he wrote, "by the man's manifest honesty."

"I hate to see anyone killed," Rev. Bodensieck said in conclusion, "for any reason. With my present knowledge, I cannot allign myself definitely on Hitler's side. There must be a very profound reason for the taking of human life, and whether Hitler had such reasons, I cannot say for certain now. But there are two sides to every question."

The situation may be compared to that of a man travelling in Russia, he thinks. He travels a year, and writes a book. He travels five years, and writes a pamphlet. He spends most of his life there, and hardly knows enough to write anything.

Dr. A. Pfiger, Ripon, Wis., and Rev. August Baetke, Milwaukee, Wis., visited at the home of Rev. J. Bodenstieck during the past week. The latter is rector of the Lutheran deaconness mother house in Milwaukee, and is making an annual tour of inspection through the middle west.

Commend Board

At the July meeting of the Columbus Board of Education, a number of groups and Parent-Teacher associations from various parts of the city, expressed their appreciation to the board for their work in keeping the Columbus schools in such fine condition in spite of the difficult financial set-up. Dr. Raymond J. Miller, Mrs. Wyatt Millikin and Mrs. E. E. Ferguson represented West Junior-Senior High P.-T. A.

"Movie-Minded"

The United States is said to be five times as "movie-minded" as the rest of the world. Its people spend over $1,000,000,000 a year in attending moving picture shows. It is figured that a household of five persons spends, on the average, eighty cents a week.

Do YOU Know—

That there are nearly 20,000 motion picture theatres in America attended nightly by 15,000,000 movie fans. This is five times as many movie houses as there are in the United Kingdom; six times as many as in Germany and ten times as many as there are in France or Italy.

Why the Moon Smiles

By ETHEL TITUS WORTHEN

O, Moon, what made you smile tonight,
As you played hide-and-seek;
And from behind the fleecy clouds,
You tauntingly would peek.

Was it because a little child,
Saw you, and in delight,
Reached out its chubby, dimpled arms,
As if to hold you tight?

Or were you teasing lovers,
As they slowly walked along;
Heedless of the world around—
Whispered love's old song?

Oh, I know! You were just happy,
Because your mellow light,
Had cheered so many weary ones,
And made life seem more bright!

A Testing

By ELSIE RALSTON WESTLAKE

A bunch of beautiful roses
Had stood in the hall for a day,
To give fresh water to nourish,
I lifted and bore them away.
The carefully I carried,
A breeze came in at the door,
And oh, a shower of petals
Covered my kitchen floor!
Startled, I stopt, half complaining,
Seeing a new task to be done
With strength for the day fast waning—
Then saw a temptation to shun.
For a moment, I paused in silence
And reverently thought of His care,
Of the promise, "I should not be tempted
Above that I was able to bear."
Thought of the BEAUTY thus scattered,
That a whiff could hardly destroy,
Then the petals became the footprints
Of His presence to test my joy.

"I Will Look Unto the Hills"

By ETHEL TITUS WORTHEN

I've reached a sharp bend on the road
That I've traveled so many years.
The shadows are so deep! The load
So hard to bear. Through blinding tears
I try to look beyond to see
Around the bend . . . but all in vain
Human sight sees not our destiny
Though it be joy or grief and pain.

But rising high above the bend
Lifting up toward skies of blue,
The lofty hills a challenge send
To me, that God is always true.
His promises are ever sure:
Strength will be given day by day:
Grace for each trial to endure:
And His own presence all the way.

Spend More for Gas Than On Education

There are approximately 1,000,000 school teachers in the United States and an equal number of persons employed in the making and distributing of automobiles. But "the great American public spends substantially more annually on gasoline than the entire educational bill amounts to!"

Every day in every way life becomes more complicated.

Astronomer's Home

An astronomer from the Smithsonian Institute has moved into a granite-block house built for him at the top of Mount St. Katherine, in the Sinai Peninsula. He and his family will live there so as to make daily observations on the radiations of the sun. The location, chosen by the institution after a search for the highest and driest suitable spot in the Eastern Hemisphere, is supposedly very near the place where Moses received the Ten Commandments, as recorded in the book of Exodus.

New Pipe Material

A new material, composed of asbestos and cement, is being used instead of metal for making pipe. It is more satisfactory than metal because it is not affected by soil acids and alkalies or by electric currents. Nonmetallic pipe has been in use in Italy for several years.

Good Government Possible

Cincinnati, O., has made a name for itself by its reforms in municipal government and the fact that it closed its books Dec. 31, 1933, without a deficit. "A few faithful citizens," says Charles Phelps Taft II, "have proved that good government in American cities of substantial size is a possibility."

COOL FOODS THAT CHALLENGE SUMMER APPETITES

IN order to tempt jaded summer appetites your meals must be composed of cooling foods—not necessarily cold foods but those dishes that seem to promise refreshment and relief from sweltering heat. Of course you will serve plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables and only those meats that are not overrich in fat. Here are some dishes that should quicken the palate to enjoyment.

Fruit Punch

1½ cups sugar
3 cups water
2 cups orange juice
2-3 cup lemon juice
2 cups grape juice
6 cups iced water.

Boil the sugar and water 10 minutes. Cool. Add the rest of the ingredients and chill. Serve in glasses one-third filled with chopped ice.

Cantaloupe Fruits Cup

1 cup cantaloupe cubes
1 cup diced pineapple
½ cup pineapple juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Garnish with a few preserved green grapes. Serve very cold in cocktail glasses.

Melon Halves with Raspberries

Thoroughly chill small honey dew melons, or cantaloupes and raspberries. Just before serving cut melons in halves and carefully remove centers. Fill with raspberries and sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar. Garnish with mint leaves. The fruit must be very cold when served.

Ham Mousse

2 tablespoons gelatine
4 tablespoons cold water
2 cups cold stock
2 cups cooked ham, finely ground
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons prepared horseradish
4 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
Dash cayenne
Dash ground cloves
½ cup mayonnaise
1 cup whipping cream.

Soften the gelatine in cold water and dissolve over boiling water. Add the stock, ham and all the seasonings except the mayonnaise. Fold the mayonnaise into the whipped cream. Fold the mayonnaise mixture into the ham mixture. Turn into a mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with carrot cups filled with vegetable salad and sprigs of water cress.

Pottage Steak

Pound well thin slices of top round beef. Dip in flour and brown in butter. Boil in water with bay leaves 1 hour. Make gravy of butter, flour, juice. Broil meat and gravy together 5 minutes.

Crisp Bacon with Pineapple

12 slices bacon
6 slices pineapple
Salt and pepper
Flour.

Fry the strips of bacon, pouring off the fat as it forms so that the bacon will be dry and crisp; remove to hot platter and keep hot. Sprinkle the flour with salt and pepper. Slip the six slices of canned pineapple into the flour to cover both sides. Brown in hot bacon fat.

Noodle Ring with Chicken and Mushrooms

2 cups noodles broken in pieces
2 cups milk
3 tablespoons fat
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
4 eggs
2 cups minced spinach.

Cook noodles in boiling water until tender. Drain and rinse in cold water. Scald milk and add fat, salt, pepper and slightly beaten eggs. Drain noodles. Grease ring mold. Fill one quarter of it with spinach; the next quarter with noodles, the next with spinach and top with noodles. Pour the milk and egg mixture over it. Place mold in pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven. When done unmold on a platter and fill the center with cream chicken and mushrooms.

Frozen Pineapple and Marshmallow Salad

1 cup whipping cream
½ cup mayonnaise
3½ cups diced, canned pineapple drained
1 slice pineapple quartered
12 marshmallows quartered
½ cup nut meats chopped
½ cup diced maraschino cherries.

Whip the cream and fold in the mayonnaise. Combine the diced pineapple, marshmallows, nuts and cherries. Fold in the mayonnaise mixture. Freeze in the tray of an automatic refrigerator. Unmold on crisp lettuce and garnish with pineapple slices, quartered and whole maraschino cherries.

Crabmeat Salad

1 cup crabmeat
2 hard cooked eggs diced
½ cup diced celery
2 tablespoons chopped pickles
2 teaspoons chopped pimentos
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1-3 cup mayonnaise.

Chill ingredients. Combine and serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

Chocolate Ice Box Pudding

4 eggs
4 tablespoons sugar
2 cakes German sweet chocolate
1½ dozen lady fingers
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Melt chocolate in the top of a double boiler, add sugar, then well beaten egg yolks. Remove from fire add vanilla and then fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Split lady fingers. Line mold with them, add layer of chocolate mixture, then lady fingers, continuing until all ingredients are used. Leave a layer of lady fingers on top. Let stand in refrigerator over night. Remove from mold. Cut in blocks and serve with whipped cream.

Tapioca Cream

2 cups milk scalded in double boiler
4 tablespoons minute tapioca
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
½ teaspoon lemon rind
Cook and chill.

Serve with a sauce made from the juice and pulp of one orange, one lemon and half a cup of honey. Cook three minutes, chill and pour over the pudding just before serving.

Jellied Ham Salad

1 tablespoon granulated gelatin.
⅓ cup vinegar.
2 hard cooked eggs, sliced.
½ teaspoon salt.
½ cup diced celery
1 chopped pimento.
½ chopped green pepper.
2 tablespoons minced onion.
½ cup mayonnaise.

Soak gelatine in cold water and dissolve in boiling water. Add vinegar and salt. Cool. When mixture begins to jell mix in all the other ingredients excepting the eggs. Rinse a mold in cold water. Arrange the egg slices on the bottom and sides. Then pour in the ham mixture. Set in a cold place until firm. Serve on a bed of shredded lettuce.

Jellied Salad

Soak 2 teaspoons gelatine in 3 tablespoons cold water. Dissolve over hot water and add slowly to 1 cup mayonnaise. Chop 2 slices onion, 1 cup cabbage and 2-3 cup raw carrot and 1 green pepper. Add to dressing, mold, chill and turn out on lettuce.

Pineapple Isles

6 slices pineapple.
1 teaspoonful walnuts, chopped.
Salt.
1 tablespoonful water.
2 eggs.
4 tablespoonfuls powdered sugar.

Place the slices of canned pineapple on a greased tin and sprinkle each with the chopped walnuts mixed with a few grains of salt. Add the water to the whites of the eggs, beaten very stiff; then beat in the sugar. Heap in the center of the pineapple. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 20 minutes, or until delicately brown.

Pineapple Eggnog

2 eggs.
½ cupful cream.

Beat the yolks and whites of the eggs separately. Add the sugar and the cream to the egg yolks. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Add the pineapple juice and mix well. This makes 2 servings. It is not absolutely necessary to beat the yolks and whites separately. However, the stiffly beaten whites make a more attractive drink.

Bananas with Bacon

6 bananas. ¼ pound bacon.

Roll half lengths of the peeled bananas in strips of the bacon. Secure with a toothpick. Broil under flame; or bake in an ovenproof dish in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) for about 15 minutes, or until the bananas are tender and the bacon is crisp. Baste at least once while baking. Whole bananas may be wrapped in bacon and cooked in the same way.

Baked Bananas—II.

Peel the bananas. Arrange in a shallow baking dish and sprinkle with lemon juice. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 10 to 12 minutes, or until tender. Sprinkle with powdered sugar; serve hot.

FEW HOMES OR OFFICES PROPERLY VENTILATED

A five-year study conducted by the United States Public Health Service discloses the fact that nearly half of the cases of illness in the United States are diseases of the lungs. The survey also calls attention to the greater number of cold and other respiratory troubles during the winter months of the year. Compartively few offices or homes are properly ventilated, many of them being either drafty or else overheated. According to the Public Health Service, a temperature between 68 degrees and 70 degrees F. and a certain amount of air movement is most comfortable and most healthful. Therefore, when air conditioning becomes more generally used probably there will be fewer cases of the common cold and of more serious illness.

Cruelty to Animals

According to Time, New York City's Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in 1933 had two persons arrested "for throwing live cats into furnaces," another "for strapping a turkey to roller skates," and two others "for biting the heads off live rats!".

The LOOKOUT

By J. N. WOLFE

DIALOGUE

Spirit: You should be about your business.

Flesh: Yes, I know. But here is such a cool, lazy retreat, upon a hot, lazy afternoon, beside the shining, lazy river. And I am lazy. Let us idle away the hour under this giant elm.

Spirit: An idler is a watch that wants both hands! as useless when it goes as when it stands.

Flesh: But it's so quiet here. Feel the cool breezes blowing up from across the water. Hear them loiter in the branches and see the soft sunlight flickering through the leaves and in little patches play and dance and disappear and reappear, like frolicsome pups, on the ground.

Spirit: But you must be up and doing. With the passing of every minute you approach the man you are to be.

Flesh: Yes, I know. But listen to that water thrush on that dead sycamore trunk down by the water's edge. Listen to that liquid warble—softer than the very ripples themselves—wild and sweet, like this miniature wilderness. Shelly would have hailed it as a "blithe spirit," and he too, approached what he was to be while listening to the skylark. And that Bob White, calling from over in the field; and the song sparrow, singing from that elm sapling; and the tireless indigo bunting, singing in that hawthorne bush—aren't these worth the hour?

Spirit: Yes, yes! But your work—! Even now your weekly column is three days late! Anyhow, you're not Shelly!

Flesh: Sure, but he found and I find pleasure in common things—like birds and flowers and trees and sunsets. But he could call a bird a "blithe spirit" and get away with it, while I call the same bird a skylark. Why is it that people prefer to get things all tangled up with something they don't know anything about before such things can be regarded as beautiful. Does it actually destroy the beauty of a rainbow to see it as sunlight reflected from water vapor? Or is a flower no longer fragrant if it is a flower instead of a wood sprite? Are hills devoid of grandeur because they were carved and molded in a million years by ceaseless erosion by rivers? Are trees less stately because they are trees, not poems? And is man less noble or more savage because he rose with the ape from common ancestors, instead of being formed from the dust of the earth?

Spirit: Enough! Enough of this! When are you going about your business? Such questions are for the philosophers—the intellectually rich. Get you begone from this fair spot.

Flesh: Indeed. I must be about my business—but maybe I have been about my business.

Spirit: Yes, you have idled away the hour and have nothing to show for it.

Flesh: Quiteso! Quiteso! my dear fellow. But you have not disturbed me! And the idleness has been amply remunerative, if not obviously so.

Spirit: Even so, the column is yet undone!

Flesh: True, after a fashion. But I shall finish it in double quick time now. In fact, it is finished.

Spirit: Ah, indeed! But I have been so insistent and willing, while you have been so weak.

Flesh: But our combined weakness and strength has filled the column.

Spirit: Yes, but alas, with what?

Library to Close From August 6-20

The Hilltop Branch Library will be closed for two weeks beginning Aug. 6, it was announced this week. The annual summer vacation will terminate Aug. 20. The library will open on that day at 12:30 o'clock.

For the convenience of the patrons, extra books will be issued during the week of July 30.

According to the present city budget, which appropriates less than the amount of last year, for libraries, the local branch will be able to operate part time, as heretofore. An effort had been made to operate on a daily schedule.

Hillcrest, Hoge to Renew Feud At Westgate Tonight

Presbyterians Assured of Sharing First Round Title After Protest Is Granted.

Hoge Memorial Presbyterian and Hillcrest Baptist will meet again at Westgate Park tonight in the feature battle of church league games carded for the week end. The game is scheduled for diamond No. 1.

The Presbyterians must cop the game to remain in the torrid running for the second round title. Westgate is now leading the pack, nursing an unblemished slate.

Hillcrest was practically eliminated from the chase last week when Emerson Reese hurled his fifth shut-out while his mates hit hard to hammer out 10 runs. Westgate retained the top rung by remaining idle.

Meanwhile, Hoge Memorial was awarded its protest of a game played against Glenwood Tri Mu in the first round and assured itself of at least a tie for the title. Warren Nazarene, half a game behind, must defeat Glenwood Tri Mus to have a chance at the bunting.

Three of the five scheduled games Monday evening were postponed, but Burgess U. B. and Hillcrest Baptist won out in games played. The Brethren took advantage of Bleech's wildness and also hit hard at opportune times to beat St. John, 8 to 1. Speedy Kent, meanwhile, pitched the Baptists to a 2 to 0 win over Hilltop C. of C.

Games tonight will mark the close of Friday evening play, in the league, with the exception of several postponed battles from Monday of this week.

Emerson "Bill" Reese registered his fifth shut-out and his second in a row, as well as making it two in a row over Hillcrest, Friday night, the Nazarenes walloping the Baptists 10 to 0. Reese, Glass and Preston were the stars for the winners, while Reynolds looked best for Hillcrest.

Logan, Burgess U. B., also turned in a shut-out Friday evening, the Brethren defeating Glenwood M. E. 8 to 0. The Methodists set a league record when they lost their tenth straight game.

In a well played and hard fought contest, Sullivant Friends edged St. John, 3 to 2. The winning tally crossed the plate on an error in the ninth frame.

Hoge Memorial gave Hilltop C. of C. its ninth consecutive defeat by hammering out a 10 to 3 decision.

Games Tonight

Tonight, Warren Nazarene will meet Burgess U. B. on Westgate diamond No. 2; Hillcrest, if fees are paid, will meet Hoge on No. 1; Glenwood M. E. and Sullivant Friends will hook up on No. 3. Hilltop C. of C., whose fees also must be paid, will meet Westgate on No. 4. Tri Mu, the third delinquent, will meet St. John at the hospital.

The following games are slated for Monday, July 23: Hoge Memorial vs. St. John, Westgate No. 1; Westgate vs. Burgess U. B., No. 2; Sullivant vs. Hillcrest, No. 3; Warren vs. C. of C., No. 4; and Tri Mu vs. Glenwood M. E., State Hospital.

Win Protest Over Kent's Food Market to Take High Honors In Merchant League.

As a result of action by the protest board of the city recreation department Monday evening of this week, Hamilton Gassers were awarded first round honors in the Hilltop Merchants' League.

The Gassers, formerly Sniff Motors, had protested a game against Kent Food Market, which the latter won, 2 to 1, on the grounds that no list of eligible players had been filed with the department prior to the game.

Wednesday's Results

Paley Drugs continued with an immaculate slate, in two ways, copping their second game in as many starts via the shut-out route. Derby Club was the victim, 13 to 0. Kent Market nosed out Broad-Hague Drugs, 2 to 1, Owens hitting and fielding well for the losers.

Gearhart Hardware and Hamilton Gassers remained in a tie for the top with Paley by winning respectively from Mid-West Grocers and Painter's No. 2. Scores were 6 to 3 and 4 to 2.

Games scheduled for next Wednesday are: Paley Drugs vs. Hamilton Gassers, No. 1; Kent's Market vs. Mid-West Grocers, No. 2; Gearhart Hardware vs. Broad-Hague Drugs, No. 3; Painter's No. 2 vs. Derby Club, No. 4.

"PATIENTS" TRAIL IN SAT. P. M. LOOP

Federal Glass Rallies In Ninth to Beat Hilltoppers, 3 to 2.

Rallying in the ninth frame to score three runs, Federal Glass baseballers strengthened their hold on first place in the Saturday Afternoon League last Saturday at the Red Bird Stadium by defeating State Hospital, 3 to 2.

Mettles, on the mound for the losers, had pitched three-hit ball up until the fatal ninth, when a pass and three singles sent him to the showers. McClain, who replaced him, could not stem the tide and another single from the bat of Henson ended the game.

The "Patients" are now two full games behind the leaders.

The headline attraction in the loop Saturday will be the Hospital-Safety Cab clash at the Hilltop diamond. The game is slated to get under way at 2:30 o'clock.

City Engineer Maetzel Asks For West Broad St. Improvement

If City Engineer Paul W. Maetzel's suggestion to the state highway director is approved, West Broad street from Wheatland avenue west to Hague avenue will be re-surfaced.

The federal government is to issue a direct grant to the state, a part of which will go to the county and a part of that, in turn, to go to the city. It was pointed out by Mr. Maetzel that this money must be utilized for the improvement of federal highways.

It was therefore suggested that the West Broad sector be improved, it being in the worst condition of any of the national highways passing through Columbus. The project has not been approved, however, but it was expected to be up for decision within a few days.

The project will be a substitute program, if it goes through, plans for the construction of boulevards along each side of the Scioto River between Town and Mound street at a cost of $260,000 falling through Wednesday of this week when railroads refused to share in the contemplated program by constructing two overhead bridges.

Plans for the improvement of the West Broad area were drawn up several years ago, according to Maetzel, but were abandoned when the depression struck city finances.

If the project goes through, there will be no expense to the city or to taxpayers in the area affected.

Business Men vs. Legion Post 98

"Donkey" Baseball Game Scheduled for Coliseum on Wednesday, July 25; Game Expected to Furnish Big Kick to Players and Spectators.

A rip-roaring time is expected next Wednesday evening by the local American Legion Post and the Hilltop Business Men's association when they hook up at the coliseum at the Ohio State Fair Grounds in a donkey baseball game.

Donkey baseball is new in Columbus, the game being played with 16 Mexican burros. The batter, after hitting the ball, mounts the donkey and tries to get to first base. The fielder, also astride a donkey, tries to throw him out.

Jack Shank, manager pro tem for the business men, said this week that he had not decided on the batteries. Willard Eidson, however, was expected to catch George Mutson's slants.

"We think we have a poor pitcher in Mutson," Shank said, "thus giving us the opportunity of seeing the other team ride the donkeys. We also have two substitutes for every player. About the only man who will help us as far as the score goes is Mart Seiler, who will be able to walk or run whether he's on the donkey or not."

Others slated to see action for the business men are: George Painter, Lu Rausch, Herb Deems, Ray Hauntz, Sherm Edwards, Cliff Kohn, Dr. T. S. Fox, Floyd Green, A. C. "Annebelle" Nafzger, C. H. Campbell, Cliff Rice, Roy Hastings, Bill Coulthard, and Mose Williams.

Members of the American Legion team, of which Dr. A. C. Myers is captain, are: Byron Redman, Slim Harlor, Herb Davis, P. E. Todd, Pat Griffin, Dr. Strausbaugh, Art Bellar, Sol Rising, Frank (Red) Heft, Footney Cummings, Emerson Levering, Ray McVay, Rodger Myers, Ed Planck, Larry Scales, C. V. Husson, Bob Billups, Ducky Swain, O. C. Voss, William Rogers, Dr. Fred Sulzberger, Gilbert (Red) White, Col. Bob Harsh, George Ward, John Amicon, Pete Herbert, Glen Stokes, Tom Hairston, and Dr. Sharp.

Nick Cullop and Tom Angley, Red Bird favorites, will be the umpires. Tickets are available at Painter's Grocery, Sullivant and Warren; Todd's Pharmacy, Silliman's Dry Cleaners, Mose Williams' Barber Shop, Campbell's Pharmacy, Legion Headquarters, or from any member of the Legion.

An Attic Ventilating System

Makes Every Bedroom A Sleeping Porch . . . .

"SURE, I slept last night . . . sound as a log . . . in spite of all this heat. From the time my head struck the pillow I was dead to the world. Seems like I dreamed a little, though . . . about the seashore and gentle breezes playing all around."

In that home a new attic ventilating system had been installed. This system circulates the air in the attic, draws the hot, stagnant air out of a window, removes the heat from the entire home, transforms bedrooms into individual sleeping porches.

Pursley Is Candidate For Representative

William E. Pursley

In announcing his candidacy for the nomination for state representative, Mr. Pursley, an instructor at Crestview High school for the past seven years, states his greatest reason for seeking the office is the opportunity he would have in serving the schools of Columbus and throughout the state.

His platform in brief is: That the schools be operated by the state, their entire support to be borne by the state, except such items as swimming pools, gymnasiums and educational frills.

That the revenue be derived from an income tax based on the ability to pay. The tax to be placed on moderate incomes as well as large.

A tax also to be placed on excessive profits made by corporations and public utilities.

"Wood of the Bow"

The first French settlers in Louisiana found that the Osage Indians were the most-feared tribe there because of a remarkable bow which they used. It was yellow in color and hard and resilient; so they named it "bois d'arc," which means "wood of the bow." It is known in different localities by various names, some of which are: bois d'arc, bois-arc, osage orange, bodark, yellow wood, Osage, osage, and hedge tree. It has grown over a large area including Arkansas, Oklahoma, Michigan, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas. Perhaps the greatest value of this tree is in its use as a source of dye.

RECIPES FOR THE MONTH'S CANNING

It may seem a little early to begin putting up the delicious jams and jellies that will make your next winter menus joyful and appetizing. But the market is rich with fruits ready for the preserving kettle. Plan to buy each fruit when it is most bountiful, and hence cheapest. It is a good idea to put up small quantities of fruit at a time rather than confine all your canning activities to a brief strenuous period.

As you know it is the pectin in fruits that causes them to "jel," so you must always combine fruits rich in this substance with those lacking it, or add bottled pectin for success.

Here are the important rules of preserving:

1. Have all measurements exact.
2. In making jelly be sure that you bring it to a full rolling boil.
3. If you use bottled pectin you will have to give your jams a longer period to "set" before using.
4. Always use containers that are perfectly clean and sterile and seal all jams, preserves and jellies airtight.

Here are some recipes to add to your files—utilize them as the various fruits make their appearance and enjoy the fruits of your labors long after summer has passed.

Gooseberry-Sour Cherry Jam

2 cups (2½ pounds) prepared fruit
7 cups (7½ pounds) sugar
½ cup bottled fruit pectin.

To prepare the fruit crush or grind about 1 quart of ripe gooseberries. Remove the seeds from 1 quart of fully ripe sour cherries and chop or grind. Combine the fruits.

Measure the sugar into a large kettle. Add the prepared fruit. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over a hot fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard for 1 minute. Remove from the fire and stir in the pectin. Skim and pour quickly into sterilized jars. Cover with paraffin at once.

Gooseberry Bar le Duc

Use 6 pounds of gooseberries, 2 cups cider vinegar, 9 pounds sugar. Put the washed and cleaned gooseberries with the vinegar and ½ the sugar in an enameled kettle and boil for 20 minutes. Then add the rest of the sugar and boil for 45 minutes. Put in glasses and when cool cover with paraffin.

Plum Conserve

Four quarts ripe plums, 4 oranges, 1 pound seedless raisins, 5 pounds sugar, 1 pound English walnuts. Do not peel the plums but cut in quarters and take out the seeds. Chop the rind of the oranges as well as the pulp, removing seeds. Put all together in an enameled kettle and cook slowly for one-half hour. This makes about 5 pints. Put up sterilized jars and seal.

Strawberry-Mint Jelly

4 cups strawberry juice
7½ cups sugar
1 bunch fresh mint
1 cup bottled fruit pectin.

To prepare the fruit crush thoroughly and drip through a jelly bag. Measure the juice and sugar into a large saucepan and stir. Tie the fresh mint in a muslin bag and place in the saucepan. Bring to a boil. Add the pectin. Stir. Bring to a boil and boil for ½ minute. Remove the fresh mint. Take from the fire. Allow to stand for one minute. Skim and pour quickly into sterilized jars. Cover the hot jelly with a thin film of paraffin. When cold cover with ½ inch hot paraffin.

Crabapple Jelly

Wash 8 pounds firm, red crabapples and scrub the skins well. Cut the apples in quarters and remove the stems. Cover with cold water and cook rapidly until the apples are soft. Strain through several thicknesses of cheesecloth, and press the bag gently to start the flow of juice but do not squeeze. Never make more than 6 cups of juice at one time. To each cup of juice add 1 cup sugar. Boil rapidly until the jelly test is reached, that is until jelly sheets from spoon. Let stand minute or two, remove scum and pour into hot glasses. When set cover with paraffin, and store in a cool dry place.

Grape Conserve

4 pounds Concord grapes
2 pounds sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup seedless raisins
1 orange
1 cup finely chopped nuts.

Slip off the skins and keep separate. Cook grape pulp for about 10 minutes or until the seeds show. Press the pulp through a sieve to remove the seeds. To the grape pulp add the sugar, salt, raisins and orange which has been chopped fine, rind and all and had the seeds removed. Cook rapidly until the mixture begins to thicken and stir often to prevent sticking. Add grape skins, cook for 10 minutes longer or until conserve is thick. Stir in the nuts and pour at once into hot sterilized glasses. When cold cover with melted paraffin.

Strawberry Jam

4 quarts strawberries
3 pounds sugar
2 or 3 tablespoons lemon juice.

Take about 1 quart of the smaller fruit, crush and add sugar. Cook rapidly in enameled saucepan and stir until sugar is dissolved and thick syrup is formed. Add the remainder of the fruit and continue rapid cooking, stirring frequently to prevent scorching. Cook 30 minutes or until fairly thick, then add lemon juice.

When Mother Calls

By ANNE CAMPBELL

PATTY is not used to treatment
Which is anything but kind,
But when Mother calls: "Patricia!"
Patty knows she has to mind!

It is "Patty, dear!" and "Darling!"
When our little girl is good,
But when Mother calls: "Patricia!"
Things aren't going as they should!

When you see her running homeward,
Then most likely you will find
Mother sternly called: "Patricia!"
So she knows she has to mind!

QUESTION BOX

By ED WYNN

Dear Mr. Wynn:
Why is it that "tramps" are so popular?
Sincerely,
R. R. TIER.

Answer—Because they never start any labor disputes.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
Can you tell me the origin of the old adage about "Father Makes Hay," etc., etc?
Yours truly,
A. CORNFIELD.

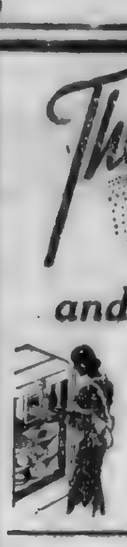
Answer: It originated in the year 1900. A cash selling system, the [illegible] was started by eighteen years of age who was tired of working for his father, raising hay and wheat, and decided to go to New York city. His father gave him some money, and on the son's arrival in New York he had about $25 left. Realizing he could only live for a day on that in New York, the boy invested his money immediately.

He bought a box 'lack stand and started to shine shoes for a living. There's the whole story. The son stayed in New York city, shining shoes for his living, and the father continued to earn his living, out in Minnesota, raising hay and wheat, so you see, "The Father Made May While the 'Son' Shined."

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I have a golf game on for next Tuesday afternoon. I play a round in about 135 strokes and my opponent plays the 18 holes in about 158 strokes. How should we arrange the match?
Very truly,
IKE ANTPLAY.

Answer: Judging from your scores I should say the best way for you two fellows to play is to play the same as Pinochle, 25 cents a hundred.

Dear Mr. Wynn:
I borrowed three hundred dollars from a friend of mine last July and I am unable to pay him back. He doesn't know it yet. I would like to return it but it doesn't look as if I will ever give him his three hundred dollars. What shall I do? I haven't been able to sleep on account of this.
Sincerely,
A. PAUPER.



Answer: The first thing you should do is to go to your friend and tell him you will not be able to return his three hundred dollars. Then he won't be able to sleep, either.
